HOUSEKEEPER AND EX-MATE GRILLED IN KIDNAPING; WEALTHY RELATIVES SEEK TO CONTACT ABDUCTOR

8 SOVIET GENERALS ADMIT ARMY PLOT; DEATH IS DECREED

KILL THE TRAITORS, WORKERS DEMAND

Government Refuses To Divulge Where Trial Held or To Make Public Details of Accusations.

MOSCOW, June 12.—(Saturday.)—(AP)—The Soviet Union today branded as traitors eight of its highest military leaders and decreed for them "the highest measure of social defense"—death by shooting.

Moving swiftly and ruthlessly to stamp out what those in power conceive to be treason at the very top of the Red army, the nation's highest tribunal announced its verdict less than 24 hours after the charges had been published.

The eight are General Michail N. Tukhachevsky, brilliant 44-year-old military figure and until a month ago vice commissar of defense, and seven generals, some of whom held posts near the summit of the Red army heirarchy.

No Appeal.

Under the law there is no appeal from the judgment, passed by the military tribunal of the supreme court of the U. S. S. R., and the sentence must be carried out "immediately."

The verdict stripped the eight of all military ranks and titles, including Tukhachevsky's "marshal of the Soviet Union." He was one of five accorded that highest rank when it was established two years ago.

Two others of the five marshals sat among his judges, two marshals, six generals and the famous president of the dread tribunal, Vasily V. Ulrich, who already has presided at two other spectacular treason trials within less than a year which sent 29 men before firing squads.

All Plead Guilty.

"The court has established that the accused were in the service of the military service of one foreign state carrying on an unfriendly policy toward the U. S. S. R.; that they have systematically supplied military circles of that country with spy information; carried on wrecking action in order to break the power of the workers' and peasants' Red army and in case of a military attack upon the U. S. S. R. to prepare for the defeat of the U. S. S. R.; that they aimed to aid the disorganization of the U. S. S. R. and the restoration of landlords and capitalists in the U. S. S. R."

The foreign country was not named, but Moscow generally understood it to be either Germany or Japan.

Besides Tukhachevsky there

Attorney Is Accused Of Slapping Woman

J. Ira Harrelson, Atlanta attorney and former member of the Atlanta board of education, and Mrs. Libe Warren, 35, of 145 Hurt street, were ordered held in $100 bond for the criminal court on assault and battery charges yesterday by Recorder A. W. Callaway.

The arraignment was the outgrowth of an argument late Thursday afternoon in Harrelson's office in the Twenty-two Marietta Street building, in which he allegedly slapped the woman, who assertedly retaliated by striking the attorney with her purse.

Mrs. Warren testified Harrelson, who is handling an estate litigation for her sister, Miss Essie Harris, of an Ormond street address, wanted her to sign an affidavit. The argument ensued when she declined.

Among Very First To Seek Screen Fame

Miss Lida Clark, of 842 Juniper street, N. E., believes that first come are first served. Suiting action to her belief, she was one of the very first to apply for a screen test in The Constitution's movie talent hunt.

Character Field Presents Best Hope To Crash Films

Screen Test Entries Told of Opportunity by Talent Scout.

Character actors are more in demand in Hollywood and that field offers a greater opportunity than any other, it was declared yesterday by C. T. Burgess, talent scout and executive manager of Astral Productions, Hollywood.

"That should be good news for applicants in The Constitution's movie screen tests," he said. "Where one star is needed, many character actors and actresses are required for the supporting casts. Character actors receive splendid salaries and character parts often lead to stardom."

Question Answered.

The point was brought up when Burgess was asked as to what he believed would be the chances for movie fame for the 30 or 40 persons selected by The Constitution and co-operating organizations for screen and voice tests.

"The Constitution's plan for screen tests is unique," he replied, "in that so large a number of persons actually will be given tryouts before the camera and the microphone.

"In the usual sort of contest only one person or a very few actually receive the tests. Under the plan sponsored by The Constitution where a number of Atlanta's best screen possibilities will be filmed I believe there is a splendid chance that several will achieve their ambitions of Hollywood careers.

"It should be borne in mind that the executives of the major Hollywood film corporations are constantly on the lookout for new finds. New names, new faces are the life blood of Hollywood. However, thousands of persons yearly

REBELS ADVANCE IN BILBAO DRIVE

Insurgents Are Now Within Four Miles of Besieged Basque Capital.

By the Associated Press.

Supported by an artillery and air bombardment, Spanish Insurgents advanced a half-mile closer to Bilbao yesterday, launching what they hoped would be the decisive phase of the two-months siege of the Basque capital.

In the fine weather they had awaited since the death of General Emilio Mola, June 3, the Insurgents threw their entire weight against Basque government defenders.

Troops Move Forward.

Nightfall found them entrenched along a five-mile ridge with Bilbao only a little over four miles to the west. In the comparative quiet after the day's fighting masses of troops moved forward behind the lines and artillery took up new positions.

The Insurgents prepared for a smash across the valley which shelters the towns of Lezama and Larrabezua to the only mountain ridge now separating them from the Basque capital.

Bilbao dispatches admitted the Insurgent offensive had been furious throughout the day, but said government troops held firmly to positions at Lemona, important highway junction. The Basques

Colonel House Declares Roosevelt Will Not Be Candidate for 3d Term

'Maker of Presidents' Thinks F. D. R. Will Turn to Writing.

MANCHESTER - BY-THE-SEA, Mass., June 11.—(AP)—An assertion President Roosevelt would not be a candidate for a third term came tonight from Colonel Edward Mandell House, once known as the "maker of Presidents" and the "sphinx of politics."

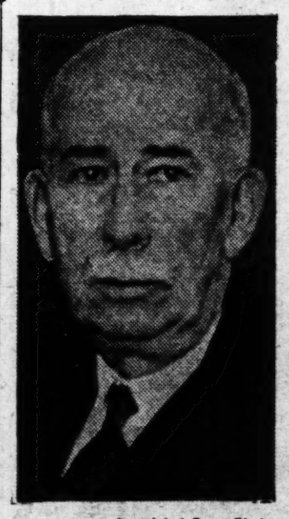

In a rare interview, the diminutive, white-haired Texan, suggested the President "will probably do some writing after he retires."

Asked if he thought the President would seek another term, Colonel House asserted: "Roosevelt will not be a candidate for a third term."

"President Roosevelt is my friend," Colonel House said, then steered the interviewer away from any discussion of the administration.

OFFICIALS PONDER LIQUOR QUESTION

To Be or Not To Be Dry Seems To Be Proposition Confronting State.

Georgia's second attempt at prohibition repeal became officially unsuccessful early last night when Governor Rivers issued a proclamation from his hospital bed showing the dry's had won by a margin of 8,522 votes, as the question of whether Georgia is wet or dry became open to discussion.

The figures were certified to him by Secretary of State John B. Wilson, who a short time later also certified the results on the 26 constitutional amendments adopted by a wide margin in the same balloting.

For Repeal: 94,575.

Aid of U. S. Asked.

Meanwhile, federal officials called upon by the state to aid in the enforcement of the dry law

Japan Moves To Quell China Revolt of 50,000

NANKING, June 12.—(Saturday.)—(UP)—Seven Japanese airplanes and eight armored cars were sent to Chiapossu from Manchukuo to suppress Chahar revolutionaries, estimated to number 50,000, it was reported reliably today.

The Rebels were using Chinese National flags. The Kwantung (Japanese North China) army headquarters reportedly ordered Prince Teh, Mongol leader sympathetic to Japan, to leave his banner headquarters, and return to Chiapossu.

Reports of a Chahar revolt have been increasing. Chahar, although nominally under control of the Central Chinese government, is governed by an executive council which is strongly pro-Japanese.

COMMISSION BANS SECRET SESSIONS

Discussion of All Matters in Open Meetings Ordered by County Board.

Outlawing the practice of placing informal action of board members on the minutes before having discussed it in open session, county commissioners in special session yesterday voted against holding secret meetings.

Then they ratified pay increases for 17 county employes which were included in the minutes of the regular June 2 meeting but which had not been discussed in public session. The increases totaled approximately $5,000 annually. The minutes of the June 2 session were approved.

"Inadvertence."

The resolution calling for a halt in informality of transacting board business was sponsored by Commissioner George F. Longino, who explained that it was through "inadvertence or informality" some of the county's business had been recorded in the minutes without first having been transacted in open meeting. Commissioner Ed L. Almand seconded the motion and all commissioners present concurred. Commissioner Edwin F. Johnson was out of the city

"I, for one, want the press representatives present at all board meetings, open or executive," Longino said. "I appreciate the press telling the story and it is to clarify future board transactions that we are present today."

Commissioners agreed to an informal request of Commissioner Longino that county aid in city-sponsored projects be withheld until city council gave the county some answer on the year-old sewer maintenance controversy.

Flood Wave Drowns Twenty German Girls

EDESHEIM, Bavaria, June 11. (UP)—More than 20 "Hitler Maidens," members of an organization corresponding to the Girl Scouts, were believed to have drowned tonight in flood waters of the Moderbach valley.

Late tonight 10 bodies had been recovered from a group of 40 or more girls caught in the swirling flood waters.

Nazi troops of Edensheim and Hitler storm troopers were called out to aid in the rescue work.

The girls, between the ages of 14 and 18, had just left a swimming pool in the near-by town of Rhodt when a flood wave descended upon them.

They ran screaming, attempting to reach higher ground but were carried under by the torrent and swept away.

Committee Approves Wesleyan Settlement

MACON, Ga., June 11.—(AP)—Representatives of Wesleyan College and of its bondholders have agreed on settlement of the more than $1,000,000 debt against the century-old institution, it was announced today.

Orville A. Park, Macon attorney and member of the board of trustees, said the settlement was on the basis of $350 for each $1,000 bond.

While the terms have been approved by the bondholders' committee, Mr. Park said the proposal must be sanctioned by holders of the bonds before it goes into effect. Bondholders will be notified of the terms immediately, he said.

Provided the plan is given final approval, the college will continue to operate as at present, without any change in its relationship to the Methodist church, by which it is sponsored.

ORPHAN DROWNED IN PIEDMONT POOL

Tommy Barker, Hillside Ward, Is First Fatality of 1937 in Park System.

First fatality of the season for the Atlanta municipal swimming pools was Tommy Barker, eight, who drowned yesterday at Piedmont park.

Tommy, an orphan who lived at Hillside Cottages, was found floating motionless in the shallow water of the non-swimmers' section of the pool by Jack Sullivan, 17, of 980 Drewry street, N. E., shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday morning. He was said to have been a fair swimmer, and officials offered no theories as to the cause of drowning.

Discovered by Accident.

Sullivan discovered him by accident, as his foot struck the child's body. He towed the inert form to the board walk which separates the deep and shallow sections of the pool and summoned aid.

An inhalator was hurried from fire station No. 1, and lifeguards and firemen worked for more than an hour to revive the boy. A Grady hospital interne summoned to the scene pronounced him dead and the body was taken to the Brandon-Bond-Condon funeral home.

It was not known how the child came to be in the pool. Officials of Hillside Cottages said that J. A. Gaines, a patron of the institution, had taken a party of 12 boys swimming there earlier in the morning, and returned with the same number. They conjectured that a thirteenth boy, not necessarily Tommy, had joined the party without announcing his

SECRECY PLEDGED ANY EMISSARIES

Divorced Couple Confronted, But No Statement Is Made; Woman Is Russian Refugee.

STONY BROOK, N. Y., June 11. (AP)—Wealthy relatives of the missing Alice McDonell Parsons, socially registered matron, sought contact with the unknown author of a $25,000 ransom note tonight while police questioned a 43-year-old Long Island City match factory worker in connection with her disappearance.

Detectives quoted the worker, Alex Kuprianoff, as saying he had been married to Anna Kuprianoff, mysterious White Russian housekeeper-companion who lived with the missing society matron and her husband, at their landscaped poultry farm here on Long Island.

Mrs. Parsons disappeared from the place Wednesday morning, driving away with an unidentified middle-aged couple.

Mrs. Kuprianoff was taken to the police station at nearby Bay Shore tonight and questioned. There she was confronted with Kuprianoff.

No charge was filed against either of them.

Mrs. Kuprianoff was the last person to see Mrs. Parsons before her disappearance.

Split With G-Men.

Suffolk county authorities announced they were severing their investigation of the case from that being conducted by a squad of federal agents.

Assistant District Attorney Harry Brenner said local officials had received no co-operation from the G-men and that they had even been barred from the boarding house where all the investigating agencies had their headquarters.

Automobiles whipped in and out of the 38-year-old society matron's landscaped poultry farm several times during the day, bent on mysterious errands.

Awaiting the outcome of family efforts, a squad of federal agents stood on the sidelines, ready to take active charge of what Rhea Whitley, head of the Bureau of Investigation's New York office, definitely termed "a kidnaping."

Willing to Comply.

Haggard and red-eyed from a night of sleepless pacing, William H. Parsons announced he was "willing and anxious" to comply with any instructions from the abductors of his wife, who disappeared Wednesday noon after driving away with an unidentified, re-

Atlanta Model Laughs Her Denial Of Husband's Annulment Plaints

Pretty Mrs. Virginia S. Anderson laughed loud and long yesterday in her mother's swank hotel suite here as an Associated Press dispatch from New York was read to her in which her husband, Alvin Victor Anderson, who doesn't want to be her husband any longer, was quoted as telling his troubles to the New York state supreme court.

"I don't want to make any comment," she said, and then proceeded to deny her husband's affidavits. She concluded and then declared: "As an afterthought, I don't believe I want to be quoted."

Decision Reserved.

Justice Ernest F. L. Hammer, of the New York supreme court, reserved his decision yesterday on Mrs. Anderson's application for $50 a week temporary alimony pending trial of Anderson's plea for annulment of the marriage.

"I was very fascinated," Anderson told the court in discussing the wife who no longer fascinates him. He explained that his wife forced him to marry her when he said they should not marry until after he had been graduated from Georgia Tech.

This brought a burst of merriment from young Mrs. Anderson and a denial.

"My income is exactly nothing a week and I live on money borrowed from my mother," he told the court.

Another laugh was forthcoming from Mrs. Anderson and it was akin to a scoffing sound.

Anderson said his family was not wealthy and that his father, Victor Anderson, is a machinist by trade and works as a shop superintendent.

Laughs Even Louder.

This brought an even louder laugh from Mrs. Anderson. She has contended that his family is wealthy.

Anderson's next charge brought from his wife a less forceful but tinkling laugh, and the following charge caused no laugh at all and resulted in a vigorous denial.

In these he contended:

1. That his wife was indecent when she posed in the "semi-

RIVERS' OPERATION DELAYING ACTION ON APPOINTMENTS

Major State Matters Face His Consideration Upon Recovery.

Recovery from the effects of a cystoscopic operation for removal of a kidney stone is expected to delay Governor Rivers' attention to several important appointments until next week.

The Governor underwent the operation yesterday, his office reporting he stood it "nicely" and reacted favorably. The kidney obstruction, which has troubled him for several months, was removed.

Downing Musgrove, executive secretary, said it probably would be "Monday or Tuesday of next week" before the Governor can turn his attention to appointment of a public safety commissioner to organize a state highway patrol.

Education Board.

It likewise will be next week, Musgrove added, before he will attempt to name a state board of education to replace the existing one abolished by the school reorganization act of 1937.

Another board to be appointed—probably next week—is the state radio commission to assume control of station WGST in Atlanta. The broadcasting company now is controlled by Georgia Tech.

As soon as he recovers sufficiently, the Governor also must give major attention to state fiscal affairs, especially the rewriting of tax laws to conform to the three constitutional amendments adopted Tuesday making changes in tax regulations.

Tax Situation Study.

The executive plans to have a legislative committee study the general tax situation in Georgia, submit definite proposals, and then to call in legislators in small groups to study proposals for action at a special session this fall.

Since July 1 marks the beginning of the state's first fiscal year under a budget reorganization act, the Governor also must give attention to formation of operating plans for all state departments.

Two other major items face the Governor for action before July 1: He must fix the state property tax rate, now at three mills, and must either reappoint State Auditor Tom Wisdom or name a successor to him.

130 Pairs of Boots PurloinedFromWPA

Fulton county WPA workers are without rubber boots to work in but it wasn't discvered until yesterday—10 days after someone entered the camp tool room on Randall Mill road.

County police were notified yesterday that 130 pairs of assorted size knee boots were missing from the tool room and that they probably were stolen between May 28 and June 1.

ATLANTA GROCERS ASK 63-HOUR WEEK

Merchant Group Would Penalize Overtime by Heavier License Fees.

Enforcement of a 63-hour-a-week business schedule for retail groceries in Atlanta was asked yesterday of the city by a group of merchants.

Under the plan as outlined, merchants who are staying open overtime would pay heavier licenses than those keeping what was described as a standard work week.

Indications were that City Attorney Jack C. Savage will be asked to draft an ordinance to enforce the closing provisions. He has already given an opinion that the city could establish a sliding scale of license fees based on the number of hours a store stays open.

A group of merchants called on Mayor Hartsfield during the morning, asking for his co-operation. Alderman Roy E. Callaway probably will have the ordinance for submission to council June 21.

R. I. Barge, secretary of the Atlanta Retail Food Dealers' Association, pointed out that a small group of merchants insists on keeping long hours and refuses to observe the half-day closing on Wednesdays. Under the plan as outlined to Mayor Hartsfield, stores would open at 7 a. m. and close at 6 p. m., on Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. They would open at the same time on Wednesdays and Saturdays, but would close at 1 p. m. on Wednesdays and at 9 p. m. on Saturdays.

FOUNTAIN TO HEAD HAROLD BYRD POST

New Officers Elected by American Legion Unit.

Election of Thomas J. Fountain as commander of the Harold Byrd Post No. 66 of the American Legion was announced yesterday. He succeeds Vernor Frank, who retired as commander several weeks ago.

Other officers named in the post's general election were John Lynch, senior vice commander; Major Clark C. Smith, junior vice commander; Herman Maynard, adjutant; Neil Cameron, secretary; Waldo Cagle, finance officer; Reuben Braswell, service officer; Hoyle Nichols, chaplain; Lanier Billups, historian; O. L. Amsler, athletic officer, and J. A. Patterson, sergeant-at-arms.

The entire group will be formally installed in September.

Robert F. Maddox Calls Upon Profession To Take Defensive.

Cothran, elevated from vice president of the association, succeeds H. Lane Young, of Atlanta.

J. T. Haley, of Albany, was named vice president. Haynes MacFadden, of Atlanta, secretary; Freeman Strickland, of Atlanta, treasurer, and Orville A. Park, of Macon, general counsel were all re-elected.

Electric Storms In Brain Reveal Clues to Insanity

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 11.—(AP)—Electrical messages from the stratosphere region of the brain where the emotions and the soul are supposed to be located were declared today by two neurologists to give a new insight into the nature of insanity and "the clouds and storms in the vast atmosphere of the personality."

Dr. Frederick Lemere, of Medical Lake, Washington, and Dr. Hallowell Davis, of Boston, told the closing session of the American Medical Association's meeting these storms and cross-currents which change a normal mind into a bizarre thing can be charted accurately just as the weatherman charts the weather.

Such brainstorms have a characteristic effect on the electrical waves of the brain which can be picked up and recorded on a special machine. Every human being has a pattern of brain waves as characteristic as fingerprints, Dr. Lemere declared.

Dr. Davis added he had found passive, patient, dependent people have "strong and plentiful" primary brain waves while persons with a consistent internal drive for prestige or power have only a few weak such waves.

THOMAS D. STEWART LAST RITES TODAY

Was Well Known in Business Circles.

Final rites for Thomas D. Stewart, 81, of 867 Juniper street, N. E., prominent Atlanta businessman for many years, who died Thursday at a private hospital, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill, with Dean Raimund de Ovies officiating. Burial will be in the McDonough cemetery.

Mr. Stewart was well known in business circles of Atlanta for many years as a partner in the firm of McCord-Stewart, wholesale grocers. For some years he also was president of the Henry County Bank at McDonough, Ga., during which time he served in the state senate for two terms. He was a member of St. Mark Methodist church.

COURT RULING VOIDS FLORIDA DRY VICTORY

BARTOW, Fla., June 11.—(AP)—Polk county's wet-dry local option referendum won by the drys with a six-vote margin in the general election of 1936, was declared void today by Circuit Judge W. J. Barker. Polk citizens polled 6,166 dry votes, and 6,160 for the legalized sale of liquor in this hitherto dry county.

Judge Barker's ruling was based on a 1935 amendment to the Florida constitution which provides in substance that local option elections cannot be held within 60 days of a state or national election.

SUICIDE IS IDENTIFIED AS FORMER SOLDIER

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 11.—(AP)—Fort Oglethorpe officers today identified the body of a man found in the Tennessee river yesterday as that of Leroy L. Lambert, 49, of Huntsville, Ala., a former member of the quartermaster's corps at the fort. Coroner Epperson recorded the death as suicide.

COUNTY TO SEEK TRAFFIC ARTERY

28-Mile South Fulton Highway Would Relieve Congestion.

Plans for a new highway through south Fulton county, costing $500,000 and destined to relieve congested north and southwest-bound traffic, were revealed yesterday by Commissioner George F. Longino, chairman of public works.

Route of the proposed super highway is laid between Palmetto, in old Campbell county, to a point on Cascade road near the Chattahoochee river.

The proposed route would cover 28 miles and would be paved with the best available materials, the commissioner said.

With the road completed, traffic bound for Montgomery and New Orleans could turn left after crossing the Bolton bridge and proceed southwestward, thereby avoiding heavy Atlanta traffic.

In a similar manner, cars and trucks bound for Birmingham would pass around Atlanta and from the Cascade road reach the Bankhead highway.

The proposed project is entirely new, the commissioners said, and work on securing approval for it from the highway board was only begun this week. So far, the board members are in accord with the plans, Longino said.

Other road projects of the county include the widening of the Roosevelt highway southward to Newnan; widening and repaving of the Roswell road and the paving of Byron highway, thus affording an outlet to the Bankhead highway.

TWO WOMEN HURT WHEN CARS CRASH

New Yorkers Cut and Bruised in Collision.

Collision between two automobiles at Techwood drive and Third street resulted in injury to two women at about 2:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The crash occurred, according to police reports, when a car driven by Miss Meredith Hope, of 65 Roswell road, struck a car driven by Mrs. Neal Jarvis, of 2897 Lookout place.

Passengers in Mrs. Jarvis's car, Mrs. A. L. Halsey, 59, and Mrs. J. P. Foster, 24, of Brooklyn, N. Y., were severely cut and bruised about the head and body. They were treated at Crawford W. Long Memorial hospital.

RINGLING ART MUSEUM ACCEPTED BY FLORIDA

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., June 11. (UP) — Governor Cone tonight signed a bill clearing the way for the state to accept the $14,000,000 Ringling art museum at Sarasota which was bequeathed to Florida by John Ringling, the late circus magnate.

It ends a six-month dispute over whether the museum and its priceless works of art would become the property of the state or of the city of Sarasota, which would have been legally entitled to it if the state refused the gift.

GARNER LEAVES SUNDAY ON FISHING VACATION

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—Vice President Garner said after a cabinet meeting today "the boss"—meaning President Roosevelt—had just given him permission to take a fishing vacation in Texas.

The bushy-browed veteran from Uvalde, Texas, said he was leaving Sunday and would be away for five weeks. Asked if he would get back before congress adjourned, he said he would be "subject to call."

MARKET REZONING OPPOSED BY GROUP

Hartsfield Aid Asked in Blocking Plans.

Mayor Hartsfield's aid was solicited yesterday by citizens in blocking proposed establishment of a wholesale produce market and in obtaining a fire station for Lakewood Heights.

Headed by Alderman G. Dan Bridges and Frederick M. Suchke, the group called on the mayor to oppose establishing of the market between Lakewood avenue, Harriett street, Jonesboro road and McDonough boulevard.

John L. Turman, who has petitioned for a rezoning of the property, said it is proposed to expend $250,000 in developing the project.

Members of the zoning subcommittee of the city planning commission will consider the petition at 3 o'clock Wednesday at the city hall.

The city owns a lot on Lakewood avenue on which it plans to eventually erect the fire station. Fulton county has agreed to provide half the funds necessary if the city will furnish the remainder.

PEACE MEDIATOR ARRIVES TONIGHT

Commissioner Pugmire Completes Task in Japan.

Commissioner Ernest I. Pugmire, territorial commander of the Salvation Army, who has been on a special diplomatic mission for the army in Japan, will return to Atlanta today and will present 52 cadets commissions and assignments at the group's annual exercises Monday night at the Baptist Tabernacle.

The cadets will be assigned to active Salvation Army posts in 15 southern states. Leading officials of the Salvation Army from nine southern states will attend the exercises.

COOLER IS FORECAST FOR ATLANTA TODAY

Cooler weather was seen for today in last night's forecast of the local United States Weather Bureau, credited by the bureau to a shift in the wind to the northwest. The skies today, however, will be partly cloudy.

Temperatures are expected to range from a low of 62 to a high of 84. Yesterday they went from a low of 67 to a high of 84.

Georgia Spring Rainfall Tops Normal Recordings

Georgia was one of four southeastern states receiving above-normal rainfall during March, April and May, according to information yesterday from the United States Department of Agriculture.

Georgia showed 107 per cent of normal for the period, South Carolina 107, Alabama 114 and Florida 128. Thirty-two states of the Union received less than normal precipitation.

The department's weather bureau at Washington reported crop needs have been met everywhere east of the Rocky mountains except in a few limited areas. The west, however, will need "follow-up" rains in many sections if farmers are to maintain their present satisfactory condition, the bureau indicated.

In Georgia, virtually all annual crops were progressing satisfactorily. Warm weather, with occasional light rains, has sent cotton ahead at least on schedule. Peaches, apples and other perennials have been described as considerably behind, with indications for short crops, due to early blossoming and late cold.

Business Recovery In Progress Parade

Orders for Automobiles Pouring Into Factory.

NEW YORK, June 11.—Predicting a favorable summer for the automobile industry, Joseph W. Frazer, vice president in charge of sales of Chrysler Corporation, stated today that the company's business was considerably better than a year ago. He said that dealers' orders for new cars were pouring into the factory and that he saw no evidence of a let-up in June and July.

Schiff Company Sales Increase Over 1936.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—May sales of Schiff Company increased 3.4 per cent over last year to $1,323,238 against $1,279,334 in May 1936. For the five months sales totaled $4,935,118 compared with $4,825,318 in the 1936 period, an increase of 2.3 per cent.

Shipments of Casings Show 50 Per Cent Gain.

NEW YORK, June 11.—The Rubber Manufacturers' Association reported today that shipments of pneumatic casings during March are estimated at 5,787,051 units, an increase of 32.4 per cent over February and 50 per cent above March, 1936. Production for March is estimated at 5,915,575 casings, an increase of 12.8 per cent over February and 62.5 per cent above March, 1936.

Tennessee Central Declares Dividend.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—Directors of Tennessee Central Railroad Company declared today a dividend of $7 a share on the 7 per cent preferred stock, payable June 15 to stock of record June 5. The last previous dividend was paid in January, 1932. The road's headquarters are at Nashville.

HARTSFIELD PLANS FINANCES SURVEY

Effect of Amendments Requires Study.

Mayor Hartsfield yesterday left Atlanta on a short business trip to Alabama. Mayor Pro Tem. I. Gloer Hailey will act as the chief executive officer of Atlanta pending his return.

The mayor asserted he will begin a study of municipal finances on his return Monday or Tuesday. He asserted that full effect of the amendments, passed Tuesday, on the city has not been determined.

"We propose to begin a study to see just where we are heading," Hartsfield said. "If we have money to spend, we will be honest enough to say so and if we haven't, we will say that, too. There has been considerable speculation as to whether we will have a surplus of funds at the end of the year or whether we will be in the red.

BLOODHOUNDS SEEK TRAIL OF ESCAPED HOLDUP SUSPECTS

Two Robberies Laid to Pair as Pal's Funeral Is Planned.

Bloodhounds ran trails in Fulton and DeKalb counties yesterday as search was renewed for Chester Turner and Vincent Baker, chain gang escapes, believed to have been companions of H. L. Turner, 29, who was shot and killed Wednesday in a police chase.

The hunt for the men became intensified with the reports of two holdups in Atlanta, victims describing the bandits as being the wanted escapes.

Funeral Plans.

Meanwhile, plans were completed for the funeral of Turner, a brother of Chester Turner, one of the missing men, and of Forrest Turner, notorious escape artist, is now serving a sentence in the Fulton county chain gang.

Final rites for Turner will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the chapel of Howard L. Carmichael, with the Rev. Mr. Swords officiating. Burial will be in Hill Crest cemetery.

Besides Chester and Forrest, Turner is survived by his wife; two sons, H. L. Turner Jr. and C. F. Turner; a daughter, Yvonne; his mother, Mrs. J. M. Turner, and five other brothers and three sisters.

Holdup Victims.

The holdups in Atlanta were reported by Jack Coggans, operator of a service station at 210 Peters street, and Jim Cash, of 1015 North avenue, N. E.

Coggans told police two armed, masked men held him up at the station at about 1 o'clock yesterday morning, taking $20 in cash. Cash reported that two armed men held him up on South Boulevard, near Fair street, early yesterday morning, robbing him of $14 in cash.

With men and bloodhounds refreshed by rest after searching until midnight Thursday, county police renewed the hunt with vigor yesterday, determined to find the escapes. Many citizens were deputized and joined in the manhunt.

Auto Owner Found.

Police learned yesterday that the automobile used by the three men Wednesday, which came to a halt in the garden of C. M. Mount, in Fulton county, after hurtling a 12-foot embankment, had been stolen earlier in the day from James R. Wall, of Blue Ridge, Ga., hardware salesman.

License tags had been removed from the vehicle, but ownership was established through motor numbers.

A hint of reprisals came yesterday from Mrs. Margaret Turner, wife of the slain man, who said that her "husband's only fault was that he couldn't keep from helping his brothers."

According to reports, Mrs. Turner said that "when Forrest finds out who killed H. L., he'll get him, and if they get him before he can get to the man who killed his brother, Chester will take it up."

Denies Association.

Mrs. Ethel Baker, mother of Vincent Baker, was reported as saying her son "was not with Chester Turner."

According to reports, Mrs. Baker said Vincent came to his home on Baker drive, Hapeville, Sunday night and remained a short time. He then left, however, and Wednesday, she said, Lee Hugh Turner, another brother of Forrest and Chester, told her that Vincent was not with Chester.

Mrs. Baker said she hoped Vincent would come home and surrender to police. This plea was also expressed by Baker's wife, Mrs. Lucile Baker, who said: "I want Vincent to give himself up, serve out his term and become a good citizen again."

As Venezuelans Congratulated Amelia on Her Flight

HOP OVER SAHARA ENDED BY AMELIA

Captain Fred Noonan, made this flight early in the day to escape the relentless afternoon heat. She did not disclose when she planned to leave.

Her next and probably last trans-African hop will be to Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, 1,200 miles from here across desert and jungle.

Arrival at Fort Lamy today put her back on the path she originally charted across South Africa. Bad weather had forced her to fly to Gao, north of the direct eastward route.

After the flight to Khartoum, she plans to push on to India.

By turning off her previously plotted course to fly to Gao, Miss Earhart drew slightly north of the direct eastward route from Dakar, French Senegal, to Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan. She was some 2,200 miles from her last African stopping place.

She flew to Gao from Dakar and had plans to fly to El Fasher, only about 500 miles from Khartoum, but weather advices caused her to choose her original goal, Fort Lamy.

The route from Fort Lamay stretches some 1,200 miles to Khartoum over desert-jungle country.

Miss Earhart and her navigator originally planned to spend the night here, and then press forward on her trans-African journey.

8 SOVIET GENERALS ADMIT CONSPIRACY

were General Robert P. Eideman, defendants; and Judges Vasily V. Ulrich, noted military jurist; Marshal Semjon M. Budenny, and General J. I. Aleksnis-Astroff.

Judges, Defendants Swap.

Two other judges, General P. E. Dybenko and General I. P. Beloff, only two days ago replaced the defendants I. E. Yakir, as commander of the Lenigrad district garrison; and I. P. Uborevitch, as commander of the Red army in White Russia.

Foreign observers felt that the trial was perhaps the most eventful treason hearing in the history of the government—in that it involved disaffection within the army command itself.

Two previous trials within the past year had a marked difference—charges against defendants then primarily were that they were conspirators with the exiled Leon Trotsky, seeking to foster a counter-revolution.

The communique charged General Jan Gamarnik, former vice commissar of defense, with equal guilt. The government announced he had killed himself June 1 after having been exposed.

Point to Nazis, Japan.

The press joined in condemning the accused, and the Communist party paper Pravda held their arrest attested the strength and invincibility of the Soviet regime by proving it could track down traitors even in high places.

Factory workers throughout Russia held mass indignation meetings to demand death for all today, as the court-martial began.

For two of the defendants and three of the judges the court-martial had an unusual touch of drama and irony.

The five had been fellow guests of United States Ambassador Joseph E. Davies at a farewell dinner before his departure for America last March. (There were 37 guests in all).

Thieves Play Havoc Under Police Noses

Thieves worked while policemen played Thursday night at the annual police barbecue and picnic in Lakewood park, it was revealed yesterday. The victims were the daughter of an officer, her "girl friend," and a motorist.

The motorist, J. T. Rodgers, of Decatur, a salesman, lost his automobile. The car was stolen from a parking space.

The girls, Mary Virginia Armstrong, 18, daughter of Patrolman H. W. Armstrong, and Leila Emory, of a Poplar circle address, lost purses containing small amounts of cash. The purses were "lifted" from an automobile.

HOOVER ONCE ASKED 'A DICTATORSHIP'

State Department Reveals He Urged Wilson To Apply to Russia.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP) Confidential documents in the State Department files, made public today, disclosed that in 1919 Herbert Hoover proposed to President Wilson that a one-man "economic dictatorship" be set up to save Russia.

The proposal was made in a letter from Hoover, then director general of relief on the Supreme Economic Council, in Paris, to President Wilson, dated June 21, 1919.

State Department officials said they had no knowledge of its previous publication and included it in a volume of diplomatic correspondence concerning American relations with Russia in 1919.

Hoover predicted the eventual downfall of Bolshevik government, or its swing to the right, and declared no government in that vast disorganized country could become established without economic reorganization.

He also emphasized that it was vitally necessary to set up one country as the economic mandatory and give one man the power to administer the gigantic task of putting Russia back on its feet.

LAWYER GIVEN YEAR IN BAKER ESTATE CASE

PITTSBURGH, June 11.—(UP) William Cameron Smith, 70, Washington, D. C., attorney and one of seven persons convicted last week on charges of using the mails to defraud in exploiting the Jacob Baker estate, was sentenced to one year in prison today by federal Judge Schoonmaker.

The attorney was charged by the government with being the "master mind" behind an alleged scheme to collect funds from "heirs" to the Baker estate while without actual proof the estate existed.

The other defendants were given six months' jail terms.

MRS. CLAUDE A. GREEN PASSES AT RESIDENCE

Funeral services for Mrs. Claude A. Green, 67, of 845 Penn avenue, N. E., who died Thursday night at her home, will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of J. Austin Dillon, with the Rev. E. A. Miller officiating. Burial will be in College Park cemetery.

Mrs. Green was the wife of the late Charlie Green, who was a member of The Constitution composing room staff for 54 years.

Blinking Lights Replace Honking Horns at Curbs

The city's new anti-noise ordinance brought "one better" from a curb-service establishment on North avenue, near Spring street, it was revealed yesterday as 11 persons were fined $1 and $2 costs by Recorder A. W. Callaway for blowing automobile horns after midnight.

The North avenue establishment placed a large sign in front of the place, warning patrons: "Do not blow your horn. Blink your lights." Hearing for Earl Mann, president of the Crackers, one of those caught in the anti-noise net early Wednesday morning, was postponed until June 25.

SENATE TO MODIFY 'REVAMPING' BILL

Boards and Agencies To Remain Independent Under Measure.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—Confidential copies of the government reorganization bill by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, disclosed today that it proposes a number of major modifications in the program recommended by President Roosevelt.

The copies were distributed to members of the senate reorganization committee. They showed the bill would retain the major framework of the Roosevelt proposal, but would authorize only one new government department instead of the two suggested by the chief executive.

Furthermore, it would eliminate one of the most controversial items in the President's original program—the placing of present inunder executive departments.

Republicans have served notice they will fight the broad general authority in the bill for the President to shift, or abolish, federal agencies.

With certain exceptions, the measure would permit the President to transfer, reorganize, or abolish agencies, provided he gave congress 60 days in which to veto his changes.

COTTON EXCHANGE WINS FREIGHT RATE REVISION

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 11.—(AP) The Memphis Cotton Exchange claimed a victory tonight in its fight for a revision of concentration and transit freight rates to permit cotton to be shipped in less than 50-bale lots within a 150-mile radius of transit points in this area.

Vaniah Alexander, assistant secretary of the exchange, said the Frisco railroad informed him it will adopt the proposal made by the exchange at a recent traffic meeting here attended by representatives of freight carriers of the south and southwest.

Girl Super-Scholar Wants News Career

Miss Doreen McMahon has held her good ship "Get an Education Quick" on a steady course for 14 years of her young life and this year she brought it safely in with a master of arts degree from Emory University.

Her ambition now is to become a successful newspaper woman, she announced on turning thumbs down on a college professorship.

Miss McMahon, 20, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McMahon, of Peachtree Hills, is a graduate of the Sacred Heart school in Atlanta where she won all available honors, including first place in a statewide essay contest.

She then transfered her scholastic pursuits to Fontbonne College, of St. Louis University, where she finished one year ago magna cum laude, having completed the four-year course in three. This year she won her master's at Emory University. It was all done within 20 years.

Conference Held Last Night at Candler Field by Officials.

Atlanta's municipal airport, declared to be the most efficient and modern in the south, may soon undergo extensions and additions calling for an expenditure of $240,000, it was announced last night following a conference at Candler field between Works Progress Administration, Bureau of Air Commerce and airport officials.

Plans call for a 2,000-yard extension of the east-west runway and installation of an entirely new lighting system, including floodlights and boundary lights, and new radio beam blind landing equipment. More land must be purchased on the west side of the field for the extension, it was said.

Early Report Expected.

The plans agreed upon yesterday by the officials will be submitted shortly to Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, for his approval. His report is expected here within two or three weeks.

Attending the conference yesterday were Colonel Sumter Smith, aeronautical engineer for the WPA; Corrington Gill, first assistant to Mr. Hopkins; Major A. B. McMullen, director of airports for the Federal Bureau of Air Commerce; Phillips Moore, WPA airport supervisor for Georgia and Florida, and Jack Gray, manager of Candler field.

Considerable grading will have to be done before the new asphalt runways can be laid, Moore said last night. The proposed work will amount to more than half that done on the airport about two years ago, when $325,000 was spent on the field.

Atlanta Expense.

Whether or not the city of Atlanta will have to bear part of the expense of the project is still not determined, Moore declared. Negotiations will be started, he said, to avoid any appreciable expenditure by the city under an exemption which sometimes obtains on airport work due to the fact that the field is used by the government.

The blind landing equipment, which recently was developed, is being installed in the larger airports of the north and will be included in the specifications for Candler field. It consists of two radio beams which guide the plane to the field, making safe landing possible even in heavy and low-hanging fog.

WORKER IS GRILLED IN N. Y. KIDNAPING

spectable-looking couple of middle age.

In deference to his wishes, all police investigators withdrew from the 11-acre estate in order that any emissaries from the kidnapers might have free access. Parsons, asserting the safe return of his wife was his first and foremost concern, promised to treat all communications "in the strictest confidence."

Parsons, tanned, well-built Yale graduate and retired businessman, at first had told investigators at a conference in his home last night he would be unable to raise the $25,000 demanded.

Pratt Offers Ransom.

He was called aside by a brother-in-law, Richardson Pratt, and after a brief whispered conference Parsons announced the money would be available. Pratt is an executive of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and a member of a family whose country estate adjoins that of J. P. Morgan at Glen Cove.

Rumors that a contact had been established with the kidnapers sprang up today with every show of activity at the farm on the north shore of Long Island.

The first flurry of excitement came when a taxicab, occupied only by the driver, swung into the driveway. A few minutes later a man emerged from the house, jumped into a big automobile parked on the grounds, and followed the taxicab at breakneck speed through the center of the Stony Brook. The two cars disappeared down the highway leading toward the eastern end of Long Island, where a ferry connects with New Haven, Conn.

Watchers disagreed as to whether the man following the taxicab was a member of the Pratt family or Frank McDonell, brother of the missing woman.

Ninth Annual Kiddie Revue Opens For Run of Week at Loew's Grand

Gayly dressed or scantily clad boys and girls of Atlanta performed at Loew's Grand yesterday "that milk may flow" for crippled children fighting for renewed strength at the Scottish Rite hospital.

On the screen was a feature-length comedy, "Way Out West," featuring Laurel and Hardy, in a riproaring, hilarious interpretation of the old western frontier. Four complete stage and screen performances will be given daily through Thursday.

Twenty-four colorful novelty and musical numbers are included in the ninth annual Kiddie Revue program, which is more elaborate than any production of former years.

The Kiddies caught the audiences' favor from the start when 15 of the starlets dressed in heart-bedecked white dresses interpreted "Sweethearts on Parade." Then followed a swift trip to China and Spain.

Complete in every detail, the revue contains bits that will please all audiences. There are novelty numbers, acrobatics, toe dancing, song and laughter.

During the performance, neatly dressed milkmaids, with milk pails and all, passed through the audience collecting silver that will turn into milk for the crippled kiddies. The milk maids are members of the Atlanta Pi Pi Club. This is an annual frolic for them, for each year they collect the funds with which the milk is purchased.

The Kiddie Revue is sponsored annually by the Atlanta Masonic Club for the benefit of the Scottish Rite Hospital for Crippled Children's milk fund.

This year the cast for the show is the largest in the nine years' history of the milk fund revue, 125 kiddies ranging in age from 2 to 12, each of which does his or her part to juvenile perfection.

John D. Considered His Conquest Of Poor Health Greatest Triumph

Oil King Devoted Declining Years to What He Termed His Real Passions: Road Building, Tree Transplanting and Landscape Planning.

This is the 16th chapter in a series of daily installments which are an authentic chronicle of Mr. Rockefeller's life and career.

By JOHN K. WINKLER.

(Copyright, 1937, for The Constitution and The North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

For several years, at the turn of the century and afterwards, he was a victim of dyspepsia and racking indigestion. During one period of 18 months his diet was restricted to acidulated milk and crackers.

Food never was of any particular importance to him. He ate only to live and very sparingly. Cheese and olive oil, once shunned, were consumed moderately. Two or three spoonfuls of olive oil were swallowed each week "to lubricate the joints."

Cultivated Sunny Nature.

During the period of his apparent decline it was noticeable to those around him that John D. sought to cultivate the sunny side of his nature. He told a member of his family that one could school one's self to think, as well as talk, in terms of optimism. One day John D.'s joints creaked under the strenuous massaging of Dr. Louis Fechtig, an osteopath.

"Listen to that, doctor," remarked John D., wryly. "They say I control all the oil in the country and I haven't enough even to oil my own joints."

With his only son capably assuming his business burdens to a greater extent each year, the oil king, in retirement, devoted himself to what he always said, chuckling, were his real passions, road building, tree transplanting, landscape planning. At his great Hudson river estate he literally moved mountains, leveling some hilltops and populating entire hillsides with full grown trees. He moved trees a hundred feet high, horse chestnuts, spruce, bass wood.

Pocantico His Pride.

Pocantico was John D.'s pride. Fifty miles of wide stone roadways, many miles of bridle paths, traverse its 8,000 acres. There are 150 acres of lawn, so smoothly clipped that the grass looks like softest velvet. Four great gardens overwhelm the eye in a glory of multi-colored flowers and shrubbery, statuary fountains, cascades and waterfalls. All are electrically equipped and at night the lights create effects of indescribable beauty. From the manor house—Kijkuit—there is a burst of river, hill, cloud and great sweep of country. Kijkuit was John D.'s own creation.

The public of the past decade or two knew John D. as a whimsical, quirky little old man distributing dimes and platitudes. Those who came into contact with him found him far from platitudinous. He would beam like a boy at words of approval of his $750,000,000 gifts to science, religion, education.

Get him "going" on a subject that interested him and he was fascinating. He steadily maintained that Standard Oil, from an economic point of view, was the most justifiable institution in industrial history.

Long before he died, John D. believed that history had brought in a favorable verdict upon him and his works.

STEEL STRIKE QUIZ VOTED BY SENATE

By specific action, it included in the inquiry an investigation of incidents involved in the Postoffice Department's refusal to deliver food to strike-bound plants.

Technically the broad inquiry was ordered as a "preliminary" to action on a resolution offered by Senator Bridges, Republican, New Hampshire, who wanted a special inquiry into the postal incidents.

But Senator Bailey, Democrat, North Carolina, summed up the thought expressed by numerous committee members with an exultant assertion "we've got the investigation without the resolution."

Holt Is Instigator.

The committee's decision came on a motion by Senator Holt, Democrat, West Virginia, a persistent critic of the Committee for Industrial Organization, which is backing the steel strikes. Holt was warmly supported by Bailey.

Arrangements for the investigation were left in the hands of Chairman McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, as they stood tonight, the committee will call in first of all postal employes involved in the strike mail controversy and Lewis J. Guarnieri, attorney for Republic Steel.

Then, Senator Guffey, Democrat, Pennsylvania, who proposed an amendment to the Bridges resolution to broaden its scope, will present representatives of the CIO for testimony on company activities, generally, in the strikes.

Wide Open Probe.

After that, under the Holt motion, any witness whom a member chooses to present will be heard.

The committee's discussion today centered on charges postal officials have entered into agreements with strikers as to what should and should not be delivered.

Guarnieri, Senator Bridges said, went to the Niles postoffice with four packages of food and with witnesses and photographers. Pictures were posed for, he said. The postmaster, with the approval of the department, refused to accept the packages.

He read from a letter in which the Republic Steel Corporation, noting the department's plea about the safety of employes, volunteered to provide personnel for such deliveries if the department would deputize them.

"We are complying with the law in refusing to risk the lives of our employes by asking them to carry food into these plants," a postal official said.

STEEL FORCES STUDY 7-POINT PEACE PLAN

COLUMBUS, Ohio, June 11.—A seven-point peace plan was offered by Governor Martin L. Davey, of Ohio, in the widespread steel strike tonight as the Monroe, Mich., city commission requested militia aid in maintaining peace at a tri-state union rally.

The Steel Workers' Organizing Committee meanwhile at Johnstown, Pa., commenced a walkout at the huge Cambria plant of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, the nation's second largest producer employing 80,000 workers. From 12,000 to 15,000 are employed at Cambria.

Davey's proposal provided that the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company and Republic Steel Corporation sign agreements with the Steel Workers' Organzing Committee to represent only its membership. It was made at the opening of a conference on union and company officials.

Inland Steel Company has no Ohio plants.

In Michigan, Governor Frank Murphy, informed of the demand for troops at Monroe, said he would meet with Monroe officials and union leaders tomorrow in an effort to pave the way for a "peaceful" meeting.

The rally was called by Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers' of America, CIO affiliate, to protest the routing of strike pickets at Republic's Newton Steel Company plant at Monroe, permitting 800 non-strikers to enter the mill and resume operations.

HOUSE SAYS F. D. R. WILL NOT RUN AGAIN

tional attention through war, tonight saw nothing but world peace—but peace for the United States, he said, lies in a strong merchant marine and a powerful navy.

Approaching his 79th birthday and slightly stooped by age, Colonel House is still keen and observant.

"I've never seen the people of this country so bent for peace," he observed. "England and France want to maintain peace in Europe. Ninety per cent of the people in those countries would compel peace and the Italian and German people also are vehemently opposed to war.

"If war should break out, however, it will happen overnight and some trivial thing might upset the applecart and keep it going."

Colonel House spoke of the situation of the United States today and pointed to its position in 1917.

"Peace for this country is absolutely assured in a strong merchant marine and a powerful navy," he declared.

He stopped momentarily and his next words indicated his thoughts had wandered back to those days of turmoil in 1914-15-16 when he was sent to Europe by President Wilson "to stop war."

"Why in those years we did not have even a standing army much bigger than the police force of New York city and Europe looked at us in contempt and without fear."

WPA CHIEF PRAISES ELECTION'S RESULT

Miss Shepperson, in Commencement Address, Terms June 8 'Historic.'

VALDOSTA, Ga., June 11.—(AP) Miss Gay B. Shepperson, Georgia WPA administrator, told graduates of Georgia State Women's College today that June 8—when 26 amendments to the state constitution were ratified—"is entitled to an important place in Georgia history.

"The people of Georgia last Tuesday passed upon some of the most important questions raised since the War Between the States," Miss Shepperson said.

She referred particularly to amendments "permitting the state to contribute toward the support of a broad program of social security, aid to the needy aged, to dependent children and to the blind, and classification of property for tax purposes."

WILLIAMS ADDRESSES DOUGLAS GRADUATES

Williams delivered the commencement address at the college this morning.

He said opposition "is one of the world's greatest boons to human success. As the kite rises against and not with the wind, so the resistance of opposition will bear man up to higher and grander realms of life."

ABRAHAM BALDWIN HOLDS OWN EXERCISES

TIFTON, Ga., June 11.—(AP)—Departing from tradition, the graduating class of Abraham Baldwin Agricultural College delivered its own commencement address yesterday.

2 DIE IN TRUCK CRASH.

GADSDEN, Ala., June 11.—(AP) Funeral services were arranged tonight for George Kalevas, 50, and Chester McDonald, 31, who were killed when a truck ran off the road last night.

Prison Chief Given Libel Claim Right

The Georgia court of appeals ruled yesterday that the $100,000 suit Prison Commissioner Vivien L. Stanley filed against a group of motion picture concerns over the picture, "I'm A Fugitive from A Chain Gang," should be submitted to a jury.

Stanley contended the film was based on Robert Elliott Burns' book, "I'm A Fugitive from A Georgia Chain Gang," and that "each and every statement and charge contained in said book . . . purporting to relate and or describe the living conditions which existed at said Troup county chain gang" were and are false and untrue and that the same were wilfully and maliciously made. . . ."

The defendant motion picture concerns filed demurrers in Fulton superior court. They were overruled on ground it was a question for a jury to decide. The court of appeals upheld the ruling.

Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., the Vitaphone Corporation, Vitagraph, Inc., the Rialto Corporation, R. B. Wilby and Earle M. Holden, of Atlanta, were the defendants in the suit.

TRADE WITH CANADA

The first year of operation of the trade agreement between the United States and Canada provides striking evidence of the value of the reciprocal trade pacts which are being effected by Secretary of State Cordell Hull.

The agreement with Canada was put into effect on January 1, 1936, at a time when agricultural conditions and other factors could hardly have been more unfavorable. Yet the reports on the result of that commercial pact during the first 12 months of operation are strikingly encouraging.

American sales to Canada increased $57,000,000 over those of 1935, reaching a total of $370,000,000. American imports from Canada gained $92,000,000, making the total $378,000,000. Thus the two channels of trade almost balanced. Each country was enabled to pay for increased imports through increased exports and an important channel of international trade was thus deepened and widened and made more valuable.

The more rapidly the artificial dams to world commerce, erected largely as a war aftermath and during the panicky days of the world depression, are removed, the more rapidly will the business dealings of the world bring increased prosperity to all nations. At the same time, greater commercial contacts provide one of the surest and most effective highways to the maintenance of world peace.

INDICTED BY THE RECORD

Dr. Charles S. MacFarland, general secretary emeritus of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, in a letter to Chancellor Adolf Hitler, of Germany, indicts him as an arch enemy of God and the brotherhood of mankind.

Dr. MacFarland reveals that he has waited, in response to request of Der Fuehrer himself, for four years before passing judgment. Now, in a spirit of sorrowing friendliness, he reluctantly declares his conviction that "whatever you may have done for the economic life of Germany, you have wrecked its Christian ideals."

By its very restraint the letter from Dr. MacFarland becomes more damning in its condemnation of the policies of the German dictator in regard to the church and the finer ideals of life. He recalls that four years ago he made a study of the religious situation in Germany with the approval of the third reich and, on January 30, 1933, Hitler "begged to be given four years' time before people should judge." Now, having waited those four years, Dr. MacFarland renders his judgment:

You are isolating Germany from the rest of humanity, while, by persecution and exile, you are contributing to other people many of Germany's finest minds and spirits. . . . I can only say that you have, by consenting or approving, permitted the desecration of ideals of honor, integrity, truth and humanity. . . . That you are forfeiting the respect of the civilized world. . . . You are leading your adopted nation to an abyss. . . . You cannot build an enduring nation upon force and hate.

Rarely in history has a world figure been so accused. Accused not only by Dr. MacFarland, but by the indorsement which all civilized men, the world over, voice to his words.

In a world that, despite wars and social injustice, dictatorship and demagoguery, is climbing nearer to the ideals of the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man, Hitler stands as an enemy to spiritual advance. In a world that sees its businessmen and statesmen daily turning to the ethics of service to all and where ruthless selfishness is beginning to be relegated to the limbo of an unmourned past, Hitler stands forth as the apostle of force and hatred.

Careful observers of the European situation have asserted that the era of dictatorships, unhappy aftermath of the World War, is doomed to pass within ten years. Democracy's standard, upheld by the American nations, the British Empire and some of the smaller nations of Europe, is destined by the power of right to float again at the topmast of the world.

History will inscribe the name of Adolf Hitler as one of those whose acts have tended to halt the upward climb of mankind—strong for a while, but as ridiculous as King Canute when he commanded the tides to halt, when he seeks to block man's climb toward his foreordained status on the right hand of God.

HARMONIC OPPORTUNITY

The Atlanta Philharmonic Society announces a free program at the Atlanta theater on Sunday night. There will be a combined recital by the orchestra and the chorus, with works that rank among the finest, as well as most popular, among the creations of the world's greatest composers.

The Philharmonic Society thus continues its great service to the city. There is no more important public function today than that of providing means for fullest enjoyment of music. Orpheus stands in unique position among the arts. While knowledge increases enjoyment of music, there are none who cannot experience keen delight in hearing exquisite melody and balanced harmony, no matter how little they may know of composition technicalities.

In bringing these free concerts to the people of Atlanta, the society opens the door to an important cultural influence in the life of modern society. Experiences such as this lift modern men and women to higher planes of living and to finer aspirations. They provide welcome surcease from the vexing problems of everyday life and teach that man, today as always, does not live by bread alone.

PROVERBS TO KEEP DEVIL AWAY

The Masonic lodges of Georgia, acting upon a suggestion by J. K. Orr, of Atlanta, will offer cash prizes to those boys who memorize the greatest number of the axioms for life to be found in the Book of Proverbs in the Old Testament.

"A Proverb a Day Will Keep the Devil Away" is the slogan for this program, which has received highest indorsement of church, business and social leaders.

Thorough knowledge of the wise precepts in the Book of Proverbs will build for better citizenship in Georgia and lessen the number of men who come before the courts of criminal law and enter chain gangs of the state each year.

"If we can get the boys of Georgia to read and memorize the Proverbs," said Mr. Orr in instigating the movement, "we need not be worried about the men of the next generation. We have got to get right ideas in their heads and hearts so that they will have the moral stamina to overcome evil with good."

Boys who enter the contests for Proverb memorization conducted by the Masonic lodges of their home communities and by the grand lodge of Georgia should realize that more is required than mere learning by rote. It is conceivable a parrot could learn to say one or more Proverbs. The lessons contained in those Proverbs, however, would have little effect upon the life or habits of the bird.

Understanding must be linked to memorizing. The boy who reads and learns the Proverbs carefully and with understanding of the lessons they teach will acquire equipment for all his future life that will never wear out or become outmoded.

Read, learn and understand as many as possible of the Proverbs. They provide a complete ethical basis for the conduct of a man's affairs, today as yesterday, and for tomorrow.

BUILD HIGHWAYS FOR TOMORROW

The ever-increasing use of speedier and heavier automotive vehicles is rapidly outmoding the paved highways which were considered the ultimate word in travel arteries only a decade or two ago.

New forms of vehicular development, notably the heavy freight trucks and the advent of that mobile home, the auto trailer, have added new hazards to travel upon the vast proportion of highways of Georgia. Roads which were near perfection for their uses of ten, or even five, years ago are today antiquated.

Eventually all roads will have to be modernized. The day will come when the ribbons of concrete will be at least twice as wide as those in use today. Improved engineering will eliminate many of the curves which now constitute one of the greatest of all menaces to safety in travel.

Already some European nations are providing separate roads for the heavier and slower-moving truck traffic. Newest designs in approach to eliminate the need for crossing the flow of traffic at intersections must be adopted. Grade crossings must all, ultimately, be eliminated. The proper angle for each road on every unavoidable curve must be scientifically constructed.

Many of the paved roads in Georgia today are as inadequate to modern needs as mud roads were to the earlier users of the automobile. It will be as imperative in a few years, if it is not today, to get Georgia off the old-fashioned dangerous roads as it was, a decade ago, to get the state "out of the mud."

The State Highway Board has shown it realizes this condition. The main roads now being built conform to the requirements of the modern era. It will be truest economy not only to cease paving right-of-ways that curve in dangerous arabesques all over the landscape, but to create permanent, wide roadways of concrete to suit the travel, not only of today, but of the years to come.

A psychologist thinks elderly naval officers lean to absent-mindedness. It would be awkward in a crisis to realize one had left the pocket battleship in the other suit.

Hitler has created an eagle decoration for friends of the Nazis in other lands. One should do for a starter. It may not be necessary to kill two eagles.

Everyone envies those polar weather observers their new jobs. After jotting down "southerly winds," they return to their dominoes.

A Yale student of music has accidentally discovered a new sound which may be made on the French horn. So much for a feeling that college boys waste their time.

Editorial of the Day

ON THE OTHER FOOT

(From the Memphis Commercial Appeal.)

Since the memory of man runneth not, the law has been that a person who killed an animal on the high road, even though the animal had strayed from pasturage, was liable to the owner for damages. This did not work any particular hardship in the horse-and-buggy days, though it was often annoying. But with the coming of the automobile and the building of fast highways, it became more than annoying. It became dangerous because the injury to the animal is generally the least expensive element of an accident in which an autoist is involved. More frequently than not the car is torn up and the driver or others in the car are seriously injured.

Now the shoe is on the other foot. As the result of a law passed by the last legislature, owners of strays in Shelby county are liable to the autoist for any damage done. The owner is stripped of the right of recovery himself.

This seems a little harsh, but after all, it is sound. That day is gone when an owner can brand his cattle and send them forth to range upon the highways and byways. Not only is it too dangerous, but there is no occasion for it. The country has become thickly populated and most owners keep their flocks in their own fields. It is unfair to permit a few to enjoy a privilege, if it can be called that, which the many decline to take advantage of.

It is by far the most advanced step in this direction that has been taken in Tennessee. It is sure to help in the campaign to promote safety on the highways.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

EVADERS' TEXTBOOK WASHINGTON, June 11.—Don't tell President Roosevelt, but the man who gave helpful hints to the rich on how to evade federal taxes is no less than an authority than his own undersecretary of the treasury, Roswell MaGill. In fact, Mr. MaGill is generally recognized as the leading authority of the day on how not to pay taxes.

He established this reputation in a book published only last January, just before he was appointed to his present position as second in command of the federal treasury. Few rich taxpayers, and no tax attorney, have overlooked it. The title is "Federal Taxes on Estates, Trusts, Gifts," and it could have been entitled: "How Not to Pay Any More Than the Law Requires." Mr. MaGill's collaborator was an eminent New York tax attorney, Robert H. Montgomery, C. P. A.

Messrs. MaGill and Montgomery ignore the questions of tax morality or tax ethics. These are subjects which have only lately been raised. Instead, they deal with such practical propositions as how to get out of paying the highest rates legitimately, and they made a thorough job of it.

TIPS The tone of their tome may be judged by some of the subtitles: "Minimizing Family Income Taxes"; "Minimizing Estate and Gift Taxes"; "Creation of Trusts"; "Incorporation," etc. For instance, they tell how owners of estates above half a million dollars can evade death taxes by "divesting" themselves of 80 to 90 per cent of their property. But they counsel owners of estates of less than $100,000 to "divest" of no more than 55 per cent.

Unfortunately, there is not much in the book to help the smaller income taxpayer. The authors point out that man and wife may divide their income-producing property 50-50 and thus take advantage of lower rates. They also tell how to create trusts and "spread income tax liability among several taxpayers." None of this is much good to a salaried man.

IGNORANCE In fact, no one seems to be interested in helping the great bulk of income taxpayers. Every tax authority knows this class generally pays more than is due just because of ignorance of the law. They cannot afford to hire attorneys; the income tax blanks are not much help; and the revenue agents are rough about allowing deductions, such as the five and six cents per gallon taxes paid on gasoline, unless the taxpayer has documentary proof of how many gallons he bought. Likewise, it seems to be virtually impossible for the average taxpayer to deduct his six-cents-a-package tax on cigarets or on the cosmetics his wife buys.

Reports are current that Mr. MaGill is now working on a book telling the low income group how it can take advantage of these and other legitimate deductions. He may use as a text the observation made by a prominent Democratic congressman (Somers, of Brooklyn) the other day, as follows:

"If ignorance of the law is no excuse; can knowledge of the law be penalized?"

ENNUI Senators seem to be digging eagerly at their work in order to get away from Washington as soon as possible. However, the senate record on legislation does not show anything which might be called a rapid stride in that direction. It rather suggests that the upper house may be on a silent sit-down strike.

The other day, when the senate was in recess, there were then pending the relief bill, PWA extension, CCC extension, the Interior, and War Department appropriation bills, and numerous other bills had not passed the conference stage.

INFLUENCE Postmaster General Farley has been writing letters to congressmen against those pending bills for federal regulation of the commercial aviation industry. He does not want the air mail put under the Interstate Commerce Commission.

However, Mr. Farley does not seem to have as much influence now as when he took over the air mail some years ago. Congressmen have gone to F. D. R. asking him to settle the question.

NAME-TWINS In this spot yesterday, the ambassador to Switzerland, Hugh Wilson, was erroneously called Hugh Gibson, who is the ambassador to Brazil. The confusion of their names in State Department parleys is so common they have come to be known unofficially as the name-twins. However, if the appointment to the assistant secretaryship is made, there will be no confusion. Wilson, not Gibson, is the man being discussed.

LOADING UP Mr. R. seems to remind old congressmen of T. R. many times these days. Latest example: He has been sending up numerous messages, letters, etc. T. R. did that in his second term, and finally the frequency of communications from the White House caused laughter in the cloak rooms.

It cannot be said that Mr. R.'s messages are laughed at, but they have created considerable dismay, coming at the beginning of summer.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

I saw a little turtle

And I thought:
Wouldn't it be nice
If we could protect
Our tender emotions
Like that?
Don't you agree with me?
I think it would be swell.

To Conceive,
Or Steal, An Idea.

Sometimes, when my boss or somebody wonders what I do with all the time, I wish they'd go through half an hour similar to the one just concluded.

It was spent entirely in sitting back in the old desk chair trying to think of an idea for this column. Physically, utterly idle. Mentally, almost so. The old brain wanted to loaf, badly, and the idea would never have come but for the prodding of necessity.

A secret observer might have thought that 30 minutes wasted in utter inactivity. Ye gods, if he only knew the agony and labor of idea-seeking.

Is There
An Original Idea?

It is doubtful, after all, if there is a completely original idea to find, anyway. What you do when searching the arid wastes of what you playfully call your mind, is to stir around among the conscious and subconscious until something pokes a shy head a little higher above the rubbish. You seize it and pull, like a bird dragging a reluctant worm out of its hole.

It probably got there in the first place when you read it or heard it as the expression of someone else. And they got it the same way. You simply take it and elaborate.

It isn't plagiarism. That is a far different thing. Plagiarism is a crime. To get the germ of an idea from another is what everyone must do.

It is like the production of a garden.

You want to create a garden of your own. It would be theft to steal your neighbor's blooming plants and transplant them to your own place. But you've got to start your own flower beds with seeds that someone else grew.

It is perfectly all right to start your own fire with the spark from another's. But you mustn't steal that other fellow's fuel and hearthplace and andirons and all.

So, To Steal
An Idea.

So, in perfectly ethical manner, to steal an idea.

You think and think and think and think.

Then you start turning the pages of books. The dictionary is a good one, because it touches on so many different subjects on every page.

Or you scan the exchange pile. The papers from other cities. Perhaps some commentator there will furnish you the seed from which your own column will sprout.

Then you think and think some more.

At last, the idea comes. Why not write a column on the difficulty of snaring an idea for the column? There is your idea.

You cull that reference, see above, about creating your garden from Ted Robinson's column, "Philosopher of Folly," in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. Thanks, Ted.

The idea about the spark to start a fire came from the well-known Voltaire. Thanks, Francois.

'Twould be plagiarism to steal the column entire. But to steal the idea which makes it grow—that is the inevitable practice of all who write.

So, here's the column for today.

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.

From The Constitution of Wednesday, June 12, 1912:

"While the Forsyth theater was darkened during the singing act of Lillian Shaw last night, a fuse blew out of the spotlight in the balcony, throwing a startling glare across the front of the stage. Someone cried hysterically and those in the rear of the theater began a wild rush for the doors.

"To Lillian Shaw belongs the credit for preventing a panic, and perhaps, saving many lives.

"'I'm still here! There's nothing the matter! Sit down!' she called across the footlights. 'Come on and listen to this song.'"

And Fifty Years Ago.

From The Constitution of Sunday, June 12, 1887:

"BENSON, A. T., June 11.—Thursday night Lieutenant Johnson was only half an hour behind the Indians who are on the warpath, but during the evening they threw him off the track. The renegades appear to have experienced leaders, probably some of Crook's scouts."

Aztec Punishment.

There were two major divisions of crime among the Aztecs, says the National Geographic Magazine. One was the crime against a person's own group, the other an offense against another group. The group to which an offender belonged was obligated to see that he was brought to justice. Murder was punishable by death

Intemperance, except for those who had attained to the age of 70 years, also carried the death decree.

Theft had varying degrees of punishment, according to the amount or nature of the stolen goods and the number of offenses charged against the individual. The stealing of gold or silver was a major crime and offenders were flayed. Lesser crimes carried terms of imprisonment.

A priest who broke the law was put to death. Slanderers were punished by their own kin. They had their lips cut off.

The legislative power was vested in the ruler. He laid down the laws and stipulated the penalties for violations of his edicts.

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Political Cooties. NEW YORK, June 11. The office-holding critics of the big tax dodgers do not have anything to say about the swarm of political cooties in the seams of the taxpayer's shirt, who draw big salaries for doing nothing worth while, and thus rob the government's poorbox just as certainly, and possibly to the same extent, as the dirty rich at whom he points the finger of scorn. It takes a lot of small fry taxpayers to contribute the $6,000 salary of just one deserving and busted, but useless Democrat, stuck away in some office counting paper clips or cutting paper dolls. And it makes the taxpayer sore to realize that he must fill out a lot of crazy blanks, pay his money and then, month after month, take a half day off from his job to explain all in person—just for that.

A political machine has no more right to dish out the customers' money to Joe Dokes and George Spelvin, just because they turned out the votes, than a grass roots royalist has to incorporate his suburban south forty as a commercial parsley ranch, and claim losses on that account. The trouble is that the custom of planting bums in appointive jobs in reward for political service has prevailed so long that your hard-shelled politician thinks you are being naive when you exclaim, "My God! Can such things be?"

Caring for Politicians. Maybe I am naive then, but if it is stealing from the unemployed poor to chisel $6,000 off the tax, it is stealing not a dollar less from the same victims to tap the till for the same amount to take care of some politician. And the degree of the crime is no less, either.

In fact, I should say the degree was greater, because tax dodging by an individual is just one man's sin, and the man may sincerely resent some technical gyp practiced on him in a previous wrestle with the collectors. He may think he is just stealing it back. But, when a government, national, state or local, robs the poor, as well as the taxpayer, to take care of some scratchy political loafer in a nominal job, that's worse, because the government is all we have to protect us from the robbers. Nobody can protect us from the government.

And, while the boys are at it this time, they better eliminate the so-called twilight zone from the income tax and abolish the arbitrary power of government employes to grant or refuse items according to their personal whims and prejudices, a defect which permits of political and personal persecution as well as graft.

There are technicalities and loop-holes on the government's side, too, and these should be plugged along with the others, because what good is a law that stammers and lisps and claims to mean boola-boola when it says osky-wow-wow? As the law stands, nobody but a lawyer can understand the thing, and even some lawyers have to guess, because it seems to change its mind from one paragraph to another.

Talmudic Tales

By DAVID MORANTZ.

(Based upon the legends and philosophy found in the Talmud, which work contains the civic and canonical laws and traditions of the Jewish people, dating back as far as 3,000 years.)

(From time to time Morantz will answer in this column questions he has been asked on the religion, customs, ceremonies, institutions, etc., of the Jews.)

THE STUPID INNKEEPER.

"One should not drink from a goblet," says the Talmud, "and give the balance to another to drink therefrom as it may cause danger to life."

One day Rabbi Akiba stopped at an inn, and being very thirsty, ordered a drink of wine.

The innkeeper filled a large goblet, raised it to his lips and tasted it, after which he handed it to Akiba.

Seeing this, Rabbi Akiba said: "Drink the whole of it as my guest and fill another goblet for me." Then he put a coin on the table to pay for it.

The innkeeper drank it and thanked him. Then he filled a second goblet, but before handing it to Akiba he likewise tasted it.

Again Akiba invited him to drink the whole of it and pour another for him.

When the same thing happened a third time, the innkeeper said: "How long is this going on? Why are you insisting that I drink this wine when you are the one who is thirsty?"

To which Akiba replied:

"At first I thought you could burn yourself with lukewarm water (take a hint) but now I see that you cannot even burn yourself with boiling water."

American Birds.

"Not long after the first sound pictures appeared on the screen about 10 years ago, an attempt was made by a well-known motion picture company to obtain a film release of singing birds as a demonstration of the quality of its sound-recording cameras, says Arthur A. Allen in the National Geographic Magazine.

"It is one thing, however, to invite an opera singer to step before the microphone and quite another to order a wild bird to do the same thing. For nearly two weeks two of the best sound recording operators, equipped with a sound truck, struggled with the problem, but just as they got their cameras and microphones into action the singing birds flew away.

"Finally, patience exhausted, they came to our laboratory of ornithology at Cornell for help, thinking that our knowledge of birds might supplement their knowledge of sound recording with desirable results. To make a long story short, we were able to help, and became so interested in the problem that we conceived the idea of making a permanent record of the songs of all North American birds."

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Red-Headed Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN

My Dear Louise:

When I was coming along at about your age, parents were nice innocent people, too bashful to explain things to their children. They took it for granted that a kid's behavior and his thoughts were blameless and let him alone till they caught him doing wrong. Then they licked him, as a matter of duty, and again turned him loose to find his own way.

That was a good way to raise fruit trees, fowls and domestic animals, for nature matures these things without consulting them and they have no choice or responsibility.

But a kid can choose between right and wrong or wisdom and folly, so he really has the job of building himself and that is a lot of responsibility for a little fellow who has no experience in building.

I might have escaped considerable trouble if somebody had explained it to me and made me understand it, so I feel under obligation to tell you about it in case you haven't figured it out for yourself.

It is really quite simple and obvious, after you get the idea, for you build your future self much as you would build a house.

Nature gives you a body and mind to serve as a pattern or framework, and then the rest is up to you. Whether you do it intentionally and carefully or without giving it a thought, the job of building yourself is yours and you can't escape it.

The body part is easy. If you have good material to work with, all you need is sense enough not to spoil it. Get plenty of sleep and outdoor play; give your body the food it needs, and teach it to sit, stand and walk correctly, and the job is done.

Building the rest of you is the hard job. And yet it isn't hard, once you get the knack, for the completed job will be merely a collection of habits.

When you do anything a certain way a certain number of times, doing it becomes a habit and is added to your building like another brick in the wall.

You can examine each act before it hardens into a habit and say to yourself: "Is this material good enough to include in my building and have to live with all my life?" And if it isn't, you can discard it.

The chief danger, of course, is that of picking up cheap and ugly material and setting it in place before you realize how vile it is, and then sometimes you can't take it out and must spend your life trying to cover it up.

Your ability as a builder is equal to anybody's. If others are doing a better job, it is only because they are picking better material.

Love, DAD.

WORLD'S WINDOW

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN.

The Russian Mystery.

NEW YORK—Mediaeval travelers found Russia to be a land of "incomprehensible mystery," to employ the phrase of one famous French voyageur. Things have not changed a great deal since the 18th century: Russia is still the vast unknown quantity. The one moment you read a book of impressions by a prominent French industrialist and financier like M. Henri de Kerillis, full of praise and admiration for what has been achieved there, or an article by Dr. John Haynes Holmes—setting forth that "step by step, sometimes painfully, they are, over these advancing towards a greater measure of well-being for the mass of the people and then, all at once, comes word of mass-trials, terror and intimidation practiced on a large scale and frightful signs of unrest.

It seems to me that the Russian people, a patient people, did they not pay tribute to Genghis Khan and his successors for hundreds of years without a murmur?—are at the end of their moral endurance. They have been sacrificing for years now, first in the period of war and civil war and then while the dominant party experimented with deep-going social transformations, and they have had about all that can be expected of human beings. There is a limit to what human beings can stand.

Clinics and schools and factories and steel ovens are indeed necessary, but the people have a right to expect that the state, which uses them as one uses cogs in a machine, shall concern itself a little more with their personal welfare. Even rags will wear out. The sour brown bread, the chief staple of food still at this time, becomes nauseating. Motion pictures and theaters are excellent, but crowding together with two or three other families in one room, or at best, in a small apartment, is no pleasure. Indeed, it soon becomes a nightmare.

* * * *

Luxury for Soviet Only.

Those fine roomy apartment houses, with their solariums and swimming pools and recreation centers, of which we see photos occasionally in the press, are too often but show-places, which the masses contemplate only from the outside. The members, hangers-on, retainers and flunkeys of the Soviet bureaucracy alone enjoy those luxurious quarters.

The whole country is at present being urged to hunt for spies and wreckers and agents of foreign governments, which means that anyone's life is in danger who does not say "hallelujah" and "amen" whenever Mr. Stalin as much as grunts. Men's thoughts do not turn to a hope for a change, and to revolt and to wrecking, if things go well with them. There are far too many people with whom things are not going well in Russia. Those who want us to believe that the Soviet state is already a paradise, render no service to their ideal. Russia is struggling and striving, no doubt, but it has not arrived by a long shot.

* * * *

Mussolini and the English Press.

In attacking the British press Mussolini has committed an immense mistake. The whole world knows that the London Times and the Daily Telegraph, ultra-conservative both of them in their editorial point of view, are papers incomparable in their objectivity and fairness. Yet the correspondents of these two great newspapers have been expelled from Italy. Does Mussolini want no impartial witnesses on the scene? It must be said that the Duce's enmity for the Times does not date from yesterday. In 1923 the Italian navy suddenly sent a shower of shells into the island of Corfu. That was a simple warning to the government of Greece, a small and weak country. Fifty women and children were killed in one of the hospitals.

One sole newspaperman had been witness of the bombardment, the correspondent of the Times. This man's dispatch was reproduced in the entire world and roused a universal wave of indignation against Fascism. Last spring only one foreign correspondent had remained in Ethiopia—again the Times man—and he reported the massacre of the Ethiopians in and around Addis Ababa. At Guernica, in the Basque country, a few weeks ago, the Times correspondent reported Italian and German bombing planes as responsible for the total destruction of that city and the death of hundreds of women and children in an "open town." These things cannot be forgiven. The Times correspondent apparently had to leave Italy before he started to write something of the condition of the people who are paying for those grandiose naval and military displays which the chief of a poor agricultural country gives to Werner von Blomberg, one of Hitler's generals.

OFF THE RECORD--By Ed Reed

"Is this part of the tour?"

MILLS' SPOKESMAN ASKS 40-HOUR WEEK FOR ALL INDUSTRY

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP) An industrial leader urged congress today to put the 40-hour work week into effect throughout the nation.

Claudius T. Murchison, director of the Cotton Textile Institute, made this proposal following appeals by members of congress that business leaders offer suggestions as well as criticism concerning the Black-Connery wage and hour bill.

He was unsparing in his criticism of the bill, which would give an administrative board power to fix different wages for different industries and to adjust the work week upward and downward.

"To my mind the bill is the epitome of legislative tragedy," Murchison told the committee conducting hearings on the bill.

Disillusionment.

"It is a disillusionment for those whose hopes were high.

"It is sheer fantasy for those who would be realistic, and yet, within its broad, monstrous, lugubrious form it holds the germ of economic sanity and progress."

He proceeded then to suggest an alternative program.

The Cotton Textile Institute, representing 70 per cent of the productive capacity of its industry, desires immediate passage of a bill prohibiting child labor, he said, and also favors a minimum wage and maximum work week established by law.

He suggested the three issues ought to be split into separate legislation, however, instead of being handled together as in the administration bill.

Asks Differential.

Murchison advocated establishment of a nation-wide 40-hour work week, with provision for adjustments in special cases, and a flat minimum wage for all industry, with differentials only for broad geographical divisions.

He said the textile industry now has a $12-a-week minimum wage, but he believes it could go along with a $13-a-week minimum. He urged that the minimum be $1 higher in the north than in the south.

As it stands, he contended, the Black-Connery bill would bring "the death knell of organized labor concurrently with the death knell of freedom in industrial enterprise."

"The minimum wage, in effect, serves merely as a beginning and an excuse for the control of all wages," Murchison continued.

CAVE SPRING GIRL, 18, SAVES YOUNG SWIMMER

CAVE SPRING, Ga., June 11.—In near-by Cedartown there lives a girl, whose name was not learned here, who owes her life to the quick thinking of Miss Helen Carpenter, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adelbert Carpenter, of Cave Spring.

While a lifeguard's attention was diverted elsewhere, Miss Carpenter plunged fully clad into the municipal swimming pool here to rescue a young girl swimmer who, seized with cramp, had called for help and twice sunk from view. Resuscitated, the girl returned to her home in Cedartown without revealing her identity.

Confederate Vets Agree To Attend Joint Reunion With G. A.R.in 1938

Vote To "Associate With the Yankees;" Retiring Commander Threatens To Use Fists To Preserve Order During Stormy Election.

JACKSON, Miss., June 11.—(AP) United Confederate Veterans, sharply divided for the past three years over the propriety of attending a joint reunion with the Grand Army of the Republic at Gettysburg in 1938, finally "buried the hatchet" at the closing business session of their annual reunion today and voted to "associate with the Yankees."

"And all of you that don't want to go don't have to," shouted retiring Commander Homer Atkinson. "Let's not have any more talk about it."

But the controversial subject of smoking the pipe of peace with the "Yankees" had no sooner been settled than the veterans engaged in battle over the election of a successor to Commander Atkinson, who threatened to "use my fists" to maintain order.

After the wrangle of the voting had subsided, and the tellers had tabulated the count by states, General J. M. Claypool, 91-year-old commander of the Missouri division, U. C. V., of St. Louis, was declared elected by a vote of 291 to 211 over Adjutant General Harry Rene Lee, of Nashville.

The old men in gray, some too feeble to rise from their seats without assistance, shouted threats of physical violence over the contested vote of the South Carolina camps, whose votes had been cast for General Lee.

Carolina's vote, which was finally thrown out by Commander Atkinson, would have given General Lee the election.

Only the eloquence of Paul L. Roy, executive secretary of the state commission of Pennsylvania, planning the joint reunion at Gettysburg next year, persuaded the "boys in grey" to forget their difference.

Roy assured them a report that the Confederate soldiers would not be allowed to display or unfurl the Confederate flag was "not the truth at all."

"You can wave your flag as much as you please," he said. "We are inviting you not as guests of the G. A. R. at 'their' reunion, but as the guests of the state of Pennsylvania.

The veterans were told Pennsylvania had provided $95,000 for the reunion, and that the federal government would give $350,000 more. This money, he said, would pay the expenses of every veteran, and an aide or attendant from the time "you leave home until you get back."

"They waited 35 years to invite us," shouted one veteran from his seat, "and I ain't having nothing to do with them Yankees 'till they pay us for the property they destroyed in the war."

But his objection was overruled by General Atkinson.

The Southern Memorial Association today re-elected Mrs. A. McDermott Wilson, of Atlanta, as its president.

ATLANTAN RE-ELECTED BY SONS OF VETERANS.

Department commanders were elected as follows: Northern Virginia, Dr. Bayless H. Earle, Greenville, N. C.; Tennessee department, McWhorter Milner, Atlanta, re-elected, and Trans-Mississippi department, Clifton Ratliff, Oklahoma City.

Traffic Program Offered by White

Councilman John A. White yesterday submitted an 18-point program designed he said, to eliminate traffic congestion and expedite the flow of vehicles on the north side of Atlanta.

The list was offered to the city planning commission for study and recommendation.

Chief among the proposals were:

ROOSEVELT PUSHES FARM LEGISLATION

Secretary Wallace Testifies for Granary.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace imparted new vigor today to lagging efforts for enactment of an "ever-normal granary" bill at this session of congress.

In answer to a question, the President told his press conference he hoped for quick action on the measure.

Secretary Wallace, testifying before the senate agriculture committee, said he was heartily in accord with the ever-normal granary provisions of the "agricultural adjustment act of 1937," a proposal sponsored by the American Farm Bureau Federation.

The President's statement was preceded by an appeal to the White House by farm bureau and farm co-operative leaders from 17 states for enactment of the new agricultural adjustment bill.

Similar appeals have been made to Secretary Wallace and to the agriculture committees of the house and senate.

INSURANCE FIRM WINS COURT FIGHT

Policyholders Will Appeal Decision Dismissing Charge of Fraud.

The Florida-chartered State Mutual Insurance Company won the second round in a legal battle instigated by three policyholders who charged fraud when Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, yesterday sustained the company's general demurrer.

Attorneys for the policyholders announced the decision would be appealed on a bill of exceptions and Judge Pomeroy continued under a supersedeas the restraining order forbidding the company to pay dividends until the suit is finally settled. The company may, however, pay death claims, loan or cash surrender values under policies now in force, the court order said.

The policyholders' petition charged the insurance company with fraudulently attempting to appropriate moneys rightfully belonging to the policyholders. They alleged the new company had obtained an order allowing sale of the old State Mutual Life Insurance assets fraudulently.

Petitioners Marcus D. Dickerson, Edward R. Morgan and John B. Singletary claimed the policyholders were being "cut out" of participation in $500,000 dividends.

Under the court order the charges of fraud were dismissed and the company is allowed to continue normal business, under restrictions imposed by the supersedeas, which will continue in effect for 20 days.

TWIN GIRLS ARE BORN TO 14-YEAR-OLD WIFE

LEBANON, Tenn., June 11.—(AP) Officials of Martha Gaston hospital revealed today that twin girls were born Sunday to a 14-year-old farm wife of near Smithville. She is Mrs. Hebron Bandy. Her husband is 20.

The twins, Ann and Annette, weigh 6 and 5 pounds, respectively.

Attendants said the babies and their mother are in "excellent condition."

'First Lady' Trips The Light Fantastic

WALLACE, N. C., June 11.—(AP)—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in a dawn to dusk whirl through this coastal plain region, today tripped a few measures of an old-fashioned square dance, said in two formal addresses that Americans were co-operating more, watched men and women at work on a homestead project, visited a sick child, and then had a giant type of strawberry designated as "The Eleanor Roosevelt."

"We in America have made tremendous gains from the depression, in my opinion, by learning to work together—by getting the spirit of doing things together," said Mrs. Roosevelt.

LEVEES ARE ASKED FOR AUGUSTA, ROME

Army Engineers Urge Funds for Other State River, Harbor Work.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP). Army engineers disclosed today a plan to construct flood control works during the fiscal year 1939 in two Georgia cities.

Testimony of Major General Edward M. Markham, chief army engineers, before a house appropriations subcommittee indicated $685,000 would be spent for levees at Augusta, and $330,000 in the Mobile river basin to protect Rome.

Markham emphasized, however, these and all other items included in the war department's six-year flood control program would depend upon the approval of President Roosevelt. The engineer chief outlined the work contemplated for each of the six years. The two Georgia projects were included in the second year's operations.

Other Funds Asked.

Published hearings of the subcommittee disclosed army engineers had asked $1,324,500 for construction and maintenance of river and harbor projects in Florida Georgia and Alabama during the fiscal year 1938.

The engineers said they requested $25,000 for examinations, surveys and contingencies in the Savannah district.

Amounts in the budget estimates for projects on which some work already has been done included: Savannah harbor, $467,000; Savannah river basin below Augusta, $100,000.

Maintenance Funds.

Maintenance items included: Savannah harbor, $450,000; Savannah river below Augusta, $65,000; Altamaha, Oconee and Ocmulgee rivers, Georgia, $28,000; Brunswick harbor, $150,000; Chattahoochee river, Georgia and Alabama, $25,000; Coosa river, Georgia and Alabama, $2,500; Intracoastal waterway, Cumberland sound to St. Johns river, $12,000.

LAST-MINUTE STAY IS GRANTED NEGRO

New Trial Will Be Asked in Assault Case.

A 10-day respite granted little more than an hour before he was to be electrocuted at Milledgeville yesterday will permit Will Wright, Atlanta negro, to seek a new trial in Fulton superior court on a charge of attacking an 11-year-old white girl.

Downing Musgrove, executive secretary of Governor Rivers, announced the respite shortly after noon. Previously he had advised prison authorities to delay the execution three hours—until 1:30 p. m.—while he investigated the extraordinary new trial motion.

The motion was made on the grounds a trial juror was disqualified. Musgrove said it was his information the jury summons went to the son of the man for whom it was intended, and that the son was disqualified from jury duty.

Both the trial judge and solicitor's office recommended the respite when presented with the motion, Musgrove said.

ELKS OF TWO CITIES PLAN JOINT RITES

Atlanta and Decatur Lodges To Honor Flag Day.

Atlanta and Decatur chapters of the Elks will hold their annual Flag Day rites at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Piedmont park grove, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. I. H. Etheridge, exalted ruler, will conduct the introductory exercises and Dr. Herman L. Turner will deliver the invocation and benediction.

The Decatur band, under the direction of A. J. Ganing, will furnish music for the ceremonies. The program is in charge of Luther P. Call Jr., John Valdes, J. D. Roberts, of the Atlanta lodge, and Sheriff Jake Hall and Ernest P. Johnson, of the Decatur lodge.

George B. Hamilton, state treasurer, will deliver the principal address.

ALIBIS GIVEN FOR TWO IN BANK ROBBERY CASE

ATHENS, Ga., June 11.—(AP)—Defense witnesses testified in federal court here this afternoon, before Judge Gascom S. Deaver adjourned until tomorrow morning, that Frank Cartee and Martin Prisament were in New York on the day the Commercial Bank of Crawford was robbed of $3,600.

Cartee and Prisament are charged with the daylight robbery that took place last December.

More defense witnesses are to be put on the stand when court reconvenes tomorrow morning.

The case is expected to be continued until next week, and court officials do not believe it will go to the jury before Tuesday at least.

HIGH'S BASEMENT

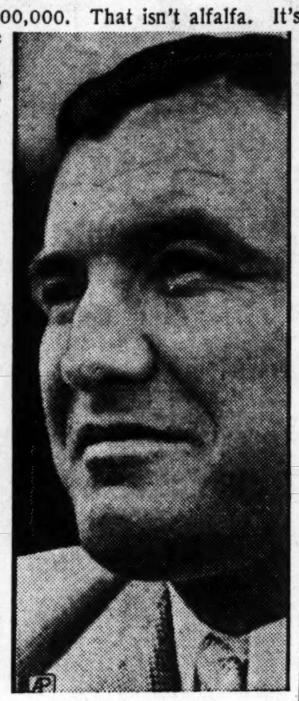

Dudley, Guldahl, Thomson, Walsh Tied at 140 After 36 Holes

Braddock and Louis fight June 22 in Chicago.

After two years without a fight, the champion steps in against young Joe Louis.

He gets a guarantee of $500,000. That isn't alfalfa. It's important money. But once the government takes its cut, and once Joey Gould gets his as manager, and once expenses are paid — including past debts said to amount to $40,000, there won't be too much left for Braddock.

JIM BRADDOCK.

Still, there is the chance he will win and have more money to make. The odds will favor Louis. He has these assets:

He's 23 years old. Braddock admits 31 years. (The record books show 32.

Louis has been active. Braddock hasn't fought since he won the title from Max Baer.

Louis is faster.

The colored boy has youth, condition and speed on his side.

Braddock has a right hand as good as that of Max Schmeling, which was good enough to knock out Louis.

Braddock is wiser in ring lore.

Braddock has lost 22 fights. Louis has lost only to Schmeling.

Braddock has this chance—if he can box the colored boy—keep a left in his face and swing that right high up on Louis' head—he can win.

I'd say it was a question of legs. If Braddock's legs can carry him long enough he has a great chance to win.

It was Jack Dempsey's idea that Louis was very vulnerable about the head—that blows there upset him badly. Certainly that was so in the Schmeling fight.

THEY DO COME BACK.

Braddock disproved that axiom.

He may continue to upset tradition. He has no business beating a younger, faster fighter with a punch. Yet he may. His record shows he has lost many fights to fighters who never got anywhere in the game. Once he was tossed out of the ring for making a bad fight.

Yet he won the championship of the world. It is true the fight was one of the worst, if not the very worst, heavyweight title fight the game has seen.

Yet, Braddock won it by a wide margin. There was no doubt about it. He out-boxed the playboy and took the title which had never meant very much to Baer.

I recall, almost as well as the fight itself, watching Joe Jacob's eyes as the manager of Max Schmeling watched the title slip away.

"He's GIVING it away," he said, his voice thin and high. "Does he know what he's doing?"

Well, anyhow, Braddock won. And the fact that he is such a fine fellow and that he had made the greatest comeback in the history of the game, made it a popular victory. Had he been a heel, the fans would have torn up the seats.

Braddock, having upset one well-established axiom, may do it again.

He has a chance. If his legs can hold out. And his legs are 31 or 32 years old.

MODERN TRAINING.

Old-timers—and their ghosts—must be holding indignation meetings about modern methods of training.

Braddock, knowing he has only a certain amount of reserve, insists he must not burn it out. He is trying to get in shape without any exhausting work.

Jim Jeffries, coming back after his retirement, trained in the mountains doing long miles of road work. That was in preparation for the Johnson fight. He said after that fight that he might have made a much better showing had it not been for his legs. They gave him as much trouble as Johnson.

The old-timers, however, forget they lived harder. Jeffries kept a saloon for about six years. Most of the old-time fighters kept saloons. Some of the modern ones do, too. But it's different. They are not around drinking with the customers in a steady sort of manner. And not one of them has a chance to try a come-back. Dempsey, Walker and Canzoneri have opened food and grog shops, the latter two following Dempsey and taking places near his.

Braddock has never dissipated. He has beer and an occasional high ball. But he has never been a boozer. And he's never been a night life type.

He may be smarter than the old-timers. If he wins we will know he is.

GIANTS TRADE FITZSIMMONS TO BROOKLYN

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—Bill Terry, manager of the pace-setting Giants of the National league, traded a 35-year-old pitcher for a promising 22-year-old hurler today when he sent fat Freddy Fitzsimmons and cash to the Brooklyn Dodgers for Tommy Baker.

Although neither pitcher has shown much this year, the deal figures to benefit both clubs. Fitzsimmons, a consistent righ hander since starting his major league career with the Giants in 1925, should fill a big gap in the Dodgers mound staff in that he will give Manager Burleigh Grimes another starting hurler. Baker, less than two years out of the minors, has failed to live up to expectations in the matter of games won and lost but Terry believes he has a comer in the young Texan.

A's Send Cissell To Baltimore.

CLEVELAND, June 11.—(AP)—Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Athletics, announced the release today of Infielder Bill Cissell to Baltimore, of the International league.

VOLS 7; SMOKIES 4.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 11.—The Vols took the second in a four-game series with Knoxville tonight, defeating the visitors, 7 to 4.

In the contest, beset with errors, the Smokies used three hurlers, Kardow, Heintzelman and Averette, while Johnson relieved Chagnon on the mound for Nashville in the seventh.

Knoxville batters managed to knock out nine safeties, the Vols accounting for only eight.

Buford Nine To Play Dixie Mills Tonight

BUFORD, Ga., June 11.—Buford will renew its baseball wars with the Dixie Mills' team of LaGrange at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night, in the third night game of the week heer.

Dixie defeated Buford 9 to 8 some time ago when Buford was on a tour through middle Georgia.

Grady Bassett, former Nashville hurler, will pitch for Buford tomorrow night.

Dixie Mills will be one of the entries in the sectional tournaments for the national semi-pro tourney to be held at Wichita, Kan., late in August. Buford was the runner-up in the 1936 tourney.

RIGGS AND HUNT PLAY FOR TITLE; MACLENNAN WINS

Bobbitt-Mooney Beaten in Second Round; Coyne-Vallebouna in Finals.

By TOM T. SILER.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 11.—(AP)—Two California boys, towheaded Joe Hunt and hard-driving Bobby Riggs, eliminated Dixie's last representatives in the southern amateur tennis tournament today and will meet tomorrow for the men's singles championship.

Riggs, top-seeded and ranked fourth nationally, vanquished defending champion Ernie Sutter, of New Orleans, in a fiercely-fought contest in five sets. The score was 6-3, 0-6, 6-8, 3-6, 6-3.

Hunt had a comparatively easy time against Art Hendrix, of Lakeland, Fla., tripping the third-seeded entrant in four sets, 6-2, 6-2, 1-6, 6-1.

Sutter, national intercollegiate champion who completed his college career at Tulane University this spring, equalled Riggs' best shots in the first four sets. But when the black-haired star put on the pressure in the final setto he was forced into many errors from the baseline.

Top-seeded Evangeline MacLennan, of Atlanta, and Mrs. Jean Artzburger, of Pittsburgh, ranked next in line, advanced according to the seedings and will battle for the women's title Sunday afternoon.

Miss McLennan had a terrific fight with comely Betty Buxton, of Memphis, before finally coming through, 6-8, 6-0, 7-5. The final margin lay in the Atlantan's experience and steadiness from deep court.

Mrs. Artzburger erased Gladys Vallebuona, of Atlanta, seeded fourth, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-3. The easterner's placements and net game left her with little opposition from the southern girl.

Riggs and Hunt, both of Los Angeles, were unable to duplicate their victories in doubles competition. Although seeded first, they found the agility and tenacity of a Nashville team, Ken Cram and Merrimon Cuninggim, too much and were eliminated, 6-3, 6-4.

After losing to Riggs, Sutter teamed with Ramsay Potts, of Memphis, with whom he won the southern title last year, to trounce Russell Bobbitt and Jack Mooney, Atlanta team, 6-2, 6-2. The losers had entered the quarter-finals with a 4-6, 6-1, 6-4 margin over Jack Bushman and James Vuille, of St. Petersburg.

Gardner Mulloy, of Miami, and Frank Guernsey, of Orlando, also entered the semi-finals by defeating Don Doyle and Billy Westerfield, of New Orleans, 6-4, 7-5.

Art Hendrix and Vernon Marcum, of Lakeland, eliminated Art's younger brother, John, and Bernie Frank, of Miami, by the score of 6-4, 8-10, 6-4.

Vesta Dunn, Nashville, and Jesse Grossnickle, Columbus, Miss., will match strokes tomorrow in the finals of the girls' singles division. Miss Dunn beat Frances Grossnickle, sister of Jesse, 7-5, 6-3, while Jesse was eliminating Lou Granbery, of Nashville, 6-1, 6-1.

In women's doubles, Mrs. Artzburger and Miss Buxton went into the finals with a 6-3, 7-5 count over Nashville's Patty Chadwell and Mary Jane Page. Etta Taylor Coyne and Gladys Vallebuona, both of Atlanta, survived the semi-finals by outstroking Pearl Lewis, of Nashville, and Evangeline MacLennan, 6-3, 7-5.

Selesky Beaten In Second Round.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 11.—(AP) The southern junior and boys' championship tennis tournament finally got under full steam today after being delayed by heavy rains for two days.

Top-seeded Joe Davis, of Nashville, encountered stiff opposition from Leonard French, of Memphis, but came through with a 6-2, 6-3 victory.

Other results:

JUNIORS—Leonard Floyd, Memphis, defeated Will Johnson, Columbus, Ga., 1-6, 6-0, 7-5; Weldon Selesky, Atlanta, defeated Herbert Oglesby, Memphis, 6-2, 6-1; Bill Murrah, Memphis, defeated Lewis Lyne, Nashville, 8-6, 6-2; Bob Decker, Miami Beach, defeated Ed Spenser, Knoxville, 6-4, 6-4; Dick McKee, Miami Beach, defeated Martin Levine, Memphis, 6-2, 7-5; Allen Goldner, Memphis, defeated Hobart Early, Miami Beach, 3-6, 6-1, 6-1; Don Jacobs, Miami, defeated Wesley Sheppard, Beaumont, Texas, 6-4, 6-4; Tom Price, Cincinnati, defeated Pete Jenkins, Nashville, 6-0, 6-0; Louis Faquin, Memphis, defeated Max Pegram, Tupelo, Miss., 7-5, 6-1; Grant Clark, Miami Beach, defeated Lykes Boykin, Clinton, S. C., 3-6, 7-5, 6-1; Melville Jordon, Chapel Hill, N. C., defeated Weldon Selesky, Atlanta, 9-7, 6-0.

Peach Belt Prize Winners Are Rewarded

J. C. Jones Jr., president of the Thomaston Golf Club, is shown presenting trophies to the winner and runner-up of the 12th annual Peach Belt Invitation Golf tournament, Leroy Taylor, Memphis, and Litt Glover, Newnan. Taylor also was medalist with a score of 71, one under par. A brilliant field of 152 golfers from 12 states and Hawaii took part in the 19-flight tournament.

Medalist Is Winner Of Peach Belt Meet

Leroy Taylor, Sharpshooting Memphis Veteran, Defeats Litt Glover.

By JACK TROY.

THOMASTON, Ga., June 11.—The 12th annual Peach Belt golf tournament, which was won today by Leroy Taylor, a sharpshooting veteran from Memphis, Tenn., was a peach of a tournament.

Taylor, the medalist, defeated Litt Glover, of Newnan, 4 and 3, in a stirring championship match. Taylor's medal score of Thursday was 71, one under par.

It was a stirring finals match because Taylor led Glover, a former student at Virginia and the University of Georgia, three up for the first eight holes, two up at the turn and was only one up at the completion of 12 holes of the 18-hole championship.

The large gallery which followed the championship match sensed a turning point there at the 12th hole. It seemed that the deadly consistent Taylor was going to pieces, so to speak.

MISSES BIG CHANCE.

Glover, who had been having a bit of hard luck with his putts, missed a chance to square the match when he failed to can a two-foot putt on the 10th.

He started scrambling, birdied the 11th as Taylor equaled par and parred the 12th as Taylor went one over. The match would have been all-square had Glover dropped that short putt on the 10th.

It was a brilliant challenge, but the veteran Taylor was equal to it and more. For he went on to equal par on the next three holes as Glover went one over in each instance and closed out the match on the 15th.

Taylor, a pernicious putter, con-

Thompson Equals All-Time Mark With 66, Six Under Par.

OAKLAND HILLS COUNTRY CLUB, BIRMINGHAM, Mich., June 11.—Jimmy Thomson, the siege gun of Shawnee, the mightiest hitter in golf, stole the second day's show at Oakland Hills. Just after Ed Dudley, Frank Walsh and Ralph Guldahl had taken the lead at 140 for the first two rounds, broad-shouldered, deep-chested Jimmy Thomson, who can hit a golf ball as far as a Tennessee rifleman can shoot, waded into the main picture and grabbed off all the drama.

Thomson started his second round after an opening salute of 74. He started his second round with a badly split callous in his left hand, the working hand of golf, that needed medical treatment before he could even start.

In the face of all these adverse circumstances, Thomson's hand was bloody, but his head was unbowed. He went out in 33 after an average start. He stood on the last tee with at least five records in either hand—with a four for a 65.

Up to this point he had turned in seven threes and a two—with an eagle or so scattered along the route.

In the past 41 years of open play, four men had played the course in 66—Goodman, Hagen, Sarazen and Creavy. In the past 41 years, only Chick Evans, at Minikahda in 1916, had beaten 140 for the first 36 holes.

But after a fine drive, Thomson shoved his second into a trap guarding the 537-yard 18th hole, and this slip cost him an armful of records.

THREE TIE AT 140.

Even as it was, Jimmy Thomson took charge of the second day's show. Dudley, Walsh and Guldahl at 140 for the first two rounds looked to be in a triple tie for the lead beyond any argument. All three had played magnificently. Each could have been at least a stroke or two better with any nod from fate.

Dudley and Walsh, playing together, had 70's on the opening round. They had 70's again on Friday's test. They ran shot for shot. Big Ralph Guldahl, who lost to Johny Goodman in Chicago four years ago by a short missed putt, came to the short 9th hole with a par three for a 31. That shows how fast they were moving under a cloudless sky and a steamy sun with no wind to interfere. Dudley at one time was four under par down the stretch and so was Guldahl. Either might easily have been a 68.

Sammy Snead, the West Virginia Hurricane, needed a 73 for 142. Harry Cooper, Light Horse Harry, the straightest of all the par-shooting snipers, had turned in a 70 with a brace of 6's in his card. Little 21-year-old Frank

MISS ANDERSON BRITISH CHAMP

A stubborn fighter with a magic putting touch, Miss Anderson played steady golf all the way to trounce Doris Parks, another Scottish star, 6 to 4, in the 36-hole final round.

They battled doggedly through the morning round and went to lunch all square. Miss Parks started off the afternoon round by winning the 19th but Miss Anderson squared the match at the 20th and then won the 22nd, 23rd and 24th in succession to take a lead she never thereafter relinquished.

Crackers Score Two Runs in Ninth To Beat Lookouts, 5-3

LARRY MILLER LIMITS 'NOOGA TO 6 SAFETIES

Ace Parker Socks Homer as Atlanta Wins Second Road Game.

By WIRT GAMMON.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., June 11.—When two clubs which have chased jinxes away with rabbits' feet tangle with each other something is bound to happen. It has happened. Last night the Crackers battled it out toe-to-toe with a stubborn Lookout team and finally won, 5 to 3, with a two-run outburst in the ninth to make it two in a row.

Consecutive clutch singles by Buster Chatham, Ace Parker and Larry Miller provided that winning margin. That gave the rookie Miller, a long, tall boy with a whipcord arm, the decision over Bud Tinning, one of Chattanooga's best hurlers. Miller almost lost his own game, though, when Jimmy Bloodworth scored while he was holding the ball after making a play at first base in the eighth.

The Lookouts got a man to second off Miller in the first inning, when McFarland led with a single and, after two were out, stole second. Wright popped out. The first Cracker reached second off Tinning in the fourth. Rose crashed a double off Bloodworth's shins into left with two men out. Mailho grounded out.

LOOKOUTS SCORE.

In the Lookout fourth Bloodworth two-baggered to the right-field corner pocket with one gone. He went to third on Wright's grounder to Hooks. Then Andrus dumped a single to left, scoring Bloodworth.

In the fifth, Richards, first up, singled to center. Chatham lined to Bloodworth's left and Jimmy drove through the air to spear it and rob Buster. Bloodworth managed to get off a throw to first base and it would have been a double play, but the throw was bad. Richards took second. Ace Parker hit a screaming line drive just over Olivares' head for a home run.

Chattanooga tied it in the sixth. With one away Bloodworth got a scratch hit. Wright walked. Andrus slashed a hard grounder to Hill, who flipped the ball to second, trying to start a double play. But Luby's throw was in the dirt, and the ball got away just far enough for Bloodworth to dash on home, safe by an eyelash.

CRACKERS AHEAD AGAIN.

Atlanta went ahead again in the seventh. Mailho beat out an infield hit. Richards flied out almost against the left field fence. Chatham hit a triple in the groove between right and center, scoring Mailho. Tinning then bore down and struck out Parker and Miller.

TIED IN EIGHTH.

Chattanooga tied it in the eighth. With two away, Bloodworth parked his third hit—a double—against the right wall on the first hop. Wright hit far to Luby's left and beat his throw to Miller, covering first. Bloodworth didn't slow up and romped on home while Miller was arguing momentarily over the decision at first.

Braddock Indicates Close Range Attack

By CHARLES DUNKLEY.

GRAND BEACH, Mich., June 11.—(AP)—James J. Braddock, snorting through five rounds of boxing today, gave evidence that he intends to fight Joe Louis at close range, hoping to finish him with a deadly right hand punch to the chin.

The negro challenger for the world's heavyweight championship always has been most effective at long-range fighting.

The well-conditioned Braddock gave unmistakable tip-offs of the style of battle he intends to wage against Louis as he mauled his two sparring mates, Henry Cooper, 190-pounder from New York, and Charley Massera, of Pittsburgh.

Braddock, perspiring profusely under the first hot sun in days, concentrated on infighting. He did sharp execution with his right, the punch which carries the most peril for Louis.

Throughout the drill, Braddock gave full evidence that he intends to test his punching to the fullest on the next two days. He will box eight rounds tomorrow and probably six on Sunday. He will strive for his top-most efficiency before beginning to taper down and work to develop speed in his final four boxing sessions next week.

The workout was witnessed by 300 customers.

Braddock, advised that Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, would bring suit against all concerned in the Chicago fight, accepted the news with a shrug of his shoulders.

"We beat them in the courts twice," Braddock said, "so another suit won't make any difference. I am not worried. Let Joe Gould, my manager, do that. I'll do the fighting in the ring."

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—Madison Square Garden, through its president, Colonel John Reed Kilpatrick, declared today it would bring suit against all parties who have figured "in inducing Heavyweight Champion James Braddock to disregard his contract" with the garden to fight Max Schmeling.

Kilpatrick revealed at the same time that a motion for re-argument of the appeal for an injunction against the Braddock-Joe Louis fight in Chicago, June 22, is in process.

WARREN PLAYS COVINGTON NINE

Warren will play Covington Mills, at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon, on the Warren athletic field on Fair street in the third of four successive games. The fourth will be played at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon when the Southern railroad will be opponents of Warren.

Tom Harper and Lefty Eidson who pitched Thursday and Friday nights against Buford, will divide Warren's hurling.

Ed Copeland, former Oglethorpe University star and member of Warren's southern amateur championship basketball team, has been appointed manager and will be in charge of today's game.

Gerald McQuaig's single in the ninth inning scoring Chink Martin ahead of him, gave Buford's Shoemakers a 6-to-5 victory over Warren Friday night. It was the fifth victory for the north Georgians against one defeat in the series with Warren.

BONURA, APPLING LEAD WHITE SOX BACK TO SECOND

Yankees, Tigers Win; A's Recuperate, Whip Indians, 11 to 3.

CHICAGO, June 11.—(AP)—They gave Zeke Bonura an automobile as Chicago's "most popular player" today, and the big first baseman showed his appreciation by banging out four hits, driving in five runs and leading the White Sox to a 14-to-8 victory over the Washington Senators.

The fans voted Zeke the city's outstanding performer for May, and the automobile was the prize.

His homer, two doubles and a single, and Luke Appling's double and three singles set the pace for the season's biggest two-club clouting spree as the Sox found Monte Weaver and two other Nat pitchers for 17 hits and Washington walloped Johnny Whitehead for 13, although Whitehead did manage to last the route. Four Washington hits were contributed by Buddy Lewis, one of them a homer in the ninth.

11 OUT OF 12.

The victory was the White Sox's eleventh in their last 12 starts and boosted them back into second place in the American league.

The Ferrell brothers, Rick and Wes, and Outfielder Mel Almada, all received from the Boston Red Sox in trade yesterday, made their Senatorial debut. Wes grounded out as a pinch hitter; Rick caught the last three innings, and Almada played the full nine innings. Wes Ferrell is slated to pitch tomorrow's game.

The Detroit Tigers extended their winning streak to five games by defeating the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 5, although Bob Grove struck out 11 Detroit batters.

"Boots" Poffenberger, making his debut as Detroit's newest recruit, relieved Rookie George Gill in the third inning and held the Sox to four hits in 6 2-3 innings to gain credit for the victory.

DIMAG HITS TWO.

Joe DiMaggio clouted two homers. Lou Gehrig hit one and Charley Ruffing allowed only five hits as the New York Yankees blanked the St. Louis Browns, 10 to 0, in the opener of their current series.

The Philadelphia Athletics bombarded four Cleveland pitchers for seven doubles and two home runs to win the first game of their series here, 11 to 3. Wally Moses hit both of the Philadelphia home runs, bringing his season total to nine. Weatherly hit a four-bagger for Cleveland.

LATONIA DERBY SLATED TODAY ON FAST TRACK

COVINGTON, Ky., June 11.—(AP)—A fast-drying track gave promise tonight of near ideal conditions for Saturday's fifty-fifth running of the $15,000 added Latonia Derby, an intersectional rivalry of prize three-year-olds over the mile and a quarter.

Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Reaping Reward, show money winner in the Kentucky Derby, and the Waggoner Brothers' Heelfly, an "also" ran at Churchill Downs, shared the favorite's position.

Mrs. Mars, a Chicago woman, also entered Military from her Milky Way stables, the double entry being quoted with Heelfly at probable odds of 3 to 1. The Waggoner horse held the favor of Latonia fans, who saw its strong finish to win the $2,500 added inaugural handicap, May 29, and the easy manner in which it captured the Preparation purse Tuesday.

Mrs. W. H. Furst, daughter of Mrs. Mars, predicted her horse, Over the Top, a former stablemate of War Admiral, would beat out both Reaping Reward and Military. She and her mother engaged a box for the Derby.

Kentucky's hope for the rich Latonia stake rested in J. W. Parrish's Dellor, a Kentucky Derby "also ran" with an aptitude for mud.

The entries, weights, jockeys and probable odds:

Horse	Wgt.	Jockey	Prob. Odds
Dellor	118	E. Yager	10-1
Woodberry	118	J. McCoy	15-1

MEDALIST WINS IN PEACH BELT

sistently was outdriven from the tee. But his tee shots split the middle, and his second shots were straight for the pin.

ONLY ONCE IN ROUGH.

Only once toward the end was one of his approach shots very much off line and only once during the entire match did he hit a tee shot in the rough. If, as they say, consistency is a jewel, well, Leroy Taylor today was a diadem; a diamond not in the rough.

To me, one to whom golf is a strange, remarkable and altogether miraculous game, it seemed that Taylor probably won the match on the second hole of the outgoing nine.

It was there that he made perhaps the best putt of the tournament. Taylor was on the green of the 316-yard par four hole in two. He had a 25-foot putt for a birdie.

They had squared the first hole, each having par fours. Well, Taylor stepped up and looked the situation over. He stepped back and lined up the putt. And made it. This, his only birdie of the match, seemed to give him an insuperable advantage. Especially, with Glover apparently a shade or two off his usual game. Taylor went on to three-putt three greens later, but only one cost him a hole, the ninth.

There were, of course, 152 golfers in this 19-flight two-day Peach belt tournament, one of the largest tournaments ever held in the south.

TWELVE STATES, HAWAII.

Twelve states and Hawaii were represented in the huge field. And all credit must go to Cary Ritch, Griffin pro, the starter, and the tournament committee of Victor Thurston, Kenneth Bryan, H. L. Middlebrooks and Club President J. C. Jones Jr. for the brilliant handling of the event. All foursomes uniformly got away on time.

One of the sensations of the tournament was the play of 14-year-old Ike Scott Jr., of Griffin, a protege of Pro Ritch. Young Scott, who started out by parring the first six holes, won the 13th flight in competition against men players, some of them old enough, perhaps, to be his granddaddy.

Charlie Thompson, the delightful chairman of entertainment for all Martha Mills events, was on hand to see that everybody had a grand time. There was nothing lacking. Next year, they say, however, that there must be a few less flights. This peach of a Peach belt tournament was almost a matter of biting off more than they could chew, no doubt. But the two-day event really was a masterpiece of management. They do everything up right in Thomaston.

OTHER FLIGHTS.

Second Flight—Tom White, Memphis, defeated Pat Huguley, of West Point.

Fourth Flight—Dick Mitchell, Griffin, defeated E. Lanier, West Point.

Sixth Flight—W. W. Kirby, Newnan, defeated Lewis Kertz, West Point.

Ninth Flight—Dr. Hugh McCullough, West Point, defeated P. E. Arnold, Griffin.

Seventeenth Flight—A. A. Hardy defeated Britt Stamps, Pittsburgh.

TEXTILE TEAMS TO PLAY TODAY

HOGANSVILLE, Ga., June 11. Hogansville and Thomaston will be hosts in another round of the Georgia Textile league tomorrow afternoon.

The U. S. Royals plays East Thomaston on the Stark Mills diamond here, while Silvertown's Martha Mills nine plays East Griffin, on the Silvertown diamond at Thomaston.

Callaway defeated Dundee, 7 to 4, Friday afternoon at LaGrange in a game moved up from Saturday.

Callaway holds a decided edge in the standings, but Hogansville, East Thomaston, East Griffin and Silvertown are closely bunched and have a chance to oust the LaGrange team with a brief winning streak.

Only three more rounds remain to be played in the first half of the league schedule.

Callaway Wins Over Dundee, 7-4.

LAGRANGE, Ga., June 11.—Walt Wilson pitched Callaway Mills to a 7 to 4 win over Dundee here today.

Locke gave Wilson trouble with two home runs to account for all four runs for the visitors.

Callaway	122	010	01x—7

Willingham Is Star As North Tigers Win

Willingham was the hero as the North West Tigers defeated the Y Crackers, 5 to 4, in a sandlot game at Piedmont park. Willingham struck out 10 batters and doubled in the sixth inning with the bases full to win the game.

Cash was outstanding for the losers.

Amateur Ball

SCOTT LEAGUE.

The United Auto Workers and American Can will play one of the big amateur games of the day at Grant Park. They are tied up in the standings, and this game will determine which one stays in the first division. Southern Railway and Black and White Cab will have another one of the hard ones.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE.

Central Cafe vs. National Biscuit, at Adair Park. Moore, umpire.

Southern Railway vs. Black and White, at Piedmont Park. Bell, umpire.

ATLANTA LEAGUE.

Three leading teams play the teams of the second division in the Atlanta Textile league Saturday. Fulton Bag is still in the lead, with only one game lost for the season, followed by Exposition and Whittier with two each. They should not change this status without a streak of bad luck.

SCHEDULE.

BECK-GREGG LEAGUE.

Double-leaders will feature play in the Beck & Gregg Baseball league this afternoon, with all teams except Brookhaven and Brick Layers meeting in twin bills as the teams start the second round. The double-headers are slated to start at 2:30 o'clock, with the single game starting at 3:30 o'clock.

Brookhaven and the Brick Layers will probably turn in the closest score, as they seem the closest matched this week. Brookhaven has lost two out of seven and the Brick Layers has dropped three out of seven.

THE SCHEDULE.

Atlanta Linen vs. Garrett Wine, at Circus Grounds. Umpire, Jenkins. (Double-header.)

Southern Wax vs. Mayson Methodist, at Mayson. Umpire, Bradford. (Double-header.)

N. C. & St. L. vs. Oakland City, at Oakland City. Umpire, Allen. (Double-header.)

COMMERCIAL LEAGUES.

Merita Bakeries and Dixisteel baseball rivals will clash in the Atlanta Commercial league feature this afternoon at Glenn field, the home park of Dixisteel. The Steelmen are leading the league, undefeated in eight starts, while Merita is in third place determined to undermine the leaders. Mayo and Smithwick will probably face each other on the mound. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock.

THE SCHEDULE.

Gulf Refining vs. McDonough, at Piedmont Park. Umpire, Pickett.

Today's Probable Pitchers

AMERICAN.

Boston at Detroit (2)—Marcum and Newsom vs. Lawson and Wade.

Philadelphia at Cleveland—Kelley vs. Galehouse.

NATIONAL.

Chicago at Philadelphia—Parmelee vs. Lamaster.

St. Louis at Boston—Warneke vs. MacFayden.

Cincinnati at New York—Derringer vs. Schumacher.

RAMBLERS WIN TWO.

The West End Ramblers won a double-header from the West End Cardinals Friday morning on the Joe Brown field. The scores were 7-0 and 3-2.

ROOSEVELT STYLED DODGER OF TAXES BY HAMILTON FISH

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—The house heard Representative Fish, Republican, New York, suggest today that congressional investigators of alleged tax dodgers scrutinize President Roosevelt's income tax return.

He said he had information from a "reliable authority," that Mr. Roosevelt had deducted losses on his "so-called farm at Hyde Park, N. Y." In reality, he said, it "is not a farm, but a palatial residence."

Fish represents the district in which the President lives.

His assertion virtually coincided with the President's signing of a measure creating a senate-house committee to inquire into tax dodging by the wealthy and methods of stopping up revenue loopholes.

Meanwhile, the house adopted and sent to the senate a resolution to continue 3-cent postage and more than $500,000,000 of "nuisance" taxes for two years.

First, however, it slashed from the measure an amendment, previously approved, which would have increased the tax on imported coal from 10 to 25 cents per 100 pounds.

Criticizes Levies.

After criticizing some of the levies—which apply to gasoline, automobiles, cosmetics, furs, electricity and a wide variety of products—Fish suddenly diverted to the question of tax evasion.

"Let me say to members of the ways and means committee—Democrats and Republicans alike," he said, "that if they propose to plug up these holes and stop tax evasions and tax avoidance, that there are other income taxpayers whose income you should also look into.

"I have not myself seen the income tax returns of the President of the United States and I do not believe I would be permitted to see them, but I suggest the committee look at the tax returns of the President."

An undertone of asides ran through the big chamber when he continued:

"I am informed on reliable authority he had deducted from his income tax the losses on his so-called farm at Hyde Park in my district in New York, which, after all, is not a farm but is a palatial residence.

"If he has done that, why should not others under the law deduct their taxes in the same manner? If you are going to investigate anyone, I suggest you investigate these taxes as well. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander."

Little Verbal Reaction.

He sat down in a burst of noise but his words brought little verbal reaction.

Representative Fuller, Democrat, Arkansas, passed the matter off with a statement that Fish was making a play for headlines that might read:

"Fish jumps on President, says loopholes in law."

Leaders were arranging to start the tax dodging investigation next week. Vice President Garner and Speaker Bankhead were expected to make the joint committee appointments promptly.

Treasury officials said they were ready to turn over to the 12-man committee a roster of names of rich persons allegedly to have avoided taxes. These persons may be summoned to testify, it was said.

Longino asked the commissioners to hold up grants to the city until action on sewers was taken and asked Callaway to lend his influence in getting speeding council action on the matter.

Callaway said he had told Mayor Hartsfield the city could not expect county aid until they agreed to the county's sewer proposition, submitted nearly two weeks ago and which despite the sewer committee's approval, was referred to the finance committee for report at Monday's council session.

A report by the county's new contact man, M. C. Bishop, revealed progress on post road projects of the county and it was indicated the state highway department looks with favor on the Fulton undertakings.

The county's $25,000 June allotment to the Fulton county Board of Public Welfare was ordered released at once.

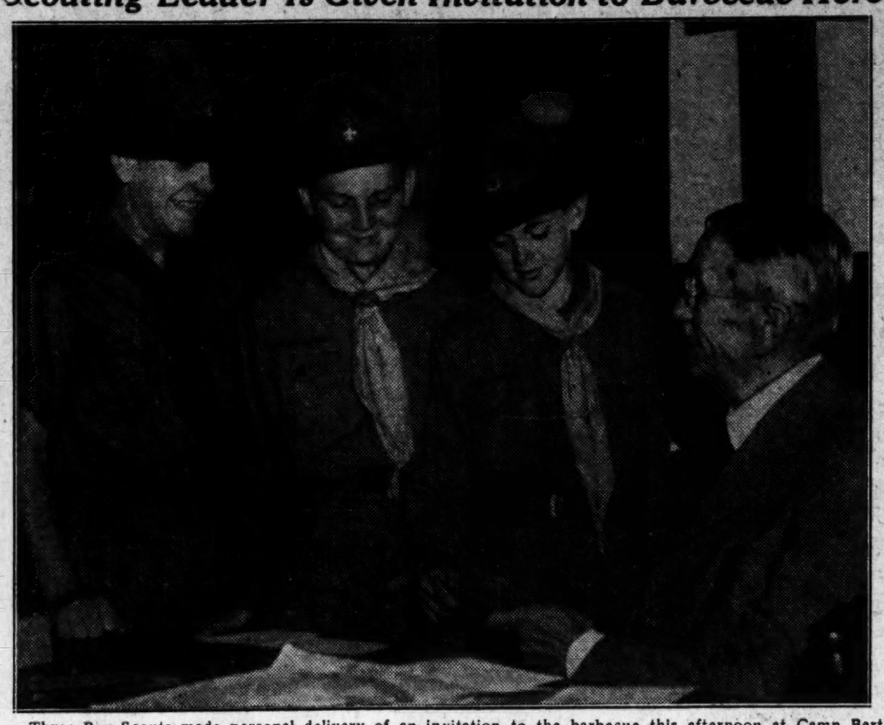

A resolution asking the highway board to approve a survey of the route for a new post road from Alpharetta to the Cherokee county line was passed. The county agreed to obtain the right-of-way and to maintain the road when completed.

GENERAL DAVIS RE-ELECTED.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 11. (AP)—Members of the Association of Graduates of the United States Military Academy, attending June week activities here, today re-elected Major General Robert C. Davis, U. S. army, retired, of New York, as their president.

promised "to do everything possible."

An Atlanta Alcohol Tax Unit executive declared the government classified Georgia as "wet" because of its legalization in 1935 of beer and wine with alcoholic content of more than 4 per cent. Another, in Washington, said the unit considered the state "dry" as a result of the Tuesday election.

Chief Inspector M. F. Bundy, of the tax unit, said that, at the end of May, 60 wholesalers had paid levies of $100 per fiscal year for the right to do business in Georgia.

The federal tax covering retailers of beer and wine also sanctions the sale of tax-paid hard liquor.

"We can't command the federal government to act," State Revenue Commissioner T. G. Head said. "All we can do is ask them to help us."

Washington's Comment.

In Washington, Stewart Berkshire, head of the Internal Revenue Bureau alcohol unit, said that the unit would attempt to co-operate in enforcemeent of Georgia's dry law but that it had no authority to keep tax-paid liquor out of the state.

Under the 1936 alcohol enforcement act, Berkshire said, states which permit the sale of beverages containing more than 4 per cent alcohol by volume are classified automatically as wet states. Georgia permits the sale of 6 per cent beer and 21 per cent wine.

Under the law, Berkshire continued, the Internal Revenue Bureau can regard as "illicit" liquor in Georgia only that on which no taxes have been paid.

Names May Be Given.

He added, however, that some co-operation might be rendered officers enforcing the state dry law. He added that, upon request of state officials, the bureau would turn over the names of any persons in Georgia who take out federal licenses as liquor retailers.

By blocking off the sale of whisky, state officers hoped to increase revenues from state levies upon wine and beer.

Administrator W. S. Alexander said through a spokesman:

"As far as it has authority to do so under the law, the Federal Alcohol Administration will protect Georgia and her rights under the twenty-first amendment, as it has done since the Federal Alcohol Administration act was passed in 1935."

In addition to hunting bootleg stills, he said the unit would proceed "with energy" against any liquor interests suspected of shipping illicit spirits into Georgia.

Local Sanction Cities.

With no state prohibition enforcement agency to interfere and local sanction in resort cities such as Augusta, Savannah and Brunswick, liquor is sold openly over many bars.

Augusta has a municipal ordinance licenscing liquor dealers at $300 a year and they can undersell the bars of near-by wet South Carolina, where a state tax of $1 a gallon is levied.

Colonel R. L. Chambers, new director of Augusta police, said he believed in a "wide-open" town.

ENFORCEMENT DRIVE PLANNED BY HORNSBY

A vigorous enforcement drive, aimed at all classes of law violaters, is being planned by Chief of Police M. A. Hornsby, he revealed yesterday.

Asked if he intended to concentrate on any particular type of violator, Chief Hornsby said, "No one will be missed. We are going up and down the line, from top to bottom."

The chief said the drive will begin soon, with an increase of men on the liquor squad. "I'm warning bootleggers to fold up and stay out of Atlanta," he added.

ONE DEAD, 2 INJURED IN FLORIDA AUTO CRASH

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., June 11. (AP)—Johnnie Thrift, 25, of MacClenny, died in a hospital here of injuries received in an automobile accident near Jacksonville today.

Thrift's aunt, Mrs. Rosa Thrift, of MacClenny, and E. M. Nix, of Jacksonville, were seriously injured in the crash.

Entire Family of 4 Will Go to School

SAVANNAH, Ga., June 11.—All four members of the James A. Kelley family, of Savannah, will spend six weeks at school this summer at North Georgia College at Dahlonega.

Mrs. Kelley, elementary instructor at the Charles Ellis school, left yesterday for Valdosta, where two daughters, Misses Elizabeth and Priscilla Kelley, received diplomas today at the Georgia State Woman's College. Mr. Kelley joined them in Valdosta today, and they proceeded to Dahlonega for more school. The North Georgia College education course opens next Tuesday.

The Kelley family will be "regular students" and will live in a college dormitory.

nude" for Murray Korman, New York photographer. These appeared in the newspapers, he said, and humiliated and embarrassed him.

2. That when he returned from work he often found her in a drunken stupor.

"That's ridiculous," she said. "He never found me drunk in his life."

Letter Introduced.

Anderson submitted in evidence a letter purportedly written to him by his wife:

"As you know we had an outing Saturday. Everyone got plastered on beer. (We had seven kegs). I even had the chief of police of Haverstraw looking for me."

Again the tinkling laughter from young Mrs. Anderson.

Another letter:

"We bought a bottle of Johnnie Walker Scotch on the way up. . . . After that we came home and drank Tom Collins and chewed the rag until 3 in the morning and I didn't get drunk, in fact that's what made me mad."

Anderson charges that his wife neglected to tell him she had been married thrice before their marriage May 2, 1936.

"After a few weeks I was informed my wife was not only a dipsomaniac but while she was drunk, married at least three other men and on each occasion had an annulment or divorce. All this was before she was 18 years of age."

Divorce Explained.

Mrs. Anderson in the papers she filed said she married Bruce Barton Jr. at Daytona Beach, Fla., and explained their parting by stating: "It was one of those convenient Florida divorces based on incompatibility, mental cruelty or what have you."

She said she broke up with her second husband, Alexander J. Mayer, New Yorker, because "she was a Christian and refused to go through a Hebrew ceremonial."

Maxwell G. Cutler, New York attorney, representing Mrs. Anderson, maintains the annulment suit is illegal, basing his claim on the statement Anderson has not been a resident of New York for one year. The attorney further says Anderson's father is on the board of directors of a New Jersey machinery firm which is valued at about $3,000,000.

Mrs. Anderson is staying here with her mother, Mrs. Ruth Stevenson.

"On second thought," said Mrs. Anderson, "I don't think I want to say anything."

go to Hollywood in efforts to "crash the gates" and very few of these ever succeed in even being interviewed.

Tests Are Expensive.

"Then in addition, screen and sound tests cost plenty of money and they are not to be had at the studios without herculean efforts on the part of the applicant, backed by desirable attributes that are readily apparent.

"Under the plan being sponsored by The Constitution, the applicants are interviewed in Atlanta. The better possibilities are to be coached carefully and then given actual screen tests and the tests are to be sent to Hollywood.

"No effort or expenditure is required of the Hollywood executives and everyone of the leaders will see the films, hear the Atlantans talk. Those Hollywood executives will be out in force for the showing of the film, hoping to spot potential stars.

"It seems to me to be the best way possible to 'crash' the gates of Hollywood. It offers Atlantans a better opportunity than that offered the thousands who have traveled at their own expense to the film capital in the hopes they might manage to secure interviews tnd tests."

Co-operative Venture.

The Constitution movie screen tests will be made through the co-operation of Astral Productions, Visugraphic Film Corporation of Atlanta and Radio Station WATL. There are no strings attached. All that is necessary is for the candidate to make application to:

"The Talent Scout,
"The Atlanta Constitution."

A recent photograph should accompany the application and the name and address must be given. Other desirable information that should be provided includes age and experience in amateur or professional dramatics, although Burgess stressed the fact that previous experience is not needed.

Applicants will be notified when to report for interviews and those considered as having screen possibilities will be given expert coaching, provided with scripts and ordered to report for rehearsals. The more promising candidates—and there will be at least 30 or 40 selected—will receive film and sound tests.

These will be processed, edited and made into a film which will be given a full week's run at the Rialto theater. The film will then be shown at the Hilan, Ponce de Leon, Center, Bankhead and American theaters of the Bach group after the Rialto showing.

Audiences at the theaters will be asked to select the outstanding performer, the votes will be tabulated and the winner will receive a round trip, all expenses paid, to Hollywood by American Airlines flagship sleeper planes.

There will be a round of entertainment in Hollywood and the winner will be presented at the major studios by Arthur Klein, Ltd., one of the best known artist agencies.

However, although the splendid trip is the capital prize, the most important feature from the standpoint of the contest entrants is the fact that a tryout in Atlanta is the equivalent of a tryout before the major film executives of Hollywood.

AP Vote Accuracy 99 84-100 Perfect

Only .16 of one per cent separated the certified total ballot by which drys won Tuesday's referendum on repeal and the Associated Press unofficial tabulation.

The official figures were announced at noon yesterday. The Associated Press totals were announced Wednesday less than 24 hours after the last polls had closed.

The comparative tabulations:

Margin of dry victory (official), 8,522.

Margin of dry victory (Associated Press), 8,277.

For repeal (Associated Press), 94,652.

Against repeal (official), 103,097.

Against repeal (Associated Press), 102,929.

Dobson, former local Scout executive and now regional executive; and Mell R. Wilkinson, first president of the Atlanta Council and now vice presdent of the national board.

Competitive games, a swimming meet and other entertainment for the Scouts will be held under the direction of Herb Dowis.

Chiang's Captor Is Paid 'Million' To 'See World'

NANKING, China, June 11.—(AP)—China's treasury gave a million dollars Mexican today to General Yang Hu-Chen, erstwhile coleader of the Stanfu mutiny in which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek was kidnaped, and told him to take himself a trip around the world.

He will sail June 29 aboard the liner President Hoover toward Los Angeles with a commission from Chiang to "investigate military and economic conditions in the United States and Europe," well informed persons said.

The money (about $300,000 in United States currency) is for traveling expenses and pocket money."

Generalissimo Chiang, however, neither expects nor desires to receive reports from the man who helped keep him captor for 13 days last December. Nor does China expect to get any of the money back.

'KIDNAPED' MAN SAFE IN BASTILLE

Detective Has Little Trouble Solving Case.

A daughter's fears that her father was kidnaped, and possibly murdered, proved completely groundless last night. The missing father was located safe and sound in the county jail. His reported "kidnapers" had been police.

Search for the father, Will Hammond, negro, who lives in the basement of 719 Penn avenue, began shortly after a visit to police headquarters of his daughter, Dorothy Driscol, of 863 Hubbard street.

The daughter said she heard her father had been forced into an automobile early Wednesday night by two men, "armed with knives." The "kidnapers," she heard also, had accused her father of withholding a day's "bug" receipts.

Lending credence to what she had heard from friends was the fact that Monday night, the "same two men" took her father for a ride in a car, accusing him at that time also of "holding out."

Detective C. S. Banks, assigned to the case, solved it easily. He remembered that Wednesday night he and J. B. Harper, special officer, took Hammond to jail. Hammond had been out on $100 bond on a charge of "bug" activities, and had surrendered bond.

CONSUMERS WIN

Power Company Reduces Charges, 'Strike' Ends.

RALEIGH, N. C., June 11.—(AP) Striking Mitchell county consumers of the northwest Carolina utilities, who have been burning candles and kerosene lamps for the last 30 days in protest of what they termed exorbitant electrical rates, claimed a sweeping victory today when the power company announced a 22 per cent reduction in charges.

Jubilantly, leaders of the "turn-off strike," who said they had 100 followers, announced the use of electricity would be resumed tomorrow.

Nero Wolfe Character Is on Screen at Rialto

That famous super-sleuth, Nero Wolfe, lives again on the screen in "The League of Frightened Men," which opened a week's run yesterday at the Rialto theater.

This time, however, the unique detective who never leaves his house, is played by Walter Connolly, veteran stage and screen star whose characterizations are always notable.

Supporting Connolly is a fine group of players, icluding the frowning Lionel Stander, the villainous-looking Eduardo Ciannelli, and the beautiful Irene Hervey.

Directed by Alfred E. Green, the picture gets off to a gruesome start as 12 men, who had been classmates at college, begin meeting mysterious deaths, one by one. The plot thickens after the second murder, with the third marked man hurrying to Wolfe for help.

There are surprises and thrills, plus refreshing dashes of comedy, to make this film entertaining to a high degree. It's a welcome addition to current screen fare.

Short subjects complete the bill.

Laughs Follow Laughs In Fast 'Call It a Day'

Laughs follow each other in rapid succession in "Call It a Day," delightful and amusing comedy which sarted its Atlanta run yesterday at the Paramount theater.

As for the plot, the tale tells of how love comes in the springtime to a formerly well-regulated English household. First, the love bug bites the husband, normally a good enough chap, who falls for an actress client.

Then the wife gets a proposal from Roland Young, whom she meets through her friend, Alice Brady. The daughter, Olivia de Haviland, becomes infatuated with a painter, Walter Woolf King, who is doing her portrait.

Bette Davis Leads Cast Of 'Marked Woman,' Fox

An exciting, interest-compelling film, "Marked Woman," with an all-star cast headed by Bette Davis, came to the screen of the Fox theater yesterday in the start of a week's engagement.

Besides Miss Davis, the cast includes Humphrey Bogart, Lola Lane, Isabel Jewell, Eduardo Ciannelli, Jane Bryan, Rosalind Marquis and Mayo Methot.

Ciannelli, a heavy with a capital H, plays the chief racketeer, while Bogart is seen as the prosecuting attorney. Miss Davis has a powerful and appealing role as a girl caught in the meshes of the "system," and who seeks to break it up after her younger sister is murdered.

Miss Davis turns in a capable performance, while the other roles are excellently played also. It's a gripping, fast-moving show.

Interesting short subjects are also shown.

SIMPSON SLANDER SUIT DISMISSED

Woman Defendant Submits Apology for Repeating London Gossip.

LONDON, June 11.—(AP)—Ernest Aldrich Simpson swore under voluntary oath in King's court today that he was paid neither by money nor other consideration to permit the former Wallis Warfield to divorce him without contest.

The ship's broker acted to spike gossip to that effect, accepted apology through her attorney by a British society woman who had discussed the divorce at a luncheon party, and thereupon withdrew a stander action against her.

Repeated Gossip.

Mrs. Joan Sutherland, Simpson's attorney told the court, had repeated "irresponsible gossip" to the effect that "a sum of money had been accepted by Simpson as price for his silence."

Simpson deposited his umbrella on a front bench, and marched briskly to the witness box, dressed in black lounge suit with white shirt and stiff collar and carrying his bowler hat.

He kissed the Bible and took the oath.

Wallington asked him if there was any truth in the rumor he had been paid for not obstructing the divorce of Mrs. Simpson, now Duchess of Windsor and wife of the former King Edward VIII.

"Most certainly not," Simpson stated in clear, clipped voice.

"Was there any promise of payment to you?"

"None whatever."

Apology Offered.

Sir Patrick Hastings, Mrs. Sutherland's attorney, then offered his client's apology and her regret that she was among those who had repeated the slander.

"She had not the slightest intention of injuring Simpson any more than the thousands of other women who were talking about the matter," Sir Patrick said. "She did not know Mrs. Simpson."

Red-robed Lord Chief Justice Hewart leaned forward and said:

"I gather you want this action dismissed."

Wallington affirmed, and Heward ruled "so be it," with court costs to be paid by Mrs. Sutherland, wife of Lieutenant Colonel A. H. C. Sutherland.

Libel Suit Remains.

One other court action remains in the aftermath of Edward's abdication of the British throne—a libel suit by him against publisher and author of the book Coronation Commentary, which deals with the abdication crisis and parts played by the principals.

The suit still is listed on the court docket, but it was believed here that the Duke of Windsor would not proceed with the case—having won his objective, apology by the publisher and withdrawal of the book from sale in England.

MAUSOLEUM TO HOLD JEAN HARLOW'S BODY

HOLLYWOOD, June 11.—(AP)—Jean Harlow's body will be interred in the mausoleum at Forest Lawn Memorial park, a spokesman for her family said today.

The decision was reached after the film star's mother, Mrs. Marino Bello, her father, Dr. Mont Clair Carpenter; her aunt, Miss Jettie Chadsey, and William Powell conferred yesterday. They paid a last visit to Miss Harlow's coffin last night.

BERRY'S SEAT SAFE, SENATE BODY RULES

Charges Against Tennessee Solon Held Insufficient for Investigation.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—(AP)—The senate elections committee unanimously turned down today a request for an investigation of Senator Berry, Democrat, Tennessee.

An investigation was sought by H. Carlyle Lowry, Maryville, Tenn., attorney. He charged in a petition to the senate that the Tennessean was disqualified because of "allegations concerning his moral turpitude."

Chairman George, democrat, Georgia, said the committee decided "without dissent" that Lowry's charges were "not sufficient, as made, to confer jurisdiction upon the senate for an investigation."

The committee, he said, would recommend that "no further proceedings" be held.

The committee decision was reached after a two-hour closed conference in which Lowry discussed formal charges he placed before the senate when Berry took the senate oath May 10, succeeding the late Nathan L. Bachman, democrat, Tennessee.

Berry formerly was President Roosevelt's industrial chieftain, serving as federal industrial coordinator. He is president of the International Pressmen's union and is head of labor's Non-Partisan League which supported President Roosevelt in the last campaign.

Gold Buyer Sought For Rabies Warning

Somewhere in the state of Georgia, possibly in Atlanta, an old gold buyer who Wednesday was in Louisville, Ga., is living in ignorance of the fact that a dog that bit him was infected with rabies.

Death faces this man unless he is found and reports for Pasteur treatment, Dr. L. R. Bryson, Jefferson county health officer, warned in an alarm issued last night. Dr. Bryson said the man was bitten by a small terrier as he entered the premises of a farm near Louisville. Subsequently the terrier attacked children of a neighboring farmer and examination revealed the animal had rabies.

GEORGIA FORESTRY SET-UP REFORMED

Eight Former Districts in State Consolidated Into Four.

Reorganization of the state forestry department, with consolidation of eight administrative districts into four, was announced yesterday by Director Frank Heyward.

District offices of the forestry division of the new Natural Resources Department will be at Gainesville, Macon, Albany and Baxley, Heyward said.

District headquarters at Rome, Savannah and Waycross will be closed, and the inactive office at Columbus will be discontinued.

While the changes in administrative setup were extensive, personnel changes were few and consisted chiefly of assignment shifts.

The organization, effective July 1, will be:

Southeast Georgia district—office at Baxley, with J. E. Phillips, of Douglas, and J. C. Gillis, Jr., of Soperton, assistants to a district forester not yet named.

H. D. Story, now district forester at Albany, will come to Atlanta as assistant state forester in charge of management and R. D. Franklin, now at Waycross, will be assistant state forester in charge of fire prevention.

Phillips and Gillis will be the only additions to the personnel.

SCHOOL OFFICIAL RELATES LOSSES

Kopald-Quinn Witness Details Conversation.

A salesman's declaration that "Mr. Kopald would go insane" if he thought his customers lost money, persuaded Montgomery D. Billings, Franklin, N. C., superintendent of schools, to buy more stock after losing on previous purchases, Billings said yesterday in testifying for the government in the Kopald-Quinn mail fraud trial in United States district court.

Billings said he bought 2,000 shares of National Service at nine-sixteenths when M. Lewis Ehrenberg, one of the defendants, then a salesman for Kopald-Quinn & Company, called on him in Franklin June 20, 1934.

The government yesterday won two points that have been argued before the court, one when Judge E. Marvin Underwood, presiding, denied a defense motion to impound files of customer-witnesses for examination by defendants. Judge Underwood Thursday ruled telephone conversations inadmissible unless they could be "brought home" to defendants, but yesterday admitted such conversations when the government produced letters tending to confirm the conversations.

Miss Ruth Peck Becomes Bride Of Mr. Smith at Post Chapel Rites

Miss Ruth Peck became the bride of William Anderson Smith at a beautiful ceremony last evening taking place at the chapel at Fort McPherson. Dr. J. W. Johnson, pastor of St. Mark Methodist church, officiated at 8 o'clock in the presence of relatives and friends of the young couple.

The interior of the chapel was beautifully decorated with quantities of palms and ferns and tall wicker baskets held regal lilies. Cathedral candelabra held burning tapers and were placed on either side of the altar. Prior to and during the ceremony a program of nuptial music was rendered by Mrs. Bernard Threatte, organist and choral numbers by a group of young boys from the Samuel M. Inman school.

Miss Rosemary Peck was maid of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids were Miss Elma Smith, sister of the groom, and Mrs. Rodney Peck. They were all gowned alike in becoming models of white marquisette fashioned along princess lines and featuring short, puffed sleeves. Miss Corrie Hoyt was the junior bridesmaid, and wore a gown similar to those of the other attendants. They all carried old-fashioned bouquets of pastel-shaded garden flowers.

The bride entered with her brother, Rodney Peck, by whom she was given in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Claud Greene Smith, who was best man. The ushers were Adna North and P. D. Christian Jr. The bride's brunet beauty was further enhanced by her wedding gown of white marquisette made along princess lines. The long skirt widened to form a graceful train. A long tulle veil was caught to the bride's dark hair by clusters of orange blossoms. The veil was loaned her by Mrs. Claude Greene Smith, the former Frances Knott. The bride carried a shower bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Robert H. Peck, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in a model of black lace. Her flowers were lilies of the valley. Mrs. William Barnes Smith, mother of the groom, wore blue chiffon, and her flowers were gardenias. Mr. Smith and his bride will reside on West Peachtree and will be popular additions to the younger married set of society.

Mrs. William B. Smith, mother of the groom, was hostess at a reception Thursday for her son and his fiancee. The affair was held at the home of the host's daughter, Mrs. Anthony Council, on Bellwood drive, and assembled members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests and followed the wedding rehearsal.

W. S. Neblett Photo.

MRS. HARDIN CRAIG JR.

Miss Raemond Bingham Wilson became the bride of Hardin Craig Jr., of Stanford University, Cal., at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson G. Wilson, at 8 o'clock last evening on Clairmont avenue, in Decatur. Dr. D. P. McGeachy, pastor of the Decatur Presbyterian church, officiated.

Mrs. Frances Collins Hutcheson, violinist, Mary Griffith Dobbs, harpist, and Mrs. S. G. Stukes, contralto, presented a program of music.

The ceremony was performed in front of the mantel in the living room, where an altar was arranged of palms and foliage plants with seven-branched candelabra holding burning ivory tapers. On the mantel were five-branched candelabra and a central arrangement of white snapdragons, sweet peas and gardenias.

Miss Virginia Prettyman, of Summerville, S. C., was maid of honor, and the bride's cousin, Miss Darthula Hendrick, of Birmingham, served as bridesmaid. Their gowns, fashioned alike, were made of peach mousseline de soie over taffeta. They carried old-fashioned nosegays of pink roses, yellow and pink snapdragons, delphinium, and lavender sweet peas.

The bride met her father, by whom she was given in marriage, at the foot of the stairs. They were joined at the altar by the groom and his best man, Grosvenor Cooper, of Stanford University. The bride's blond beauty was enhanced by her wedding gown of ivory lace posed over satin. The bodice featured a v-neckline and a short bolero jacket with shirred, full sleeves at the top and snugly fitted below the elbow.

The skirt flared at the bottom and formed a brief train in the back. Her finger-tip veil was of ivory tulle arranged with a coronet of orange blossoms. She wore a pearl and diamond pin, used for many years in the family, and her handkerchief was the one carried by her mother at her wedding. The bride's bouquet was formed of Joanna Hill roses and valley lilies.

Mrs. Craig, the groom's mother, was gowned in aquamarine chiffon and her flowers were gardenias.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Wilson entertained at an informal reception. Receiving with them were Dr. and Mrs. Hardin Craig, parents of the groom, and the bridal party. The bride's table was overlaid with a lace cloth held as a central decoration a wedding ring formed of gardenias, white sweet peas and pink snapdragons. In the ring at intervals were ivory lighted tapers.

On the buffet was a three-tiered wedding cake, embossed in valley lilies and candelabra held ivory tapers on either side.

Miss Carrie Scandrett kept the bride's book. Assisting were Mesdames D. P. McGeachy, C. P. Roberts, Allan Ripley, E. R. Rivers, A. D. Bush and C. B. Loomis. Serving were Mesdames S. B. Jewett, Fred Shelton, H. A. Carter, Misses Emily Campbell and Elizabeth Warden. Misses Dorothy Smith and Mary Cope presided atthe punch bowl.

After the reception Mr. and Mrs. Craig left for a wedding journey, after which they will spend the summer at the home of the groom's parents in Stanford University, Cal., and in the early fall they will reside in Pasadena, where Mr. Craig has recently accepted a position as instructor in history at the California Institute of Technology.

For traveling Mrs. Craig chose a black sheer model with eton jacket.

Out-of-town guests included Dr. and Mrs. Hardin Craig, of California; Grosvenor Cooper, of California; Miss Virginia Prettyman, and Mrs. Frank Prettyman, of Summerville, S. C.; Misses Dorothy Smith and Mary Cope, of Savannah; Mr. and Mrs. Julius Hendrick, Miss Darthula Hendrick, of Birmingham; Ellison Bingham, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Your Figure, Madam

By IDA JEAN KAIN.

REDUCE ACCORDING TO YOUR TYPE.

Slimming programs vary with types of overweight. The short, stocky girl, the "spot" reducer and the Junoesque type must all individualize their figure programs.

You come by your weight honestly if you are stockily built. You didn't inherit avoirdupois, but you did inherit structure, which has everything to do with your weight tendencies. Structure, you see, determines surface area and, consequently, calorie requirement.

Besides having less surface in proportion to weight, the short person also has less active tissue and burns fewer calories than the tall person. Active tissue—not fat—burns calories. Your low fuel requirement is the reason you put on weight. When you also have a keen appreciation of food and a distaste for exercise, life is a continual struggle with avoirdupois.

Stocky people are never able to eat recklessly without passing the pleasingly plump mark on the scales. For you, the most satisfactory plan is to cultivate a taste for the low calorie foods. Diet is of utmost importance. In spite of weight tendencies you cannot be overweight unless your calorie intake surpasses your requirement.

Exercise takes secondary place in the stocky girl's program. You don't want to increase your appetite. With your basic caloric needs so low, you cannot possibly keep slim on exercise alone. However, some physical activity is necessary for the development of firm muscle tissue. Well-toned muscles are less susceptible to fatty deposit.

Reduce according to your type.

The disproportionate overweight's figure program is entirely different from that of the stocky girl, for diet can change the weight without necessarily improving the figure. The disproportionate overweight may or may not need to diet. That depends upon whether the total weight is above normal. If you are overweight with a disproportionate figure, you must diet, of course—but you must also exercise. If you are normal weight, but your weight is badly distributed, concentrate on exercise, for it is the medium of exchange from bulges to curves.

Least of all can the Junoesque girl, with her larger than average frame and overweight, pin her faith to just any reducing program. This type would suffer on the thousand calorie diet, however well balanced, which constitutes a healthy diet for the stocky girl. With a large frame you have normally high fuel requirements, and, to be safe, your daily reducing diet must contain from 1,300 to 1,500 calories to cover your basic energy needs.

It is impossible to omit exercise from any figure program, and the large girl usually needs specific exercises for arms, shoulders and waistline.

Barbara Bell Cape Frock

PATTERN 1344.

Fresh and dainty for the warmest July day is this attractive crinkle swiss organdy daytime frock worn by Barbara Hebbard. The modish, separate cape is finger-tip length cut on tailored lines and equally suitable for town or country wear. The cape swings from a band with long tie ends and may be worn as an overskirt if you prefer, tied at the front and sweeping back in action, in redingote effect. A wide band of plain swiss organdy at lower edge of cape is appliqued in geometric design with print material of frock. The dress collar ties, so that the bow of the dress and that of the cape, make a double bow at throat. Short sleeves, a fitted waist and flared skirt are important features of the frock. Tailored belt is of soft, blue kid.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1344 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40. Size 16 (34) requires 4 7-8 yards of 42-inch material and 7-8 yards to contrast for band on cape.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1344 can be purchased for 15 cents. Please remit in coins, giving your name, address, pattern number and size. Mail your order to Barbara Bell Pattern, care The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga.

Pleasant Homes

By ELIZABETH McRAE BOYKIN.

ALL OF A SUMMER'S DAY.

To make the summer seem very nautical anyway.

"If we can't go to the shore for our vacation, the shore will just have to come to us of a summer's day," announced Emmy decisively.

"And I'm going to begin with the table settings . . . mine will look as cool as a sea breeze and the menus will feature green salads and ice tea, for we'll eat outdoors all we can."

Pleasant and Simple.

We made notes on her plan because it seemed so pleasant and so simple to work out. She went to the curtain department and bought yards and yards of fishnet, the widest she could find. Then dyed each "cloth" a different color. A bright sea green, a royal blue, a lovely dubonnet, and weighted the edges of the cloths with "floaters" (the sort that father used on the end of his fishing line when he was a boy). These come in many colors and white and it was effective to have the floaters in contrasting color to the cloths—bright red with the blue, blue with the sea green and white with the dubonnet.

To Go Under the Fishnet.

Next she covered her table with a white composition oil cloth table cloth which she bought in the house furnishings department. Then placed her fishnet covers over the white cloth and she had as pretty and cool a background for her summer dishes as her heart could desire.

Of course the main advantage of this type of covering is that the fishnet cloths in solid colors don't show the dirt and the under cloth or white can be washed off with a cloth after each meal. The family will like the variety and the lady with a house will like the appealing background that these cloths gives to her dishes and silverware. And the ease with which these covers are kept in order, too.

Maybe that doesn't bring the actual sound of the surf right to the door but it makes a summer supper menu seem very nautical anyway. Especially if you turn the children loose with the garden hose.

Send a stamped, salf-addressed envelope to Miss Boykin in care of The Atlanta Constitution for the bulletin "Things to Make for the Home." This includes patterns for attractive pickup work for summer days.

The Jewish Young Married Couples' Club met at the Jewish Educational Alliance on Wednesday at which time announcement was made of a swimming party and wiener roast to be held on Tuesday evening at Pine Lake. Plans were also made for other social activities in the near future.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

School is out! Hundreds of sweet girl graduates from high school are turning their thoughts toward the business offices where they are going to find jobs. The president of the Executive Service Corporation speaking to New York's Business Education Association gives them a tip: "We would like a little more culture and refinement to come to us. Business women should get some of the paint off their faces, smoke fewer cigarets, and cut out some of the liquor; at least during office hours."

See, girls, the men like 'em soft voiced, mild-mannered, temperate and self-contained. The culture that counts with employers isn't a matter of familiarity with the classics but a matter of unfamiliarty with what is coarse and second class. A culture that expresses itself in personal neatness, orderliness, dignity, courtesy, kindliness, pleasant speech and correct spelling can readily sell itself to the boss of any business.

For some strange reason many young people stand in awe of the word culture. They associate it exclusively with the fortunate who are to the manor born and with those who have been to college, made acquaintances with Livy's Latin, Freud's phychology and Einstein's physics. But culture is a broader thing than this. It is a thing of the heart as well as of the mind and anybody that's alive from the heart up can acquire it, even the underprivileged.

A high school graduate may read a daily paper and get a fair idea of what it's all about. English professors describe best usage in language; clergymen tell how it pays to live right, do good and be happy. Doctors and athletes give health hints and diagram exercises to build the body; socialites discourse on manners and customs of high society. Stylists expatiate on the vogues in clothes and accessories, while economists inform those of slender purse how to stay in style and out of debt. Beauticians write of the use and abuse of cosmetics. Feature writers spread themselves on science, art, literature and human relationships. Philosophers, male and female, interpret life, love and religion.

This is all culture of a practical sort which may be had for the reading. Suppose it is canned. It has kept its flavor, retained its juices and is nourishing food for those who cannot buy it fresh; for culture, like caviar, is good fresh or canned.

Apart from her hope of profit in the pay envelope it's smart for a girl to improve herself, to reach up for something better than she has. Only 10 per cent of business women remain permanently in business. The vast majority of those who retire are stepping out to be chairwomen of the best boards on earth—the home boards. The type of men they marry, the atmosphere of the homes they create, the positions their families occupy in the community, the associates their children have, will all be directly traceable to the quality of culture they have acquired in the business years.

Getting down to brass tacks: Culture is just another ford for gentility and refinement another word for feminity. They are at a premium in the business world today. The girls who rely on cosmetics, flashy clothes, sophistication and sex appeal to put them over, deserve to lose out to those who have distinguished between true gentility and hard-boiled sophistication; between feminity and sex-appeal.

King—Vickers.

FAIRBURN, Ga., June 11.—Miss Mattie Kate King and John Longino Vickers were married at the home of the bride on the Roosevelt highway on Sunday. The ceremony was performed by Dr. M. D. Collins, state superintendent of schools. Miss Bettie King and Miss Frances Vickers were bridesmaids.

Mrs. Vickers, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. King, formerly of Newnan, is a graduate of the Fairburn High school.

Mr. Vickers is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Vickers, and is a cousin of George H. Longino, member of the Board of County Commissioners of Fulton county. He is a graduate of Fairburn High school and holds aresponsible position with the Johnson Hardware Company.

HEALTH TALKS

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY.

Teeth, Youth and Beauty.

From statistics recorded through many years by the United States Census Bureau and by the great life insurance companies it has been evident that notwithstanding the decrease in the infectious diseases, such as tuberculosis, typhoid fever, diphtheria and other preventable diseases which formerly took heavy toll, there has been no apparent decrease, perhaps an actual increase in prevalence of certain degenerative diseases in the past few decades. The degenerative diseases which seem to be on the increase are arteriosclerosis, myocarditis (slow failure of heart muscle), chronic nephritis (Bright's disease), angina pectoris, coronary thrombosis, apoplexy—these are the various manifestations of cardiovascular degeneration—diabetes, obesity, chronic nutritional or metabolic or atrophic arthritis, and cancer.

Cancer is included in the list of degenerative diseases, not because we know cancer is of that nature, but only because cancer seems to be on the increase or at any rate it is not apparently decreasing in frequency, and as yet no cause has been determined.

Dr. Weston A. Price, whose studies in the field of oral pathology and dental hygiene are well known to all dentors expressed the opinion, in a recent address before the American Association of Physical Anthropologists, that the primitive races lose their natural immunity to tooth decay and to associated degeneration as they adopt modern foods, including white flour.

As races or people change from natural foods to refined foods, Dr. Price has observed, they undergo physical degeneration, that is, deterioration or a retrogression pathological change in cells and tissues in consequence of which the functions of cells and tissues or organs are impaired or lost and the living substance is converted into an inert mass. This degeneration is evidenced in the development of facial deformities, crooked teeth, abnormally narrow nostrils, with inadequate nasal openings for breathing purposes, tooth decay, tonsil and adenoid hypertrophy or enlargement and the obstruction of the nose that commonly goes with adenoid outgrowth. Dr. Price's study has led him to conclude that diet along the lines of the diet of primitive races not only prevents tooth decay but checks it when it has already developed.

This doesn't mean that one must revert to the habits of the savage or the beast of prey. But it does imply that optimal nutrition is favored by the eating of a reasonable amount of raw food daily and that gnawing on hard coarse raw foods or bones for that matter contributes toward development of strong, sound teeth, beauty of face, functional efficiency of breathing passages.

Degeneration in any tissue or structure means premature aging. The condition of the teeth is the best measure of youth and beauty. No periodic physical examination or health inventory is adequate unless it includes thorough inspection by the family doctor and any prophylactic treatment he finds necessary.

Fidelis Queen.

The coronation of the queen of the Fidelis Class of the Gordon Street Baptist church took place recently at the home of Mrs. J. W. Hill, president of the class. Mrs. W. L. Vansant was crowned queen. She won her crown by placing first in a contest held to increase the efficiency and membership of the class. Mrs. J. G. Wheeler, who placed second in the drive, ascended the throne as king. As further reward, each received a jewel box.

The ceremonies took place on the lawn which was beautifully lighted with Japanese lanterns. Misses Ethlyn Hill, Marie Lewis and Irene Vansant presided at the punch bowls. Others whose work in the contest was worthy of mention are Mesdames A. B. Styles, W. F. Kingston, T. Ralph Grimes and J. R. Calloway.

Johnson—Moore.

CRAWFORDVILLE, Ga., June 11.—Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Christine Johnson and Jamie Moore, of Sharon, which took place June 5, at the Methodist parsonage at Washington, Ga., the Rev. J. Foster Young officiating.

PATTERN 5740

One glance at this regal peacock (beautifier of chair set, scarf or pillow) and you'll be planning colors of floss to use for his embroidery. All who see him will be thrilled with a design that's both easy to do and professional-looking when done. With rope silk or cotton work the 10-to-the-inch crosses in his natural colorings, or in two shades of a color, if you'd have a more subdued effect. In Pattern 5740 you will find a transfer pattern of a large motif 13x16 inches, and two smaller ones 4 1-2x6 inches; material requirements color chart and key; illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Thursday.—After my broadcast last night we went over and had dinner in one of the restaurants off the Plaza in Rockefeller Center. It was nice and cool and we were all very warm, so we had a light dinner and then proceeded to the theater.

The theater was air-conditioned, so we laughed in comfort through "Brother Rat." It is very well cast. The boys really looked like boys and acted their parts so naturally we almost forgot we were not living through scenes in real life.

It has been a wonder to me that boys ever graduate from any place, but when it comes to a military academy, that is just beyond belief. I imagine nearly all masters of schools must firmly shut their eyes to a great many things which they know go on around them, remembering the days of their own youth and the fact that youth must be foolhardy and recklessness is simply a sign of the undergraduate age.

We arrived in Washington this morning to find a breeze blowing even though the atmosphere is heavy. My husband seemed very well when I went in to see him. I had gone for a swim and therefore was very late for breakfast and so expected to spend only a minute saying "Good morning." However, he launched into the explanation of a point which I brought up and I stayed there for 15 minutes. Eventually, I dashed down to the porch and my breakfast tray, where my brother shortly joined me.

The rest of the morning I worked at my desk, except for a brief interval when I dashed over to try to get in between callers to ask my husband a forgotten question. Governor Winship, of Puerto Rico, and Dr. Ernest Gruening were in his office and so I sat in Mr. McIntyre's office and talked to a few governors who were also waiting to see the President.

I made my visit brief and dashed back to the White House, for my desk looked exactly as if someone had dumped the contents of one of those large postoffice vans on top of it. I have always had a passion for getting it all straightened out and piling up the letters in little piles so I can work through them systematically: No. 1 group—to be attended to immediate; No. 2 group—bills to be paid; No. 3 group—letters to be dictated a little later on; No. 4 group—letters to be written in longhand, and, sad to say, this is the group that waits longest for attention. I carry those letters around in my brief case for weeks!

At 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss Lehand is to receive a degree and we are all attending. Later on a few people come in for tea, and at 7 o'clock Mrs. Scheider and I will take the train again, going to Wallace, N. C., for their strawberry festival and a visit to the Penderlea Homesteads, which I will tell you about tomorrow.

Hollywood Today

By HAROLD HEFFERMAN

STARS GET UP AT DAWN TO APPLY OWN MAKE-UP

HOLLYWOOD, June 11.—Under ordinary circumstances, the average working star in Hollywood rises at 7 a.m., and finds time to breakfast leisurely and scan the newspapers before checking in at the studio at 8:30. But the recent strike of technicians, which overnight converted all actors, stars included, into their own make-up operators, played strange pranks on routine habits—and dispositions.

Think of stepping out to the Trocadero, the Club Lamaze or one of many other Hollywood night spots to dine, dance and gamble until midnight or later, and then hearing the alarm clock sounding off smack in your ear at 5!

That's the toll some of these bewildered $100,000-a-year stars were paying morning after morning just to produce on schedule the celluloid dramas that you digest for as little as 25 cents a trip—and with an added feature thrown in.

While an expert make-up worker can apply the putty and paint in 45 minutes, an unskilled actor must fuss and fume a couple of hours before eagle-eyed directors will allow cameras to record the transformation.

Most of them were reporting to make-up headquarters without breakfast, and the disposition of a movie star minus breakfast is no more angelic than that of the worker in factory, store or office who is forced into the day's grind without benefit of coffee.

Long and weary faces stared back at the stars from long mirrors as they sat at the little tables, dipping unsteady fingers into strange cups of colored grease. There was none of the gay banter that usually attends these trips to the make-up counters—only silence, broken by sighs and muttered profanities as an eyebrow pencil broke or an inspecting supervisor paused long enough to say, "That's all wrong; wash up and start over."

Over at R. K. O., the situation wasn't quite so tense perhaps as at other studios, and that was in a large measure attributed to Mel Berns, who combined his duties of make-up chief with those of chef to the early-rising stars.

Mr. Berns felt so sorry for his breakfastless charges that he went out the first morning of the strike and purchased coffee, a percolator and a case of oranges. That broke the tension. After coffee and juice, Berns reports, the actors shook themselves free of daybreak gloom. The old carefree atmosphere of the shop returned. Soon there was small-talk and banter.

Only Fred Astaire, it seems, fails to catch the talkative spirit. Fred reports dutifully each morning at the specified hour, according to Berns, but no one would ever know he was around. He seldom says more than "Good morning" and then crawls into a shell of silence.

Berns has been making up actors since 1925.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Carol Clayton postpones her marriage to wealthy Hartley Madison and starts to play the horses so that she can pay Duke Bradley her dead father's debt of $76,000. Carol resents the handsome bookmaker because he had accused her of marrying for money. Her luck is phenomenal. Then Duke, warning her of a nervous breakdown, gets Hartley to join her in Florida. He is gleeful when Hartley places his first bet with him, for Carol has determinedly thwarted all his moves in this direction. Carol persuades Hartley to go to California on business, in order to get him out of Duke's clutches. Duke follows him out and has won $10,000 from him when Carold suddenly appears. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

INSTALLMENT XX.

Duke was able to breathe again.

"Will it take long?" he asked her.

"I hope not, but one can never be sure, of course," she answered pleasantly.

"I know, dear," said Madison, "you must do as you think best but it could wait, couldn't it?"

"Now you are making it hard for me," she said gently.

"You are the one to decide," said Madison, "on that and everything else."

"Spoken like a gentleman, a sage and a lover!" said Duke. "Who are the rest of us to tell you what to do? That privilege belongs to just one person in the world." He turned and smiled at Carol.

"Then," said Mrs. Pruett, "of course you're staying, Mr. Madison,"

"I hate to ask you to stay, Hartley," she said, "if you really should go. I can't make up my mind."

"That's understandable," said Duke. "It is a big problem, so come everybody—it's up to us to help her decide. She is between love and duty—but—"

He reached for the hand lying beside him on the table and raised it high in the air and began singing:

"She's a jolly good fellow."

They all joined in, all but Madison. He was watching Carol intently. Why did she hesitate? Why didn't she beg him to stay? He was worried, a little suspicious and more than a little hurt.

"For she's a jolly good fellow—

"For she's a jolly good fellow—

"Which nobody can deny!"

They sang it once and then again and then once again. Carol drew her hand free of Duke's and motioned for them to stay.

"Thank you all," she said sweetly. "That old verse has made me feel it is wise sometimes to forget the prudent thing and do what one wants. Of course, Hartley, you must stay."

"You have spoken," said Madison, "and now if all of you will excuse me for a moment, I'll put through some phone calls."

As he rose from the table, Carol rose too.

"I wonder if you'll all be good enough to excuse me, too? I will be seeing you tomorrow, I hope; but just now, I am a little tired and before I go to bed," she gave Madison one of her sweetest smiles, "perhaps we can walk in the garden a few minutes."

"That's such a good idea," he said, "that if you don't mind, all of you, I think I'll make this au revoir. Stay on and enjoy yourself as long as the place keeps open, but I'd like a little time alone with Carol. And I, too, will be seeing you tomorrow."

They did not speak until they were out of the room. Then Carol said:

"It's too late to phone the ambassador now, Hartley—even if he doesn't go to bed early and someway I imagine ambassadors always do, it's three hours later in Washington than it is here."

"Right as always," said Madison.

"Oh, this is good," she said, softly, slipping her hand in his. "Your friends are all right—but I didn't come way out here to see anybody but you. Other people get in the way. I couldn't talk before them. But now, dear, I can talk—just to you. And I think you shouldn't stay. Wait a minute," she said, as she saw a look of disappointment in his face, "it isn't just that I don't think you should neglect your work. I'll neglect mine if you are here—I told you I couldn't keep my mind on my handicapping when you are around. But most of all, dear, I want to feel that I'm a good influence in your life. Part of that may be selfish. But I want your family to go on liking me and I'm afraid they won't, if they think I dragged you back to the race tracks. Do I make myself quite plain?"

"Absolutely," he said. "It is hard to be separated, but it won't be for long. I see you couldn't talk freely before other people. I'm glad you are being so frank with me now. I'll take the plane tomorrow."

"And you'll stay out here with me a while before you go back and tell them?" she asked anxiously.

"I'm not going back. What do any of them care really? The little time I have I want to be with you."

How far from frank she had been! She was thinking that the only truth in what she had said was that she did not want him to bet on races. But the reason she cared so deeply about that was that she was afraid before Duke's "law of averages" began to work well, Duke would be bankrupt. There was something even more important. With Hartley out of the way, she and Duke could be together more.

"Tweet-twe-et—twe-e-t," chirped a sparrow on the window sill of Duke's room the next morning.

He opened his eyes and glared at the bird. He could hear a clock striking five. He wanted more sleep. But the sparrow had other ideas.

"Same to you," said Duke. "And perhaps you're right in making yourself an alarm clock. This is the biggest day in my life—so far—I shouldn't lose one moment of it."

He jumped out of bed. Then he noticed the other bed had not been slept in.

"Doubly right," said Duke to the sparrow. "Tip'll be coming in soon and he'd wake me up, anyway. Your method is pleasanter."

He lit a cigar and switched on the radio. He was so happy in the knowledge that Madison was staying, that he wanted music to accompany his thoughts. But all he heard was:

"To the left now, bend. And to the right—bend."

The door behind him opened. Tip was coming in.

"Next time we have to share a room, we don't," said Duke. "Even if this place is full up, you could—"

"Cut the growling," said Tip. "You've got real troubles and you—"

"Mistaken, Tip. I haven't a trouble in the world. And today the law of averages is going to work overtime for me—something tells me so."

"You always were screwey," grumbled Tip, "but how you figure out you are lucky with Madison leaving, I don't see."

"What gave you that idea? I told you last night—"

"Yes, you told me. But if he's staying, why is his luggage stacked on the sidewalk?"

"You don't look drunk," said Duke, "but, Tip my—"

"I tell you I saw his bags. Say did he pay you that ten grand he lost yesterday? Because—"

Duke reached the phone in one leap.

"You say Mr. Madison is not in his room? That he—very well then, will you please give me Miss Clayton's room—Miss Carol Clayton."

He banked down the receiver and turned to Tip.

"Strict orders not to be disturbed until her breakfast tray is taken to her at 11 o'clock. And they added they never give out numbers of rooms. So it's me to pound on every door in—"

"She's in 218—a few doors down," said Tip. "I saw her when she came in last night. But what if she is? Where—"

Duke did not answer. He stopped only to put his feet into bedroom slippers before running from the room. He rapped on the door of 218. When there was no answer, he rapped louder.

He heard her come to the door, unlock it, open it. She had taken time only to put on her slippers, and to throw a negligee over her shoulders.

"Duke!" she gasped. "I thought it was my breakfast."

"Let me in!" he demanded.

"You can't come in."

"Says who?" he answered, pushing the door open and coming in.

"You couldn't come in at any hours—but," her eyes seeking her little traveling clock—"at five in the morning! In pajamas!"

"I'm here and here I stay. Now then, get that airport on the phone."

"Get out of my room."

"All right! If you won't do it, I will."

"Why do you want the airport?" she asked, but she was wondering how at this hour. Duke had discovered Madison was leaving.

"You're going to get Madison and ask him to come back. That's why. I'll get—"

"Wait!" she said. "You can't phone from my room. Do you want to get me into a scandal?"

He held the receiver out to her. She was doing some quick thinking.

"They don't take off for almost an hour. He won't be there yet."

He realized she was right and placed the receiver on the hook. He, too, was doing some quick thinking. He took the receiver off the hook again. Carol made a rush for it but he pushed her roughly away.

"You can't talk from—" Carol protected. But he was already talking.

She would have laughed if she had not ben angry and she frightened. For Duke was talking to the operator in a falsetto voice which he may have thought sounded like Carol's, but which was humorous rather than realistic.

"In the coffee shop, you say? Please have him called to the phone. Tell him it is Miss Clayton."

"Cut it out," cried Carol, beating at him with her hands. He covered the mouthpiece with one hand and held her off easily with the other. He had a smile of triumph on his face.

"I won't talk to him. I won't," she said.

"Oh yes, you will."

"We said good-bye last night."

"That was your error. Don't worry about what you are to say. I'll tell you and you'll say it, word for word."

UNCLE RAY'S Corner

A LITTLE SATURDAY TALK.

A letter from Mr. William G. Maurer, of Allandale, Fla., reached me last month.

"The story of Stanley in Africa," he wrote, "is very interesting to Dr. Fred Puleston, of Daytona Beach, who is, I believe, the last living member of the Stanley expedition. He is the author of 'African Drums,' and delivers many lectures on Africa and Stanley. Dr. Puleston is a well-known physician and has a large practice in Daytona Beach."

It was pleasing to receive this news-note about someone who was with Stanley during his daring travels through Africa. Largely because of the work of Stanley, and those who went with him, Africa is no longer the "Dark Continent" it used to be called.

Amos Missimore, a school pupil, asks me this question:

"Was the big crater in Arizona caused by a comet?"

Meteor Crater near Winslow, Ariz., is a great hole, about four-fifths of a mile wide and 600 feet deep. There is little doubt that it was caused by some object, or group of objects, from outer space. Several tons of stone and iron, of the nature of meteors, have been picked up from the area.

The hole may have been made by a swarm of meteors, or by the "head" of a small comet. It is believed that the heavier parts of comets contain material like that in meteors. Some comets have vanished from the sky, and in later years we have had meteor showers instead of visits by the comets. Meteors in these showers appear to be bits of broken comets. It also may be that the hole in Arizona was made when a single meteor of giant size exploded just after striking the surface of the earth.

A letter signed "D. A. S." asks: "Where and when did the first newspaper begin?"

The first newspaper on record seems to have been published in ancient Rome, something like 2,000 years ago. It was called the "Acta Diurna," meaning "Daily Events." It was hand-written, not printed, but was posted in public places for all to read.

Peiping, China, has laid claim oldest existing newspaper. The "Tsing-pao" (or "News") is said to date back 1,400 years.

London, Paris and Frankfort, Germany, have claims to being the first cities in Europe where newspapers were published by means of the printing press. All these cities had printed newspapers three centuries ago.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—Further fears of growing strikes were held principally responsible today for a sizeable relapse in stock market quotations.

Labor unsettlement in steel and other industries, with few signs of peace in the offing, brought quiet selling from the start. There were a few support periods, but most were brief. In spite of a little improvement near the finish, leading issues closed down fractions to 3 or more points.

With sporadic walkouts threatening profits in the automobile field, relatively heavy offerings of General Motors spread a depressing cloud over boardrooms. This issue hit a new low for the year, ending with a net decline of 1 1-8 points at 51 5-8. Chrysler dropped 2 3-8 at 107 5-8.

Steels, rails, farm implements and numerous specialties developed sympathetic weakness and, as a result, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 1 point at 66. At this level it was only 1-2 point above the bottom mark for 1937.

Activity, while still far from pleasing to brokers, picked up a bit on the decline and transfers totaled 721,921 shares compared with 567,750 yesterday.

Although second-quarter earnings for United States Steel were estimated by some at around $3 a share, with the full year at between $10 and $11, this issue yielded 1 3-8 at 98. Down also were Bethlehem at 83 3-4, Republic 34 5-8, National Steel 77 1-2, Youngstown Sheet & Tube 81 1-2, Inland Steel 100 and American Steel Foundries 54 1-2.

Carriers did better than most at the beginning but they slipped easily when the official report on last week's freight loadings revealed a much more than seasonal recession. Again labor interruptions were blamed for the drop. Prominent on the offside in this department were Southern Pacific at 48 5-8, Great Northern 52 1-8, New York Central 41 3-4 and Santa Fe 82 1-4.

Brokers' Views

STOCK OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—While the immediate outlook is not very encouraging, many stocks are in a favorable buying zone and the longer term opportunities should not be overlooked.

THOMSON & McKINNON—Until the news changed for the better, the likelihood is that buyers will continue unwillingly to extend themselves very far.

COTTON OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—A clear week-end forecast would probably cause some selling Saturday.

THOMSON & McKINNON—We see little danger in buying cotton around present price for trading profits.

FENNER & BEANE—Sentiment is fixed and sustained advance doubtful until there is a radical change in the crop outlook.

E. A. PIERCE & CO.—We look for further irregular price movements over the near term which should provide opportunity for quick trading profits.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.—Until there is a change in conditions, trading markets around the 12-cent level are likely.

GRAIN OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—We look for a big movement soon, accompanied by heavy hedge sales, at which time it might be difficult to maintain values.

THOMSON & McKINNON—We favor the buying side of wheat on dips, but with the market dominated by weather conditions, we feel bulges should be used to accept profits.

FENNER & BEANE—Much will depend on how heavy and general the rains in spring wheat country are.

COTTONSEED OIL OPINIONS.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.—The market is mainly governed by the progress of the cotton crop and a trading market is looked for until such time as more is known about the crop.

AVERAGE PRICE.

NEW ORLEANS, June 11.—The average price of middling cotton today at 10 southern spot markets was 12.39 cents a pound. The average price for the past 30 days was 12.81 cents a pound.

NEW ORLEANS, June 11.—(AP)—Cotton developed good resistance power today despite a renewal of liquidation and other selling and final prices were steady at net advances of 2 to 4 points.

Favorable Liverpool cables were responsible for an opening advance of 4 to 6 points, but the initial gain met renewed liquidation and some short selling which soon pushed the price level down over 50 cents a bale below the previous close.

In late trading a quoted statement was received from Washington saying Secretary of Agriculture Wallace had denied that he had said cotton should be 10 cents a pound and commodity prices were too high.

The original report on 10-cent cotton emanated from Liverpool and affected prices there. Failure of confirmation on this side resulted in little change in price structure.

Today's reported denial induced some short covering and a little buying by the trade and some of the early loss was recovered in late trading.

July contracts closed at 11.99 after trading as high as 12.03. October finished at 12.14, December at 12.19, January at 12.22, March at 12.25 and May at 12.29. Spots were unchanged with middling at 12.37.

Port receipts 12,667, for week 30,785; for season, 6,714,769. Exports 33,229, for week 73,510, for season 5,452,539. Port stocks, 1,282,624. Stocks on shipboard at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston 25,342, last year 58,977. Spot sales at southern markets 1,473, last year 4,950.

NEW YORK COTTON 8 POINTS HIGHER

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—Although an early advance in cotton today was followed by a mid-morning reaction on more favorable weather, support developed at the decline and prices later recovered.

October, which sold off from 12.18 to 12.01, closed at 12.16, with final prices 2 to 8 points net higher.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—Prices slipped a few cogs in the domestic corporate list today as other sections of the bond market rocked unevenly in narrow troughs.

Some improvement was seen in the utility group and United States government loans closed mostly higher following a late stimulation in inquiry.

The line of cleavage was less between groups and more between grades of obligations. Loans of investment caliber showed resistance whenever offerings appeared, while issues of the more speculative variety failed to rally support.

Rails suffered the heaviest pressure with numerous of the low and medium priced group selling off major fractions to a point or so. St. Paul 5s of 1975 gave up 3-4 to 28 1-2, Rock Island 4s declined 3-4 to 34, Northwestern 3 1-2s "C" lost 1 7-8 to 23 1-8 and Lehigh Valley 4 1-2s fell 1 7-8 to 62 1-2. Missouri Pacific 5s "F" lowered 1 3-8 to 38. New Haven loans also backtracked, the 6s losing 2 1-2 to 64 1-2 and the other active issues sacrificing fractions.

The federal list shuffled about most of the period. Prices were a trifle lower until shortly before the close when the majority lifted to slightly better levels. Gains ranged to 1-8 of a point. A few were lower, the widest setback being 7-32 of a point.

Foreign loans dipped but trading was unusually light in that quarter and numerous issues failed to open.

Turnover totaled $7,367,000, face amount, for all bonds against $7,234,000 Thursday.

DIVIDEND IS DECLARED BY LOAN ASSOCIATION

The Southern Federal Savings & Loan Association of Atlanta yesterday declared the regular dividend at the rate of 4 per cent per annum, or 2 per cent for six months, it was announced by John L. Conner, president. The dividend is payable July 1.

The association was established a year ago with resources over $600,000.

CURB PRICES LOWER UNDER ACTIVE TRADE

Metal, Specialty Shares in Demand Show Some Wide Downswings.

NEW YORK, June 11.—(AP)—The curb market followed the big board today and prices worked lower in fairly active trading.

Metal and specialty shares were in supply and some fairly wide swings downward resulted. Aluminum of America lost a point at 140 1-2, Newmont Mining was off as much at 100 1-2, Blumenthal dropped 3 at 17, and Curtis Manufacturing, at 11 1-4, was down 2.

Others to lose fractions to around a point included American Cyanamid "B," 32 7-8; Electric Bond & Share, 14 1-2; Eagle Picher, 19 1-4; Humble Oil, 77; United Light & Power Preferred, 39 1-4; McWilliams Dredging, 23 1-4, and Atlantic & Pacific, 85.

There was some scattered resistance to the trend with a consequent fractional improvement. In this class were Montgomery Ward "A," 138; Creole Petroleum, 34, and Aluminum of America Preferred, 118.

Transactions totaled 209,000 shares against 175,000 yesterday.

CHICAGO, June 11. — (AP) — Largely on account of prospective moisture relief for drouth districts in Canada, where crop conditions are critical, wheat prices turned decidedly downward late today.

Reactions from the day's top level of wheat values amounted to about 3 cents a bushel, and were accelerated by estimates that export business in Canadian wheat totaled only 250,000 bushels. Another late bearish influence was an authoritative statement that even if rainy weather continues in Kansas, the winter wheat crop there is so far advanced no concern need be felt over black rust.

Word of supposed new discoveries of black rust in spring wheat near Fargo, N. D., and Detroit Lakes, Minn., turned out to be baseless.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 1 1-8 to 1 5-8 cents under yesterday's finish, July $1.08 5-8 to $1.08 3-4, September $1.08 3-8 to $1.08 1-2, December $1.10 1-4 to $1.10 3-8; corn 3-4c off to 3-8c up, July $1.14 1-8 to $1.14 1-4, September $1.02 to $1.02 1-8, December .75 3-8 to .75 1-2; oats, 1-2c to 1 1-8c down, July .39 to .39 1-8, and rye showing 1-cent to 3 1-8-cent drop, July .83 1-2. Provisions closed unchanged to 7 cents lower.

JULY 31 FINAL DAY FOR SECURITY DATA

Employers Face Deadline for Filing Information, Wages, Taxes.

July 31 has been set as the deadline for filing of complete information on wages paid and taxes deducted by employers under the social security act, it was announced yesterday at local offices of the Social Security Board. The reports must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for Georgia.

These returns are made on special government forms, known as SS-2 and SS-2-A. The act requires that the employer fill out Form SS-2-A for each employe, while Form SS-2 is a consolidation of all SS-2-A's and a third form, SS-1.

Samples of SS-2-A may be obtained from the Social Security offices in Atlanta, 10 Forsyth Street building, and ample supplies of both forms will be mailed employers by the collector's office before June 30.

Information regarding these forms is available at the office of the collector of internal revenue, Atlanta, or in any of the bureau's branch offices at Savannah, Macon, Augusta, Valdosta, Columbus and Rome. It also may be had at Social Security offices in Atlanta, Savannah, Albany or Macon.

2 ARE ORDERED HELD IN SLAYING OF YOUTH

LAGRANGE, Ga., June 11.—Jim Askew and Walter Bennett, Hogansville textile workers, have been remanded to Troup county jail to await action by the Troup county grand jury, following a commitment hearing before Judges R. H. Utting and S. A. Davis, investigating the slaying of George Matthews, 17, also of Hogansville.

Matthews was found murdered on a country road three miles north of Hogansville May 21. He was known to have had approximately $75, none of which was found in his pockets, and robbery was assumed to have been the motive for his slaying.

TRANSFER ORDER MADE FOR U. S. PRISONERS

Removal of two federal prisoners in custody in Atlanta to proper jurisdictions was ordered by Judge E. Marvin Underwood in United States court here yesterday.

Harry Kispaugh, alias Harry Morris, released from the Atlanta federal penitentiary Wednesday, was ordered taken to Jackson, Miss., to face charges of conspiracy to break and enter the postoffice at Walnut Grove, Miss.

BELATED WEDDING GIFT IS GIVEN CITY EMPLOYE

Thomas F. Murphy and his bride yesterday received a belated wedding present. Murphy, son of Assistant City Attorney J. Charlie Murphy, is employed by the city construction department.

The couple was married on February 20, but kept it a secret until a few days ago. Mrs. Murphy is the former Miss Ramelle Suddath, of South Carolina.

Strafaci, the 129-pound Brooklyn amateur, had matched this two-day score. So had Pat Sawyer, the former Minneapolis amateur, who is still around 24.

One of the largest galleries of open championship years had split and scattered, chasing various stars who were setting the course on fire.

For, just back of the names I have mentioned, there was Johnny Goodman, another amateur, at 143, linked with Victor Ghezzi, the tall Jerseyman, in the same bracket. Ghezzi's fine golf was completely smothered out by Thomson's blazing march that might have easily been a 64.

THOMSON'S FIERY FIGURES.

Thomson proved in this second-round fusillade just what can happen in modern golf. He started 4-5-2-5—just even par. Nothing exciting. But here you have the fiery figures of his next 12 holes—over a long, well-trapped course—3-3-4-4-3-4-4-3-3-3-4-4—at this point Thomson had a 3-4 for a 64. He blew a three-foot putt for his three on the seventeenth. And he missed the green on the last hole. But the dramatic moments of that 66—six under par, with astounding possibilities—still has a big gallery dazed and groggy from what happened and what might have happened.

While all this was taking place, Gene Sarazen fought his way back into the picture with a 69—a 69 that Gene told me might just as well have been a 63. He had a 4 on the last hole for a 67, where he used up a six. But he can still cause trouble if he can take off one day from thinking about those Connecticut cows and calves.

Denny Shute, P. G. A. champion, playing with a taped-up back and a sore spine, lost ground with a 76. Denny had a faltering start on the second nine. But Denny is still in the main chase. Byron Nelson, a leading favorite, dropped back with a 78.

TWENTY HAVE TITLE CHANCE

There were 65 at 152 or better who qualified for the final 36 holes on Saturday, and at least 20 of these still have their chance to grab the title.

This is the first time in open golf history that as many as four men had 140 for the first two rounds, and if the same pleasant weather keeps up, there may be a few record scores below Tony Manero's mark at Baltusrol last June.

There will be two 18-hole rounds on Saturday to decide the title that still hangs in the balance. Among the seasoned pros with a good chance to win we find Ed Dudley, the Georgia stylist, now at the Philadelphia C. C., one of the great swingers of all time—Ralph Guldahl, who has won three big money tournaments in the last year—Frank Walsh, the crack Chicago pro, who waded into the water at the 16th for the most spectacular shot of the tournament to get his par 4—Jimmy Thomson, the Shawnee siege gun.

Just back of these, there are Sammy Snead and Harry Cooper—only two strokes away—both great golfers.

And among the leading amateurs you find Frank Strafaci at 142 and Johnny Goodman at 143, treading on crack professional heels and not to be overlooked. Kocsis, of Michigan, is another amateur who might crowd his way in. Denny Shute isn't out of it at 145, five strokes away. Strokes can melt in a hurry over this course.

SHUTE VS. COTTON.

It was announced today that the P. G. A. tournament committee had named Denny Shute, their match play star, to meet Henry Cotton, of England, in the news of the world challenge match for a purse of 500 pounds, to be played abroad on the Ryder cup invasion. His lame back may be a handicap in this championship, but anything can happen in golf.

The pressure of the third round Saturday morning will tell most of the story. This pressure will help untangle the snarl that now exists where so many have their chance to get smoking hot and come along from behind. But only those at 145 or better are upon the safe side. They have too many good ones blocking the highway of green turf, heavy rough and beckoning bunkers. Jimmy Thomson alone, coming from a long way off, proved the miracle that can always take place.

Handicap Shooting Scheduled Sunday

The West End Gun Club will hold its regular Sunday shoot starting at 9 a. m. and will use what is known as the handicap system in classes B and C.

Class A shooters will shoot from scratch as usual. The management feels that this will be more popular with the shooters because it gives them an equal chance to win, and allows them to have a better score.

There will be prizes in each class and of equal value. This will be your chance to get plenty of practice for the city and invitation championship skeet shoot which will start on Saturday, June 19, through Sunday, June 20. Come early and get plenty of practice as both north and south fields will be open promptly at 9 a. m.

'Reckless Walking' Lands Man in Jail

Attest: Mr. X, inmate of the city prison farm, who appealed to Councilman George B. Lyle, chairman of the committee in charge.

X appealed to Lyle to help him get out and when pressed for the offense, replied:

"Well, I guess it was a case of reckless walking. They said I was drunk, but I was just walking along."

Lyle couldn't help, he said.

TARZAN'S QUEST No. 150

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

When Brown said there was no place to land in the valley of the temple, Tarzan was unperturbed. They had already planned a hazardous alternative in case they could not bring the machine to earth. The ape-man nodded. "Get more elevation, and tell me when."

Brown opened the throttle and commenced to climb in a great circle. He watched the altimeter. At two thousand feet he leveled off and circled the rim of the canyon to a point above the cliffs on the windward side. Then he shouted to Tarzan: "Stand by!"

The Jungle Lord slipped the catch of his safety belt. Brown maneuvered the big craft into a position favorable to their venture. Then, as he brought the ship into a momentary stall, he shouted, "Jump!" The ape-man swung easily out onto the wing and leaped.

An instant later Brown followed him into space. The parachutes billowed out, and the two men swayed like giant pendulums in the wind. Their lives were in the hands of fate. They might land safely in the clearing—or be dashed to death in the trees!

INDICTMENT FILED IN FATAL SCUFFLE

Irwin Swancey, 33, yesterday was indicted for the murder of R. C. Segars as a result a fist fight last Saturday night on Gordon road near West View avenue.

Segars was knocked down, his head striking the curb and fracturing the skull. County Officers Riley and Tyler, riding in the neighborhood, saw the man fall, arrested Swancey on a misdemeanor charge and took Segars home.

Segars died Sunday and Swancey, who had been released on bond, was rearrested, this time charged with murder.

Two other murder bills were returned by the grand jury, one charging Rosa Mae Cosby, negro school teacher, with the murder of her sweetheart, George H. Williams, also a school teacher and a preacher, and the other charging Joe Black with the murder of A. A. Parks on the night of May 5.

A no bill was returned against Harold Smith, driver of one of the automobiles which collided on Roosevelt highway about 1 o'clock on the night of April 24, killing two men. The men killed were H. F. Maddox and C. L. Wilbanks, who were riding in the other car. An involuntary manslaughter indictment had been sought.

METHODISTS' UNITY VOTED IN FLORIDA

Conference Approves Resolution, 248 to 6.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., June 11.—(AP)—National unification of the three main branches of the Methodist church was approved by the Florida conference, 248 to 6, today at its first test in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The Methodist Episcopal church and the Methodist Protestant church already have indorsed the proposed merger. Combined memberships would total more than 8,000,000.

By November 18, some 30 state units of the southern church will have voted on the question of whether to unite again with the northern branch, from which it split over slavery in 1845.

Next to ballot will be the Illinois conference at Odin, August 25.

GRIFFIN MILL WORKER HIT, KILLED BY TRAIN

GRIFFIN, Ga., June 11.—Ernest J. Cousson, 47, an employe of Griffin Mills, was instantly killed late this afternoon when he was struck by a northbound Central of Georgia passenger train.

Cousson slipped and fell while crossing the tracks in front of the train.

ENGINEERS' RITES WILL HONOR DEAD

Memorial Service Will Be Held Tomorrow.

Members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and of the Grand International Auxiliary will conduct their 28th annual memorial service for deceased members of the groups at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the St. Mark Methodist church.

Dr. Lester Rumble, pastor of the church, will deliver the memorial address and music will be offered by a quartet, Mrs. D. C. Adams, Mrs. L. D. King, Frank Sule and John D. Hoffman.

Divisions 207, 305, 368, 685 and 696 of the Engineers and 21, 195, and 491 of the auxiliary, will be represented.

T. W. Gilstrap will preside at the services assisted by W. G. T. Newman.

9:00—Your Hit Parade, WGST.
11:30—Fletcher Henderson orchestra, WSB.

GRACE MOORE—Tschaikowsky, Puccini and Jerome Kern are the composers from whom Grace Moore has selected her program with Vincent Lopez and his orchestra when she is heard over WGST at 8 o'clock tonight.

Program music will include:
"None But the Lonely Heart" (Grace Moore).
"Lover Come Back to Me" (Grace Moore).
"When You're in Love" (Grace Moore).
"Mme. Butterfly" (Grace Moore).
"One Fine Day" (Grace Moore).
"Whistling Boy" (Grace Moore).
Vincent Lopez and his orchestra will play several currently popular numbers.

UNIVERSAL RHYTHM — In the final broadcast before the program replaces the "Sunday Evening Hour," "Universsal Rhythm," starring Richard Bonelli, Metropolitan Opera baritone, with Alec Templeton, blind English pianist; Carolyn Urbaneck, soprano, and Rex Chandler's orchestra, will be presented over WGST at 9:45 o'clock tonight. Beginning Sunday, June 20, the program will be heard in place of the "Sunday Evening Hour," which will be off the air for the summer.

Program music will include:
"Border Ballad" (Richard Bonelli).
"Sweet Is the Word for You" (orchestra).
"When You're Away" (Richard Bonelli and Miss Urbaneck).
"That Foolish Feeling" (orchestra).
"Drowsy Blues" (Alec Templeton).
"Begin the Beguine" (Richard Bonelli).
"Night and Day" (orchestra).
"Yankee Doodle" (orchestra).
"Novilero" (orchestra).

BARN DANCERS—The cast of the "National Barn Dance" will pay tribute to one of the most joyful occasions of childhood, the end of school and the beginning of summer, with the annual "School's Out" party during the broadcast heard over WSB at 8 o'clock tonight.

Youthful guest artists from near-by schools will add a touch of realism to the program with regular commencement day songs.

Program music will include:
"It's Vacation Time Again" (entire ensemble).
"Mississippi" (Hoosier Hot Shots).
"Constantinople" (Verne, Lee and Mary trio).
"The Old Swimming Hole" (the Novelodeons).
"Let's Play Geography" (Hoosier Hot Shots).
"When We Carved Our Hearts on the Old Oak Tree" (Maple City Four).
"By a Rippling Stream" (Sally Foster and orchestra).
"The Green Grass Grew All Around" (Maple City Four).
"In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" (Henry Burr).

MRS. A. J. SPARKS LAST RITES TODAY

Burial To Be in Macon Cemetery.

Final rites for Mrs. A. J. Sparks, 88, well-known churchwoman here for many years, who died Thursday at her home in the Blackstone apartments, on Peachtree street, will be held at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spring Hill, with Dr. Ellis A. Fuller officiating. Burial will be in Riverside cemetery, at Macon, with the Rev. B. D. Ragsdale conducting services at the graveside.

A member of a prominent Georgia family, Mrs. Sparks was born in Thomas county, later moving to Quitman, where she was married. She and her husband moved to Macon in 1894 and she made her home there until 12 years ago, when she moved to Atlanta.

Until confined by ill health, she was a leading worker in the First Baptist church here.

Brothers Who Escaped Italian Prison Are Lured to Death by Woman.

PARIS, June 11.—(UP)—Secret police, facing a crime of deep international intrigue, tonight hunted a blonde Italian woman throughout France for questioning in the gang-style murders of two men who escaped from Premier Benito Mussolini's prison island.

The anti-Fascist victims, identified as brothers, were found shot through their heads in a forest near Bagnoles in Orne province. A group of peasants, who stumbled upon the bodies, also found the brothers' automobile containing a crude, home-made bomb.

The victims were Carlo Roselli, 38, bitterly anti-Fascist editor of the Revue Giustizia E Liberta distributed among Italian political exiles in Paris' Latin Quarter, and his brother, Sabatino, 37.

Fled to France.

The brothers, believed to have been lured to the scene of the murders by a telephone call from a woman, fled to France in 1929 after escaping from Li Pari Island, a volcanic prison colony off the northern coast of Sicily.

Carlo Roselli, according to police, was a professor of political economy at Geneva and a member of the Italian Socialist party that fought Mussolini's rise to power.

The brothers evidently had been dragged into the forest because the cushions of their car were splashed with blood.

As soon as it appeared that the crime had international political complications the surete nationale dispatched secret agents to Bagnoles, a famous watering resort and instructed the prosecuting attorney at near-by Argentan to proceed with a separate inquiry.

Blonde Disappears.

The Italians, including the blonde woman suspected of arranging the rendezvous with death, disappeared before the bodies were found.

Police said the brothers were lured to their deaths by the telephone call arranging a rendezvous at La Ferte Mace, a manufacturing town only a few miles from Bagnoles.

They were led to believe, according to police, that they were to meet a group of fellow Italian exiles bringing them important secret documents.

Court Raises Ante In Fining of Drunks

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 11.—(AP)—An aftermath of Georgia's defeat of repeal Tuesday is that the price of getting drunk and getting caught here has been raised fifty cents per head.

Recorders Court Judge J. Arthur Lynch this morning fined three "plain drunks" $3 and costs—a total of $3.75. Heretofore, the prevailing fine has been $2.50 and costs—$3.25 in all.

Judge Lynch also ordered police desk sergeants to raise customary bonds for drunks to $3.75 from the previous $3.25.

Immediate Artificial Respiration In Water Accidents Recommended

Sixty Seconds May Mean a Life, Red Cross Official Says; Attention Called to Fire Departments' Inhalator and Rescue Squad.

Sixty seconds may mean the difference between life and death in water accidents, it was declared yesterday by J. Lewis Cook, director of water safety for the Atlanta Red Cross chapter.

"If artificial respiration is applied the moment a person is rescued from the water," he said, "a long step has been taken toward saving the person's life."

"Most people think that pulmotors are still used in drowning cases. The new method is to use an inhalator. One is owned by the rescue squad of the Atlanta fire department.

Respiration Needed.

"At accidents around the water, someone usually calls for the rescue squad and then the crowds stands idly by until the firemen arrive. The inhalator feeds pure oxygen into the victim's lungs. When the firemen arrive they begin artificial respiration with the use of the inhalator.

"If the artificial respiration has already been begun, it is necessary only for the firemen to apply the inhalator."

Cook, who announced the beginning next week of swimming and life-saving instruction at five city pools, Grant park, Piedmont park, Oakland City, Maddox park and Mozeley park, said that four lives lost in recent weeks in and around Atlanta might have been saved if rescuers had been familiar with methods of artificial respiration.

Each of the pools will have a morning session daily for small children, an afternoon program for children and adults, and a night program for adults.

Programs for the first three weeks follow:

Grant Park—June 14 to July 2, 2:30 to 3:30, Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; older children, adults.

June 14 to July 2, 3:30 to 4:30; Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; advanced swimming, junior and senior life saving.

Oakland City—June 15 to July 13, 2:30 to 3:30; Tuesday and Thursday; older children, adults.

June 15 to July 13, 3:30 to 4:30; Tuesday and Thursday; advanced swimming, junior and senior life saving.

June 15 to July 13, 7:00 to 8:00; Tuesday and Thursday; adult beginners.

June 15 to July 13, 8:00 to 9:00; Tuesday and Thursday; advanced swimming and life saving.

Piedmont Park—June 14 to July 2, 8:30 to 10:30; Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; children and beginners.

Maddox Park—June 15 to July 13, 8:30 to 10:30; Tuesday and Thursday; children and beginners.

Mozeley Park—June 14 to July 2, 7:00 to 8:00; Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; adult beginners.

June 14 to July 2, 8:00 to 9:00; Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; advanced swimming and life saving.

$25,000 IS SOUGHT FOR STREET REPAIR

Viaduct Termed Menace to Traffic and May Be Closed.

Aldermen Roy E. Callaway and Robert Carpenter will insist the city provide $25,000 immediately for street improvements, they announced yesterday.

Callaway will urge the fund for a general repair of downtown streets which he asserted are badly in need of reconditioning. Carpenter will urge that $7,500 of the fund be directed to repaving of the Washington street viaduct from the state capitol building to Edgewood avenue.

Captain Rex LeFevre, in charge of the streets division of the city construction department, has asserted that the viaduct is in such a condition that it is a menace to traffic, and warned it may have to be closed soon.. "We have just voted $25,000 for the purchase of trucks for the sanitary department, but the streets of this city are in such shape that the trucks can't use them effectively," Callaway said.

"I believe it will be a good investment not only in the interest of the citizens, but for the city itself to make much needed repairs at the earliest possible moment."

$200 String of Pearls Traded for 'Corn' Shot

A $200 string of pearls for a drink of corn liquor.

This trade was revealed last night with announcement of the arrest of a negro, listed as Melvin Butler, 30, of 575 Lindsey street, in connection with theft of clothing and other articles valued at between $900 and $1,000 from an automobile.

Butler was arrested Thursday by Detectives Harry Williams and J. F. Corley when he attempted to pawn a suitcase in an establishment on Peters street.

The loot, allegedly taken early Tuesday night from the car of Mrs. John McPhail, of Baltimore, parked on Marietta street, near Peachtree street, was recovered virtually "all over the west end," the detectives said.

Among articles recovered was a $150 bar pin which the suspect hid in a police car while being driven to headquarters. Butler was charged with suspicion of larceny.

ENEMIES OF DUCE MURDERED IN PARIS; BLONDE IS HUNTED

Brothers Who Escaped Italian Prison Are Lured to Death by Woman.

PARIS, June 11.—(UP)—Secret police, facing a crime of deep international intrigue, tonight hunted a blonde Italian woman throughout France for questioning in the gang-style murders of two men who escaped from Premier Benito Mussolini's prison island.

The anti-Fascist victims, identified as brothers, were found shot through their heads in a forest near Bagnoles in Orne province. A group of peasants, who stumbled upon the bodies, also found the brothers' automobile containing a crude, home-made bomb.

The victims were Carlo Roselli, 38, bitterly anti-Fascist editor of the Revue Giustizia E Liberta distributed among Italian political exiles in Paris' Latin Quarter, and his brother, Sabatino, 37.

Fled to France.

The brothers, believed to have been lured to the scene of the murders by a telephone call from a woman, fled to France in 1929 after escaping from Li Pari Island, a volcanic prison colony off the northern coast of Sicily.

Carlo Roselli, according to police, was a professor of political economy at Geneva and a member of the Italian Socialist party that fought Mussolini's rise to power.

The brothers evidently had been dragged into the forest because the cushions of their car were splashed with blood.

As soon as it appeared that the crime had international political complications the surete nationale dispatched secret agents to Bagnoles, a famous watering resort and instructed the prosecuting attorney at near-by Argentan to proceed with a separate inquiry.

Blonde Disappears.

The Italians, including the blonde woman suspected of arranging the rendezvous with death, disappeared before the bodies were found.

Police said the brothers were lured to their deaths by the telephone call arranging a rendezvous at La Ferte Mace, a manufacturing town only a few miles from Bagnoles.

They were led to believe, according to police, that they were to meet a group of fellow Italian exiles bringing them important secret documents.

Court Raises Ante In Fining of Drunks

COLUMBUS, Ga., June 11.—(AP)—An aftermath of Georgia's defeat of repeal Tuesday is that the price of getting drunk and getting caught here has been raised fifty cents per head.

Recorders Court Judge J. Arthur Lynch this morning fined three "plain drunks" $3 and costs—a total of $3.75. Heretofore, the prevailing fine has been $2.50 and costs—$3.25 in all.

Judge Lynch also ordered police desk sergeants to raise customary bonds for drunks to $3.75 from the previous $3.25.

Immediate Artificial Respiration In Water Accidents Recommended

Sixty Seconds May Mean a Life, Red Cross Official Says; Attention Called to Fire Departments' Inhalator and Rescue Squad.

Sixty seconds may mean the difference between life and death in water accidents, it was declared yesterday by J. Lewis Cook, director of water safety for the Atlanta Red Cross chapter.

"If artificial respiration is applied the moment a person is rescued from the water," he said, "a long step has been taken toward saving the person's life."

"Most people think that pulmotors are still used in drowning cases. The new method is to use an inhalator. One is owned by the rescue squad of the Atlanta fire department.

Respiration Needed.

"At accidents around the water, someone usually calls for the rescue squad and then the crowds stands idly by until the firemen arrive. The inhalator feeds pure oxygen into the victim's lungs. When the firemen arrive they begin artificial respiration with the use of the inhalator.

"If the artificial respiration has already been begun, it is necessary only for the firemen to apply the inhalator."

Cook, who announced the beginning next week of swimming and life-saving instruction at five city pools, Grant park, Piedmont park, Oakland City, Maddox park and Mozeley park, said that four lives lost in recent weeks in and around Atlanta might have been saved if rescuers had been familiar with methods of artificial respiration.

Each of the pools will have a morning session daily for small children, an afternoon program for children and adults, and a night program for adults.

Programs for the first three weeks follow:

Grant Park—June 14 to July 2, 2:30 to 3:30, Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; older children, adults.

June 14 to July 2, 3:30 to 4:30; Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; advanced swimming, junior and senior life saving.

Oakland City—June 15 to July 13, 2:30 to 3:30; Tuesday and Thursday; older children, adults.

June 15 to July 13, 3:30 to 4:30; Tuesday and Thursday; advanced swimming, junior and senior life saving.

June 15 to July 13, 7:00 to 8:00; Tuesday and Thursday; adult beginners.

June 15 to July 13, 8:00 to 9:00; Tuesday and Thursday; advanced swimming and life saving.

Piedmont Park—June 14 to July 2, 8:30 to 10:30; Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; children and beginners.

Maddox Park—June 15 to July 13, 8:30 to 10:30; Tuesday and Thursday; children and beginners.

Mozeley Park—June 14 to July 2, 7:00 to 8:00; Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; adult beginners.

June 14 to July 2, 8:00 to 9:00; Monday, Wednesday and Fridays; advanced swimming and life saving.

$25,000 IS SOUGHT FOR STREET REPAIR

Viaduct Termed Menace to Traffic and May Be Closed.

Aldermen Roy E. Callaway and Robert Carpenter will insist the city provide $25,000 immediately for street improvements, they announced yesterday.

Callaway will urge the fund for a general repair of downtown streets which he asserted are badly in need of reconditioning. Carpenter will urge that $7,500 of the fund be directed to repaving of the Washington street viaduct from the state capitol building to Edgewood avenue.

Captain Rex LeFevre, in charge of the streets division of the city construction department, has asserted that the viaduct is in such a condition that it is a menace to traffic, and warned it may have to be closed soon. "We have just voted $25,000 for the purchase of trucks for the sanitary department, but the streets of this city are in such shape that the trucks can't use them effectively," Callaway said.

"I believe it will be a good investment not only in the interest of the citizens, but for the city itself to make much needed repairs at the earliest possible moment."

A $200 string of pearls for a drink of corn liquor.

This trade was revealed last night with announcement of the arrest of a negro, listed as Melvin Butler, 30, of 575 Lindsey street, in connection with theft of clothing and other articles valued at between $900 and $1,000 from an automobile.

Butler was arrested Thursday by Detectives Harry Williams and J. F. Corley when he attempted to pawn a suitcase in an establishment on Peters street.

The loot, allegedly taken early Tuesday night from the car of Mrs. John McPhail, of Baltimore, parked on Marietta street, near Peachtree street, was recovered virtually "all over the west end," the detectives said.

Among articles recovered was a $150 bar pin which the suspect hid in a police car while being driven to headquarters. Butler was charged with suspicion of larceny.
